Feet and Soaked Wool Peed-ing and Salting.
The sheep yard should be pre-bected on the windward sides by a high board fence, by a building or anything else that will break the fegres of the cold, piercing winds. Sheep an ancure low temperature Satter than cows or horses, but heavy winds are injurious to them. Sapetally should they be protected from the cold winter rains. Damp-mens causes colds, and is the reason for other ills to which sheep are hely.

The yard must be well drained to sevent foot rot. A heavy covering of straw is of advantage. It permits the winter rains and the water from the winter rains and the water from melting snow to pass through and feare, the surface more dry. A smuthern exposure should, whenever messible, be given the yard. The surface readily and heep it in a bet-ter sanitary condition.

A Lot of influence.

The following aneodose well illustrates the exalted position Bir Wilfrid Laurier occupies in the minds of the less educated Freach-Canadians. Some years ago an illiterate old Canadian came into Quebec' from the country, where he met a friend whom he had not seen for years. In the course of converaction the old fellow happened to mention the name of Queen Victoria, and was much astonsished to learn that she was dead. "Dead!" he echoed: "and who has laken her place?" When he was told that the Prince of Waise was now the ruler of the British Empire be exclaimed. "Gee! The Prince must have claimed "Gee! The Prince must have a lot of influence with S!r Wilfrid to get a big job like that."—Tit-Bits.

Remarkable Bat Cave. In a mountain near Montalban, Lo son, there is a large cavern, with many branching chanbers and a cen-tral dome, two hundred feet in height many pranching chainbers and a central done, two hundred feet in height, perforating the mountain top, from which, in December, 1907, Flugh M. Smith saw issue a solid column of bats, which flew rapidly in a straight line for fifteen innuives, disappearing over a mountain range in the direction of Manila, without a single but having left the column. American eagineers stationed there told Mr. Sinth that the fight of bats had courted at practically the same time each day during two years. From other sources it was learned their the phenomenon had been observed for at least thirty years.—Youth's Companies.
