The Republicans Want Congress to Adjourn.

PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT

Word Has Been Sent From Republi can Headquarters for Both House of Congress to Work for Early Adjournment-Want to Get Out in Washington, April 23.-Word has en sent down the line from Repubican headquarters in both branches of Congress to work for an early ad-journment. The recent political re-verses which the party has encoun-tered in Massachusetts and New York convinces the leaders that there is more important labor to be performed for the party outside of Washington than at the capitol, and hence an early adjournment is to take procedence over every other consideration.

This was made evident further yesterday when the Senate voted to meet at 11 o'clock instead of noon today. and by the night session of the House, both unusual in the middle of a long session of Congress.

The fact that insurgents generally opposed both propositions also leads to the belief that they are not disposed to lend themselves to an early adjournment, but will insist that Congress remain here until the work of the session is properly done.

Senator Elkins, of West Virginia.

rho is in charge of the administration's railroad bill, now says that he wishes to get a vote on it by the last of next week. May 15, however, is the date when conservative members believe the final vote will be reached. The Senate has yet to consider the naval appropriation, the postoffice apdeficiency bill.
