WASHINGTON, N. C., DEC. 25, 1910.

LET THE NEWS FOLLOW.
Parties having town should not fall to let the news follow them daily with the news of Washington fresh and crisp. It will prove a valuable companion, reading to you like a letter from home. Those at the seashore or mountains will find The News a most welcome and interesting visitor.

MUST BE SIGNED.
All articles sent to The News for publication must be signed by the writer, otherwise they will not be published.

NOT EASY TO STARVE THE WORLD.

Mr. Carmichael has a short and simple way for the United States to win the war. It is for us to close our ports to the enemies of the world, whom the enemy will starve. History "does" not support this view. When wheat was 220 shillings a bushel in England at the outbreak of the war, and when England did not surrender, in spite of the fact that she kept on starving toward all sides, she won the war. It is the taste of our sugar and our coffee that we are to starve.

Perkins' explanation of the importance of the imperial policy. The North was never more determined that the cause of the Union should prevail than when a man was selling at a quarter of a dollar a pound and "coffee substitutes" were in demand. When a people is suffering for a cause, pride reinforces patriotism and reminds those not in the field that if they can not do they can bear.—Boston Transcript.

I do not like the, Doctor Cook. The reason is not far to look. For when your claim was brought to book you showed us as a common crook.

Perhaps Admiral Schley's loyalty to Cook may be based on recollections of the time when he was single-handedly fighting against the navy. However, that whereas the navy condemned him the public stood by him. In Cook's case, anxious as the public was to give him support, when he was tried by the tribunal that had honored him and found guilty, the public had nothing to do but to sorrowfully desert a false standard.—Washington Star.

CHRISTMAS TREE.
The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church will have their annual Christmas tree at the opera house next Thursday evening.

WHO WINS THE CANDY.
No one yet calls for box at Hardy's Drug Store.
The person holding coupon No. 284 gets the fancy work box filled with Lowney's candy, valued at $10, at Hardy's drug store. The number was drawn Christmas eve night and is now published in the show window. Ten numbers were taken from the drawing box and if the one holding the first number does not call before 9 o'clock tonight then the one titled to the prize, and so on down until the first ten numbers are exhausted. The following numbers were taken out Christmas eve night: 286, 372, 428, 947, 2892, 2824, 1834, 25, 199. If no one has these numbers, then ten more will be drawn.

TOURNAMENT TOMORROW.
There will be a tournament and occasion promises to be a most enjoyable one.

UNIVERSITY DRAMATIC CLUB.
The University Dramatic Club from the University of North Carolina will present "The Indian" at the opera house, this city, Tuesday evening, December 25. The performance is to commence at 8 o'clock. This is done in order for those who wish to attend to take in the German also. The prices are: reserved seats 50 cents, general admission 25 cents. Seats are now on sale at Brown's drug store. The dramatic club is making a tour of the state during the holidays. No doubt a large number of the citizens will witness the performance. So far "The Indian" has met with decided success.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lewis, of South Creek who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sawyer, returned to their home this afternoon.

WITH A RESERVATION.
The Butler Said Everything was All Right, But—
The late depression we have had in the financial world caused a friend of mine to be much worried. He went to his physician, who advised him to take a rest.

"Now, Charlie," he said, "you must stop smoking and excitement of all kinds; in fact, you must keep yourself entirely by yourself; receive no mail, read no letters and get no news from the outside world. Go away, sir, for a month."
My friend did this and was much improved. Returning home he met his butler at the station and said: "James, how is everything? All right?"
"Yes, sir; everything is all right, sir. Purty good—"
"Anything happen while I was away?"
"No, sir; everything is all right—except your dog, sir."
"My dog?"
"Your dog, sir."
"What happened to him?"
"He's dead—"
"Dead?"
"Yes, sir."
"What did he die of?"
"I don't know, sir. I think it was from eating burnt horse flesh, sir."
"Burnt horse flesh? Why, how did that happen?"
"Well, I don't know, sir. I think it was from the barn, sir."
"The barn?"
"Yes, sir. The barn burned down, sir."
"Why, how did that happen?"
"Well, you see, sir, I think it was from the sparks from the house—"
"What house?"
"Why your house. It burned down, sir."
"What? My house burned down? Why, how did that catch fire?"
"I don't know exactly. I think it was from the curtains in the window—"
"Why, how did they catch fire?"
"Well, I don't know. I think they must have caught from the candles."
"What candles? We haven't any candles in our house. We use nothing but electricity."
"I know, sir. But the candles were all around the coffin—"
"The coffin? Why, who's dead?"
"Oh, nobody but your mother-in-law, sir."
"My mother-in-law?"
"Yes, sir."
"How did she die?"
"I don't know, sir, but I think it was from the shock?"
"The shock?"
"Yes, sir."
"What shock?"
"Well, you see, your wife ran away with the man from the plantation P. White, in the car."
Hick—Oh, my!—I wish she had read the paper that day.
Mrs. Hines—My dear!—I wish she had read the paper that day.
