STATE NEWS

Condensed Items of Interest Happening Throughout the State.

The Meaden farm, said to be the finest in Cherokee county, has been purchased by Mr. Gay Green, of this city, for $15,000. The farm embraces 600 acres, 150 being cleared bottom land and the rest gently rolling upland, covered with virgin timber, and has a fine mineral spring which Mr. Green is informed has great medicinal qualities. That the purchaser made a good deal is shown by the fact that immediately after he contracted for it he was offered for it $1,500 more than he was to pay.—Asheville Citizen.

Rumors continue to reach the city from the Third Congressional district that another Richmond will be induced to enter the race in the person of Rodolph Duffy, Esq. While it is said that he has not declared himself either pro or con, yet there is an undercurrent which is unmistakable and it is predicted that within a few more weeks there will be something doing. It will be a lively fight when it is on and people are watching it with rare interest.—New Bern Journal.

A colored man named Knight living on the farm of V. R. Taylor, seriously cut Stephen Brown, who lives on the farm of F. J. Roebuck, Sunday night. The row occurred on the farm of Mr. Taylor. Drs. B. L. and E. M. Long, of Hamilton, were called, and upon arrival, found that Brown had been sliced across the breast, the arm, abdomen, and fingers. The most dangerous cut was that in the breast which commenced just below the collar bone, ranged downward severing the seventh rib. From this aperture the lung protruded to the size of a hand, and the pulsations were plainly visible. The wounded man is doing as well as could be expected, and will probably recover. The cause of the row is supposed to be the fruits of an answer to a Virginia advertisement, which is producing most of the rows among the colored brethren.—Williamston Enterprise.

Today the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Tabernacle here met and accepted the plan for the great extension of that building, which is intended to accommodate about 600 more persons. The board has borrowed $15,000 for this purpose.—There does not appear to be any doubt that the Raleigh and Southport Railway will go on from Fayetteville to Lumberton and that the railway from Lumberton will come here. Over 20 years ago the Atlantic Coast Line made a survey from Springhope to Raleigh, and engineers have recently been over this line again.—At the cotton oil mill here an entirely new plant for manufacturing fertilizers is being installed, and will be completed next week. The quality of the cotton seed this season is fine, and prices are expected to rule higher, owing to the short crop. The Wake county farmers will get at least as much this year out of their cotton as they did last.—Raleigh correspondence.

An extra shaft which was carried on board the steamer Carib, which was recently disabled at sea, is being placed in order to replace the broken shaft, and is requiring night and day work at the machine shops. The shaft which was carried on board the vessel is rusty and has never been in use. It was fortunate that the steamer carried the extra shaft or she would have otherwise had to tow to New York for the necessary repairs. All efforts are being made to get the broken piece ready for the steamer to sail on the return trip Saturday. Freight from New York for Georgetown, S. C., has been discharged here and the perishable goods reshipped by rail.—Wilmington Star.

H. C. Averitt, of Hope Mills, R. P. D. No. 2, has in his possession the muster roll of the Lock's Creek (now Cedar Creek) militia, which dates away back about 1820. Captain Bullis was commander. There are 72 names on the roll, out of which there are only six double names. Opposite each McDaniel (and there are several on the roll) is written the word "patrol," which meant exemption from muster duty. In slavery times patrols were sent out at night to see that the darkies were at home after 9 o'clock, and it is said that he who served as a patrol was exempt from duty as a militiaman.—Fayetteville Index.

Enjoyable Party at Ware's Chapel

An ice cream and box party was given by the ladies of Ware's Chapel, a few miles in the country, last Saturday night, for the benefit of that church. A large number were present and the occasion was highly enjoyed. Quite a neat sum was realized for the church. The church building has been repainted and improvements made to the interior. The building will be dedicated in the near future.
