Possence of Mind.

A visitor to an insune anyfum was walking in the grounds when a man came up to him and entered into conversation. After walking about for some time, discussing topics suggested by the place, the two set out on a tour of inspection, the man, apparently an official, inviting the visitor to go over the anylum. At length they reached the foot of a flight of steps, up which the guide led the way, and at the top the visitor found binself out upon the root, a height of more than a bundred feet from the ground. As they gued below his companion startled him suddenly by proposing to see who could denly by proposing to see who could jump farthest toward the grounds! Not until then had it dawned upon the risitor that his guide was mad. Mer cifully he was a man of ready wit, and his wit saved the madman's life. "Oh anybody can jump down," said the vis-itor. "Let us go down and see who can jump to the top." The madman thought it a good idea, and, retracing their steps, the two began their jump from the eph instead of from the roof.

The Mammoth Cave Rat.

The cavern rat found in the Mammoth carp is of a soft bluish color, with white, neck and feet. It has enormous eyes, black as night, but quite unprovided with an iris. These eyes are perfectly insensible to light, and when the experiment has been made of catching a cavern rat and turning it loose in bright sunlight it blunders about, striking itself against everything, is unable to provide itself with food and finally falls down, and dies. In its native depths, however, it is able to lead a comfortable enough existence, as its enormously long whiskers are so extremely sensitive that they enable it to find its way rapidly through the darkness. The principsi foed of the cavern rat consists of a kind of large cricket of a pale yellow color and, like most other cave dwellers, itself perfectly blied.

The Lilies.

Two thousand years ago it was supposed that water lilles closed their flowers at night and retreated far under water, to emerge again at sunrise. This was Filmy's view, and it was not impeached until the English botanist John Ray in 1088 first doubted its veracity. The great lilly of Zanzibar, one of the grandest of the illy family, opens its flowers, ten inches wide, between 11 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon. They are of the richest royal bine, with from 150 to 200 golden stamens in the center, and they remain open four or five days. It is not generally known that there are illies that have nocturnal habits—night bloomers as well as day bloomers. They are as well as day bloomers. Concerned in Candition of Roads as Much as Farmers.

Not a few people make the mistake of supposing that the good roads question is one for farmers mainly. "The people who five in towns," declared the Hillingh state engineer recently in a goods road speech at Peorls, "are concerned in the general condition of the roads as much as the people who five out of the towns on the highways."

This is very true.

While the farmers reap directly the most benefit, pleasure and convenience from good roads, the condition of the roads affects the towns vitally. The average community finds business extremely dult when the rural population is bottled up by mod.

There was timestern in the Candition for the roads affects the roads affects the condition of the roads affects the towns vitally. The

WASTE OF BAD ROADS.

About $250,000,000 Said to Be Annual.

Tell of Peor Highways.

Two bubdred and fifty million dollars are wasted annually on bed roads in this country, which is noted for its business sagacity and thrift and which has been pronounced a great success as a business community.

Add that waste to losses occasioned by bad roads and the sum leaps to a billion a year. It is estimated that in short, each man, woman and child in the United States bears a tax of $12.50 because of had roads.

because of had roads.

If this doesn't show that good roads are a national question that bulks as are a national question that bulks as as big as the tartiff, the unvy, foreign relations, commerce—anything; if it desen't prove that the federal government ought to turn to the roads question with as much energy as it expends on anything else, then there is nothing more to be said.

Improvement Mottess.

The amount of good work that can be accomplished by a split log drag is autonishing; and must be seen before believed.

If a community can't have a "good" road it should have the best road possible. Anything is better than a "bad" road.

able. Anything is cetter than a road.

The beneficent effects of good roads flow to the city and the hamiet as well as to the farmer. They walk hand in hand in community of interest, and surely it is a picture beautiful to look upon and sound at the core.

Good roads are indispensable to our growth and progress, and we must not faiter or wait to provide for them.

Tennesses Boesters Working.

Tennesses Boesters Working.

Inspired by the campaign waged by the boosters of good roads in the city, the Chartanooga Times says: "Get together everybody for a great monumental bighway and boulevard between Harriman and Chartanooga, taking in Rockwood. Evanswills. Dayton, Boddy—in fact, all the promising towns between the two cities. A wide built thoroughfare of that kind would be the greatest prosperity builder we could have."

Maintaining Gravet Reads.
In order to maintain a gravet road in good condition it is well to keep piles got gravet stongside at frequent intervals, so that the persons who repair the road can get the material without, going too far for it. As soon as rust or holes appear on the surface some of this good, fresh material should be added and stamped into position or kept raked smooth until properly con-solidated.

Abutting Proceeds to Melp Roads.
An ordinate for resurfacing of streets and narys of Corington, Eyone-half the cost to be borne by abutting property owners and the other half at the cost of the city at large, has been passed by the council. Heretofore the city has borne the entire cost of resurfacing work.

Self Cardidense.

Some one complained to Matthew Arnold that he was "getting as dog matte as Cartyle."

"That may be true," he replied, "but you overlook the obvious difference. I am dogmette and right, and Cartyle is degmatte and wrong."

Home purgatives contain such strong drugs that, while they cause the bowels to move, injure the delicate limings of stomach and intestines. Hollister's Rocky Moutain Tes is not in that class. It is slightly laxative and at the same time healing and southing. Hardy's Irus Stores.

The Furbidden City, Peking has been a city for something like 3,000 years, first as the capital of a small state, then destroped, again rebuilt and finally molded into the form in which we now know it, with its Chinese. Tarter, imperial and Forblöden cities, each with its inclosing wall. Nobody has ever yet attempted to tell the full tale of its intrigues, its cabalas, pions and counterpions. Few to tell the full tale of its intrigues, its cabala, plots and counterplots. Faw know anything about them. No one person knows them all. If only the bricks that form the walls could find a tougue, if only the pavilions on the Coal Hill could produce the sights and acounds that have fallen to their lot to see and hear, there would doubtless be a tale to tell which might vie in interest and dramatic force with anything that ancient Rome or Babyion has given, even through the medium of faction.—Shanghai Mercury.
