Beautiful Hair

IT IS EASY TO GET AND KEEP. When a fifty cent bottle of Parisian Sage will put life, lustre and brilliancy into any woman's hair, why should any woman have repulsive or characterless hair, unless she wants to?

Parisian Sage is the ideal hair dressing of the times, not only does it make woman's hair beautiful, but it is guaranteed by Brown's Drug Store to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

If you are troubled with disgusting dandruff, get rid of it as soon as you can. Dandruff is caused by a dandruff germ, and sooner or later will cause baldness.

Parisian Sage kills the germs that cause dandruff, and kills them promptly. It is a daintily perfumed tonic, free from grease and stickiness. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle. Price 50 cents at druggists everywhere and at Brown's Drug Store.

CARING FOR THE SHEEP IN WINTER

Protection from Harsh Winds, Wet Feet and Soaked Wool—Feeding and Salting.

The sheep yard should be protected on the windward sides by a high board fence, by a building or anything else that will break the force of the cold, piercing winds. Sheep can endure low temperature better than cows or horses, but heavy winds are injurious to them. Especially should they be protected from the cold winter rains. Dampness causes colds, and is the reason for other ills to which sheep are heir.

The yard must be well drained to prevent foot rot. A heavy covering of straw is of advantage. It permits the winter rains and the water from melting snow to pass through and leave the surface more dry. A southern exposure should, whenever possible, be given the yard. The sun's warmth will then dry out the surface readily and keep it in a better sanitary condition.

Salt, every one knows, is important for sheep; yet some neglect to provide it regularly. Although I don't keep a large flock, I prefer to have salt where the sheep can lick it whenever they crave it. This I think much better than feeding it several times a week as some do. From the action of the animals when salt is withheld for several days, I take it that it is as necessary for them for the perfect digestion and assimilation of their food as it is for human beings.

A trough under an open front shed should be kept filled with salt at all times. If one has not such a shed, care must be taken that the salt trough is not filled with ice and snow so the sheep cannot get the salt.

Buying the Herd Header.

Many will be hunting for bulls and boars pretty soon, that is, the men who are out after the best males are the ones generally in the field first. Some who need good bulls or boars cannot attend public sales, so an enormous trade has been built up selling on mail order. There are some points in mail order correspondence which both seller and buyer will do well to observe. It is quite impossible to split every customer, but every statement in describing an animal should be so plain and true that there is the minimum chance for any misunderstanding. Then, if the buyer will state precisely what he wants, giving the seller some idea of his line of breeding, and will state precisely the points he should have in his herd header, nine times out of ten the seller will fill the bill exactly. But that is not the usual way it is done. "What have you for $15," is about the first thing asked, when many start out to buy a boar, by mail. I should let the price be the last point talked about. But I would throw the responsibility upon the seller to "make good" after I had described just what I wanted.—L. C. Brown.
