Married last week from the continent—Wesley, Tom, I'm obliged to serve dishes. I am quite, seven counts and nine grandeur of the first class. Jessie Tom—Went! Maried—Oh, it's all one fellow. He's a genuine one. know—Illustrated Bits.

A Delicate Compliment.

To be able to compliment without seeming to flatter is a rare gift, and probably no more of men is employed with that gift more extensively than the French.

An example of the Frenchman's rare tact in matters of this sort is shown in that sweet little story of a man who had ventured to compliment a white haired old lady upon her beauty.

"Ah," said she, "I fear you flatter me. You call me pretty! Why, I am an old woman, my hair is white, and, see, here is a wrinkle."

"A wrinkle?" he replied. "Never, madame. That is not a wrinkle. It is but a smile that has drifted from its moorings."

Lends His Class.

Parent—My wife and I were particularly gratified over a letter received from our boy the other day announcing that he leads his class.

College Professor—Ah, yes. The boys march into class in alphabetical order.—Exchange.

Spelled His Romance.

George—I see nothing for us but to sleep. Do you think your father would forgive us?

Ethel—I'm sure he would.

George—How can you be so sure?

Ethel—I felt a little nervous on that score, and—I asked him.

A Brilliant Idea.

"Here's a letter from a woman," said the household inquiry editor, "who wants to know what to use in cleaning carpets."

"If she's a married woman," suggested the joke editor, "tell her to use her husband's—Exchange."

The Peasants' Perfections.

The man who buys 5 cents' worth of peanuts perhaps doesn't realize that his purchase is helping to build up one of the largest farm products in this country, now worth some $15,000,000 annually. The thin covering is very like wheat bran and is excellent food for live stock when mixed with other things. The shells are burned in the factories as fuel and the nut is used for fertilizer. The skins make fine storage. Those peanuts that are not sold on the market are ground up into better and into meal, which is used in the manufacture of confections of various kinds. Not oil is the most highly prized byproduct of the peanut, of which a barrel will yield about 20 gallons.—Herald's Weekly.

Not Granted.

The Rev. Dr. Funtomessy—Deacon Gooding walked right out of church in the middle of my sermon. I wonder if I offended him.

Mrs. Gooding—Don't let that worry you, doctor. He's been a member since his boyhood.—Philadelphia Record.

No Cause For Him to Complain.

"See here," remarked the guest to the new waiter. "There doesn't seem to be any soup on this menu card."

"Oh, no, sir," replied the waiter nervously. "I didn't spill it at the table. It was the one on the other side of the room."

Early English Umbrellas.

Two centuries ago the umbrella was known and used as a sunshade. Ben Jonson and Beaumont and Fletcher alluded to it. In 1712 it was used as a rain protector. Gay in his "Trivia" speaks of the "umbrella's oily shed," which was recorded as a kind of sou-wester material more serviceable than gingham or silk, which was used in its construction at that period.

The Intrepid Traveler.

"Yes, sir, I shot the leopard on the spot."

"Which one?"—Lippincott's.

Just a Little Exercise.

The elevator conductor of a tall office building, noticing that the colored janitor had ridden up with him several times that morning, remarked: "Sam, this is the fifth time I have taken you up, but you have not come down with me."

"Well, you see," Sam replied, "Ah been washin' windows on de seventh floor, and every now and agin Ah misses mah hold and falls out!"—Success Magazine.

Cabbage.

Cabbage in its many varieties has been developed from a single wild growth called Brassica oleracea, which in its wild state is very remote in appearance from our cabbage. Kale, cauliflower and collards come from the same origin. The principal cultivated varieties of all these are known to have existed as far back as the sixteenth century.

Weight Variations.

A man weighs less at noon and midnight than at sunrise or sunset at the time of new moon and full moon owing to the moon's gravitational attraction then acting together. In fact, he is subject to the same force which causes the tides.

A Needle.

Photographer—Did you ever sit for a photograph before? Little Girl—No, sir. I've always stood.

Yes; the Merchant Who Advertises Can Afford to Sell It For Less!

No matter what the article is, unless it should be something whose selling price is as fixed as that of a postage stamp, the merchant who is an enterprise advertiser is sure to sell it for less than the merchant who does not advertise.

