CONDITION OF SENATOR DANIEL AGAIN ALARMING.

Daytona, Fla., March 15.—There was a decided change for the worse this afternoon in the condition of United States Senator Daniel, of Virginia. His daughter and other members of his family have been summoned to his bedside here.

At 8:30 tonight the following official bulletin was issued by Dr. W. C. Chowing, the attending physician: "Senator Daniel is now resting quietly. No change since this morning. Am hopeful of improved condition tomorrow."

A man's past wouldn't matter so much if it would only stay past.

REFUSED TO INTRODUCE COMMANDER B. E. PEARY.

Atlanta, Ga., March 15.—Governor Joseph Brown, of Georgia, and Mayor Robert Maddox, of Atlanta, today declined an invitation to introduce Commander Peary when he lectures here tomorrow night. Governor Brown said he did not believe that Peary discovered the North Pole.

ORNAMENT FOR THE TABLE

Pretty idea in Decoration Adapted from the Japanese.

Pretty ideas for table decorations are always welcome, and one sketch illustrates an easily-made ornament, that should be especially welcome just at this time of the year. It is constructed with slender sticks of wood arranged in tripod fashion, and tied together at the top with narrow ribbon. There are also three slender sticks at base, that help to hold the longer pieces in position, and they are tied together with smart little ribbon bows where they cross. To finish off the ends of the sticks, little pins with colored glass heads are inserted.

Suspended in the center is a small Japanese pot (these little pots can be bought for a few cents, with holes in the rims already made, by which they may be hung up) and in which can be placed flowers or a small fern.

Round and round the stick may be twisted the leaves of a creeper, such as smilax or small ivy, making a very pleasing decoration for winter, and at other seasons there are always many pretty trailing plants available.

On the left-hand side of the sketch the leaves are shown twisted round one of the sticks, and all the rest of the woodwork is left bare to show the way in which it should be constructed.

A Knock at Fashion's Eye.

It is hard to see what gain will come to the eighteen young women who are off to Europe with all their extra clothing packed in eighteen satchels, with only eighteen hats among the party to last until the return to this country. Of course, traveling may be made slightly easier, but there will be no recompense in frequent changes. Even in Europe women take pride in their wardrobe, and incline to vanity in the problem of dress. Where is the feminine love of decoration in these eighteen American young women? One of the joys of a European trip for the average woman is the exploration of the shops of the various capitals, and what do these women intend to do by way of diversion? Are they to go poking around old cathedrals and tumble-down castles with guide books in their hands? They may gather much historic lore on this tour, but if they expect to get close to the people of the Old World they will be mistaken. They will be shunned by the servants, in railroad stations, hotels and elsewhere, who anticipate the size of the tip by the show of prosperity. Women will be interested in them only as curiosities, and men will waste no admiration on them. High-minded and practical as may be the plan of these young women to travel 3,000 miles away from home in one hat and with a single change of garments, it is likely they will meet nothing more curious on all their travels than themselves.

Marlow was three years old. One day his mother said to him, "Now, Marlow, you may go outdoors to play for a while, but if I see you crossing the street to play with that naughty little boy, Willie Burr, again, I'll give you a hard, hard spanking."

Half an hour later the mother looked out after her boy and saw him playing with Willie Burr. She raised the window and called, with forced gentleness:

"Marlow, come here to me." Marlow came, but as he did so, he turned to his companion and said: "You stay right here, Willie. I'm 'aoin' in to get spanked. I'll be right back."

KEEP SCISSORS IN CASE.

Design for Ornamental and Useful Convenience.

Good scissors should always be kept in a case, and as many of them are sold without cases, such a little ornamental one as we show here will be found useful. Its size and shape must, in a great measure, depend on the scissors it is intended for; and this can easily be ascertained by tracing 'round them' when they are laid flat down.

Two pieces of cardboard are covered with silk that has been gaudied or embroidered with some pretty little design; line each with plain silk and bind the edge with narrow ribbon or else work round in buttonhole, forming tiny scallops. Narrow saracenet ribbon is then seamed to each edge to form a border that separates the two sides.
