CLERK ASKS FOR SUGGESTIONS.

As will be read in another column of today's News, the clerk of the Superior court, Hon. George Paul, suggests to the people of Long Acre township that they appoint a successor to the late Mr. H. G. Jordan, County Commissioner for that township. Mr. W. C. Rodman, in pursuance of this suggestion, has called a joint meeting of the various precinct executive committees of the township to meet in this city, at the courthouse, Saturday, October 10, at 10 o'clock.

The Daily News takes this occasion to sanction and commend the action of the clerk in taking this position with reference to the appointment of a county commissioner to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Jordan. Mr. Jordan was elected county commissioner by the people and they should be consulted when another is to be named. The clerk realizing this has taken the right view and wishes them to suggest to him their choice. This is proper, and the clerk should receive, and no doubt will, the hearty approval of every Democrat in the county of Beaufort.

The office of county commissioner is one of the most important within the gift of the people, and he should be selected with care and forethought. Mr. Paul, by his request to the people of Long Acre township, knowing and realizing the importance of the office, and wishing to serve the constituency of that township fairly, decides to leave the matter of a successor to the late Mr. Jordan to the voters of that township. He is to be their representative and they should have their say in the appointment.

Now let the people of Long Acre township decide on whom they desire and present his name to the clerk for appointment.

FROM OTHER SANCTUARY.

Dr. Cook does well to ask the University of Chicago to release him from his promise that it should be given the first examination of his records. These United States are the rival explorers' country, and it is here that their cause should be judged. Besides, Dr. Cook's first plan would involve considerable delay. We hope that the different universities will be held before American scientific bodies as soon as the hitch caused by Perry's small-souled refusal to take any of Cook's belongings aboard his ship can be overcome or at least obviated. —Charlotte Observer.

Nebraska folks are in the line-light. The latest is a woman, who asks for divorce because her husband kisses her too much, the weeds growing higher than the wheat and hay while he engages in cooing. She puts the trinity of good things together, "bread, cheese and kisses." Kisses without some "bread and cheese" would be rather weak diet. —News and Observer.

A New Orleans man, named Tripp, who had only recently shot a woman and her daughter, gave himself up to the police for a second time, explaining that he was in a "shooting mood." This is carrying a moody disposition to the extreme. —Wilmington Star.

The Kings Mountain monument is to be dedicated this week, October 7. The monument has been erected on the old battlefield at a cost of $20,000. Elaborate exercises will mark the occasion. The monument and five States, the five that participated in the battle, will take part in the unveiling. These States are North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee. Governor Frazier, as well as the governors of the other four States, will be present. Besides these a number of other distinguished guests will attend. —Raleigh Times.

There is a strange impression that the curious creations of straw, ribbons, feathers and flowers called hats—make women pretty. Wrong! It is the beauty of the women that makes the hats tolerable.—Greensboro News.

IN LIEU OF A BIBLE.

Holy the Baltimore Judge Swore a Chinaman on a Tea Chest.

There have been some wonderful and odd substitutes for Bibles in justice courts. "I remember one time in this glorious country of ours that a Baltimore judge swore a Chinaman on a tea chest in default of the writings of Confucius or a Bible."

"There was a funny incident of that kind out in Lincoln county back in the latter '50s, as it was told me," said one of the listeners. "I think it was in '57—at any rate it was just after the great influx of emigration of free state men into Kansas. Many who had left their claims to avoid trouble the year before returned, but they found their claims taken up and occupied by the pro-slavery element from Missouri and other States. This condition naturally caused a large amount of strife, which frequently led to personal encounters."

"A squatter's court was organized by a local leading spirit, who undertook to administer and enforce justice between the contestants. After the court had assembled for the adjustment of claims the officers discovered that, although they were well supplied with 'navy revolvers and Sharpe's rifles, there was lacking one thing which was deemed essentially necessary in the program of a court of justice. The judge requested the marshal to go and hunt up a Bible for the purpose of swearing the witnesses who might be called on to testify before the court in contested claims. After traveling and visiting numerous houses in search of a Bible he returned and reported that there was not a copy to be found."