For, in spite of his advantages in buying—buying in large quantities, for cash or short credit, taking instant advantage of buying OPPORTUNITIES—his selling advantage is the decisive factor. For he is enabled to cost his profits on a large aggregate of sales—not compelled to secure them from a FEW SALES, for he would then be taxing a small number of customers with the entire support of his business.

A store that makes a net profit of $100 in a day from sales to three hundred customers, is sure to sell each of those customers a 5 cent margin of profit than is the non-advertising store that is COMPELLED to make enough to cover a daily expense of 50 out of sales made to fifty customers.

If you are one of the 100 daily customers of the merchant who advertises, you are paying but one three hundredth part of his store profits on the day you buy. If you are one of the fifty daily customers of the non-advertising merchant, you are paying one fifth of his profits.

If you are fairly "good at figures" you will quickly convince yourself that you ought to buy advertising things!

Landman and Sailor.

To the landman the sea must always appear only as a casual phenomena upon which to exercise his skill. The sailor, however, has a special passion for the safety of those who go down to the sea in ships, and every one who ventures to leave the shore goes forth with a consciousness of awe at his own daring. Yet in the intricate complexity of modern civilization safety on land and safety at sea have walked by no means with equal step. Every morbid being carries a story of death or accident on land, while the great passenger ships come and go in continuous regularity, bringing no reports more stirring than those of high seas that have kept them from making new records.

With the present madness for speed and its attendant recklessness, our ships demand constant alertness, if we would cross them with safety. Speed at sea has come through larger and more strongly constructed ships. In the handling of many of the sailmen of an ancient time who served in his commandments of simple seamanship, simply executed, "God help the poor folk who sail to-night" is not wholly fantastic.

Imitation Bait.

The best method of obtaining a coating resembling patina, according to the Metallarbeiter, Vienna, is to immerse the article in a solution of nitrate of copper and then to place it while still wet in a chamber containing an abundance of carbonic acid. The fermenting room of a brewery distillery is specially adapted for this purpose, as, besides containing carbonic acid, it has a rather high temperature, which materially aids the formation of the coating. In this case the development of the green patina may be observed from day to day; if after about a week the object has not yet obtained the proper color it must be again dipped in the above solution, and this operation repeated till the desired shade has been acquired. As the formation of patina under these conditions proceeds in the same way as in the open air, but more rapidly, a handsome and permanent coating can be produced by this means.

AERO CLUB FOR WOMEN.

N Exists in France, Where Women are Ardent Balloonists.

French women are not particularly keen in the matter of athletics, but if a sport presents a real element of danger their delight knows no bounds. Thus ballooning threatens to become a fad with the members of the wealthy classes, and the number of women holding certificates showing that they are able to navigate a balloon is very large.

There is already an Aero Club for ladies, some of whom have achieved record ascents. Mme. Surcouf was the first woman who received a certificate, and she celebrated the event by starting on an aerial trip with Mile. Gachet. The two ladies were the only occupants of the car and landed safely.

Another famous member of the Aero Club, says the Gentlewoman, is Mme. Buret. Accompanied by M. and Mme. Bachelard, she went from Havre to Cabourg, across the Channel. Some French sportswomen in their case after excitement blossom into modern Altalantas. Mme. du Gast is one of them, and her perilous performance in the Paris-Toulon motor boat race is still in everybody's memory.

Then there is Mme. Lavesiere, a splendid shot, who is seeking a companion to go tiger shooting. Unfortunately, the companion is not easy to find. Her husband died long ago, and her relatives and friends are all men of peace, and therefore not anxious to travel a few thousand miles to risk their lives in the jungle.

The "Bang" is Here.

Although much protest was made last winter about the reappearance of the "bang" cross the forehead, it seems to be rather firmly entrenched now.

The majority of women will wear it this winter. In large measure it will be becoming. It will catch on to lift from their foreheads that low-hanging mass of hair, now the fashion, and substitute it with a tawny fringe.

It is absurd to cut the hair to make this bang. One can buy it by the piece in any hair shop and attach it under one's own hair by an invisible hair-pin.

One should be extra careful not to get it thick or straight.

The poodle bang, once so fashionable in the eighties of the nineteenth century, also promises to return. It has already done so in Paris, but there it, like the wavy fringe, only accompanies the flattened pompadour.

Both of these have been introduced to give softness to forehead from which the hair has been lifted, and also to give a showing of hair under the hat.

They should never be worn with the hair severely parted in front.

