MILEPOSTS OF PROGRESS.

The last number of the Crop Reporter, a monthly publication issued by the United States Agricultural Department, contains a valuable article giving crop-value comparisons for the last nine years of eleven chief farm products—cotton, corn, tobacco, wheat, hay, barley, buckwheat, rye, potatoes, rice and flaxseed. In connection with this table some facts are given which show remarkable progress in Southern agriculture. Texas has come to the front in the value of agricultural products, taking the lead from the States of the West. The South as a whole comes to the front with 11 of the 26 States leading in the value of agricultural products last year. In 1899 the Southern States produced $705,000,000 worth of farm products. In 1908 the value of the farm products of the same States was $1,429,000,000, an increase of over 100 per cent. During the same period the increase in value of the output in the other States was only 64 per cent. These figures show what the farmers of the Southern States are doing. And it must be remembered that nine years ago the South was nothing like the manufacturing section it is now; that while the agricultural output has increased at such rapid rate the percentage has not equalled that in the manufacturing branch of the South's development. If this has been the progress of the South in the last decade, what progress may we not expect in the next? The advancement in prospect is almost beyond conception. Those who live to see the close of the second decade of the twentieth century will witness a growth far greater than that which occurred in the first. The rejuvenated South is just beginning to blossom and to bear fruit, and fortunate will be those millions of its people of today who live to see what the conditions are ten or twenty years hence.—Charlotte Observer.

BARLOW & WILSON'S MINSTERS MAKE GOOD.

What the Bristol (Tenn.) Herald-Courier of Sunday, November 21 says about this big minstrel company: "The second minstrel of the season, Barlow & Wilson's, held the boards at the Harmeling Saturday night and pleased a good-sized audience. The instrumental selections were splendidly rendered, the ensembles were pleasing and the jokes created laughter. The solo work was done in the usual artistic style, and as a whole the show made good." At Brown's opera-house tonight.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S FARM LIFE CLUBS IN NORTH CAROLINA

school, or some other competent person appointed by the County Superintendent, will be General Manager of the club.
2. A President, Vice President and Secretary will be elected by the active members, and will serve for the school term.
Meetings.
Meetings will be held as often as may be necessary for the welfare of the club. The teachers will in a large measure guide these meetings into useful channels, and supervise the work of the club.
The first work undertaken by the club will be the growing of corn.
Suggestions to the County Committees and Teachers.
The first thing to be done is to arouse an interest among the patrons and pupils of the schools and to secure a sufficient number of boys as contestants to create rivalry, stimulate enthusiasm and justify the payment of prizes.
To accomplish this the County Committees should enlist the support of their local papers to give the proposed contest the greatest publicity and urge the boys the county to take part.
Each teacher should explain the contest to his or her school and urge the pupils and the boys of the school district, whether in the school or not, to enter their names as contestants.
In each school district will be found one or more progressive farmers who will be glad to assist the teachers in arousing local interest. If requested to do so.
If any society or other social gathering of the patrons of the school is held at the schoolhouse, or in the district; the teacher or some interested patron, should take this occasion to outline the work and urge that the school district be well represented in the County Contest.