"Make another trip; round up every house and bring a book," declared the judge. "It will never do to conduct the proceedings of this court without swearing the witnesses according to the rules of the law."

"Again the marshal went forth. He scoured around a long time, but finally returned to the court from his mission with a big volume, old and worn. The court looked at it. Large letters on the back proved it to be 'Gunn's Domestic Medicine.'"

"The court arrested the volume critically for a moment. 'That will have to answer for the purpose,' he remarked serenely. 'It will have to do the work. We must follow the rules of court procedure.'"

"It was placed on the table before the court, and as each witness was sworn, he was ordered to kiss the book, believing, of course, that it was a true copy of King James' Oxford edition of the Bible."

SINGLETON NEWS.

We are having some fair and dry weather now. We are greatly in need of a rain.

Messrs. H. R. Woolard and L. H. Jackson attended the educational address delivered by Hon. J. Y. Joiner at Old Ford September 28. They report a grand time and speak in the highest terms of our State Superintendent.

Cupid has been playing quite a hand in our midst of late, and the magistrates are all busy.

Sheriff and Mrs. Geo. E. Ricks, of Washington, attended preaching at Singleton Sunday.

Our schoolhouse at Singleton is called now. It is quite an improvement. Are we going to have it painted? No, we are not, unless we all go to work and try for it. We are not working at all on that.

Wednesday night, September 29, at 4 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McIlley, Miss Ella Lilley was quietly united in marriage to Mr. George Corey, of Martin county. There were only a few present to witness the joining together of this happy young couple. There were four waiting, Miss Sadie Lilley, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Charlie Willard was best man. Miss Lucie Corey, sister of the groom, and Mr. John Lilley waited together. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of blue silk. The maid of honor also wore blue. Miss Lilley is the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. McIlley. Mr. Corey is a rising young business man, son of the late Mr. J. C. Corey. Mr. and Mrs. Corey have our best wishes for a long and happy life. We are glad to congratulate Mr. Corey on winning such a winsome bride. May their lives be filled with sunshine and pleasure forever.

Our revival has been going on since Friday night. There have been crowded houses every night and we are sorry to say many had to stand during the services. Sunday night the house was so crowded the ladies could hardly get seats. The aisles were crowded with those who could not get seats and many stayed out because there was no room. The meetings closed last night.

It is with much regret the people of Singleton learn that their beloved preacher, Rev. Thos. Green, is to leave them. He has a call at Bath, N. C., and has accepted, and will not be with us on every first Sunday and Sunday night as heretofore. Mr. Green is a noble man and an excellent speaker, and the people of Singleton will sadly miss him. He has our best wishes for success in his new field of labor. He will be welcomed at any and all times in this neighborhood.

There was quite a surprise among their many friends when it was announced that Mr. Bonner Leggett, of Stallings Cross Roads, and Miss Lucy M. Perry, of this place, were to be married Sunday afternoon. While it was a surprise to some it was not to all. The writer was not a bit surprised. They have been attending the revival every night, also attended services Sunday morning, but they decided to return Sunday night to preaching with the happy smile of a bride and groom, which they did. Sunday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock they drove to the home of Magistrate S. L. Willard of this place, where they were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony. There was quite a large crowd present to witness the joining together of this young and popular couple. The news was rumored at church Sunday morning and there was soon gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Willard a large crowd of friends to see them married. The bride was attired in a cream colored dress and hat to match. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leggett, and is a smart and energetic farmer. The bride is the winsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Perry. Both the bride and groom count their friends by the score. They are both very popular in this and other neighborhoods. After the ceremony they drove to the home of the groom, where a reception was tendered them. The special friends of the writer, and the writer wishes them a long and happy life. May their lives always be filled with peace and pleasure. KID.

If in South Carolina today the question should be asked "Which, the lady or the tiger?" it would be found that three men out of four were ready with an answer to Stevenson's literary conundrum. The chorused reply would be, "The blind tiger, of course." —Virginia Pilot.