Softshell Egg.

The production of softshelled eggs causes much annoyance and loss in many poultry-yards. Such eggs are useless for any purpose save home use, as they cannot produce chickens and they cannot be sent to market. says the American Cultivator. There are three causes of softshelled eggs, the commonest of which is an insufficient supply of shell forming material. Laying hens require a generous proportion of lime in their food, as in 100 ordinary sized eggs there are more than 20 ounces of pure lime. Finely broken oyster shell is an excellent and a cheap form in which to supply the necessary lime. Fright sometimes causes a hen to lay an egg without a shell, but this is not so serious a matter, and is only temporary. The third cause is due to a derangement of the egg organs, and if the abundant supply of lime has not the desired effect more drastic measures are needed.

All food of a stimulating nature should be stopped at once, and an aperient given, consisting of one grain of calomel and one-twelfth grain of castor oil. A little lemon juice should be added to the drinking water as a tonic, and the food should mainly consist of boiled rice.

Try This for Catarrh

Get a Hyomel (pronounced High-ome) outfit today.

Pour a few drops from the bottle into the navel that comes with each outfit, and breathe it in 4 or 5 times a day.

Immediately you will know that Hyomel soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated membrane, the meeting. All through the exhibition emphasis has been laid upon the importance of a sense of individual and community responsibility. It is not that "they" must do something, but that "we" must do something.

Before the exhibition headquarters are broken up there will be "followed up" meetings for the whites and for the negroes. The exhibition management endeavors to leave behind definite ideas as to work to be undertaken even after the exhibition has been forgotten by everyone in town.

But Hyomel does more than soothe and heal, it kills the germs, those pesky little pests, that are at the root of all catarrhal conditions.

"Last year I suffered terribly with catarrh. I used one bottle of Hyomel and my catarrh was better."

—Miss Helen McNair, Layton, Cal.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including a bottle of Hyomel, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and simple directions for use, costs only $1.50. If you now use a Hyomel inhaler, you can get an extra bottle of Hyomel for only 50 cents at drugists everywhere and at Brown's Drug Store.

Guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup, asthma and sore throat, or money back.

FOR HEADACHE—Hick's Capudine.

Whichever side of the head is afflicted with nervous troubles, Capudine will relieve you. It's liquid—pleasant to take—acts immediately. Try it. 10, 25 and 50c at drug stores.

For the Stomach

Here's an Offer You Should Not Overlook.

Rezall Dyspepsia Tablets remedy stomach troubles by supplying the one element, the absence of which in the gastric juices causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They aid the stomach to digest food and to quickly convert it into rich red blood and material necessary for "overcoming" natural body waste.

Carry a package of Rezall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket, or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal, and indigestion will not bother you.

We know what Rezall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to relieve indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail we will refund your money. Three sizes: 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rezall Remedy in Washington only at our store, The Rezall Store, The Hardy Drug Co.

For the Sake of Others.

Consider I Her Duty to Tell.

I write this for publication with the hope that it will influence others who suffer as I did to try the great Root Juice remedy. The wonderful medicine has done so much good for me that I feel it my duty to tell it. For years I spent a life of misery, but thanks to the great discovery, I am now free from every ache or pain. Like many others, was very skeptical when the papers first told of the many hundreds of cures Root Juice was making, but after seeing several people that were using it I concluded to try it, although I felt that every organ of my body was almost worn out. My liver was torpid, my kidneys were weak and my stomach was in a horrible condition. At times it felt like it was full of rocks. A great deal of gas formed and I had weak spells frequently and was badly constipated. My appetite was very poor and even in hot weather my hands and feet were cold. I was using some kind of medicine most of the time, without much benefit. After taking the Juice a few days I began to improve. I have used four bottles and am feeling better than I have for twenty years, and I believe the remedy has permanently cured me.—Mrs. J. A. Colbert, R. R. No. 7, Ft. Wayne, Ind. The great remedy has done worlds of good here, as any one can learn by calling at Hardy's Drug Store. Root Juice is sold for $1 a bottle, or three for $2.50.

Great Falls, Mont.—Chas. Geiser of this city says: "Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea has been a great help to me. I have used it for two years and can recommend it as a good blood-purifier." Hardy's Drug Store.

Dimpleton—What's the use? I'm well enough, and I'll probably outlive you.
