The cut-glass bowl will be the prize given away at the Gem theater this evening. The drawing takes place promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The pictures last night sustained the well-earned reputation of the Gem. No better array has ever been shown in Washington. This evening the management promises a program that will surpass that of last night. Come early tonight, see a program full of interest and entertainment, hear the sweet music and then draw for the prize. You might be the lucky one. Tonight's program is as follows: A Sonambullistic Hero, melodrama; Hired, Tired, Fired, comedy. This is very funny and will amuse you. Never Again, or I Can't Keep Cool, comedy, another laughable film. A Country Girl's Peril, comedy drama. You will miss a treat by not going to the Gem theater this evening.

A. C. L. BRIDGE AT WELDON. To Become Independent of The S. A. L. At That Point. Weldon, N. C., Jan. 13.—Surveys are now being made and route mapped off for a new steel railroad bridge over Roanoke river at this place and two miles of road to tap the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line railway at Garysburg, thus obviating the necessity for the Atlantic Coast Line to use the Seaboard bridge and track from Garysburg to this point.

For sometime the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company has been considering and preparing plans to build a bridge here and to extend its track to Garysburg.

In the fall of 1877 the Petersburg and Weldon railroad (now a part of the Atlantic Coast Line system) lost by the great freshet of that year their steel bridge in Much Island and the tracks and road bed were washed away. This loss caused the road to enter into a contract with the Seaboard Air Line to use its track from Garysburg to Weldon passing over the Seaboard bridge and the old right of way was abandoned. Since that time the Halifax and Northampton highway bridge has been constructed on the old railroad piers.

At present the plan is to build a steel bridge to cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and come into Weldon in the rear of what is now known as the Weldon hotel.

POINTING THE WAY.

After observing some of farmer day's activities as reported in The Observer of yesterday we could wish for their more frequent occurrence. The address by Dr. Seaman A. Knapp in Charlotte was exceedingly valuable and instructive. Dr. Knapp told the people of North Carolina that they are using about one-sixth of the State and getting from that fraction about one-third the acreage yield which they should. The opportunities for development in farming and in factory extension are vast. From its own soil, said Dr. Knapp, North Carolina could easily support ten million people. One of his most impressive showings statistically was when he declared that the lands reclaimable by drainage from utter waste to richness equal nearly half the total number of acres now cultivated.

Facts and figures like these help the people of North Carolina to realize what varied fields await their efforts here at home. The South, as the last remaining section which offers cheap, good land, is the section which offers greatest opportunity for increase in farm values and farm production. Its manufacturing achievements every one knows. It has unsurpassed natural wealth and it has people naturally as efficient as any. The economic blunders of the past are being outlived. Great is the future which awaits this section.—Charlotte Observer.

CAUSED ACCIDENT.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 13.—The North Carolina Corporation Commission today conducted a scathing investigation into the wreck of a Southern Railway passenger train near Greensboro on December 15, 1909.

The coroner who conducted the investigation following the wreck and many prominent men appeared before the commission as witnesses for the Southern Railway.

The pieces of broken rail and the ties were in evidence and identified by the coroner.

The testimony was to the effect that there was a concealed defect in the rail, which could not have been discovered before the accident, and were of the opinion that this was the cause of the accident. The ties were examined and shown to be good and strong.

The roadbed was proved to be in good condition and constantly inspected.

The rail in use is considered the best on the market.

Among those who testified were experts from the Baltimore and Ohio and the Atlantic Coast Line Railway.
