

MANY DISTINGUISHED GENTLEMEN WILL PARTICIPATE AT PROVIDENCE

Delegates will Leave Norfolk Next Monday—Invitations Has Been Extended to All Southern Governors—Richmond is to Bill for the Next Convention—Atlantic City Also Wants It

A Daily News man asked Representative John H. Small today if he had any interesting information to communicate regarding the great Convention of the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways Association which will convene at Providence on next Wednesday, the 21st inst. He responded with a number of items which will be interesting to our readers. The majority of the delegates from the Atlantic States south of and including Virginia, will leave Norfolk on next Monday afternoon, 21st inst. at 7 o'clock on one of the largest ships of the Merchants & Miners line. About seventy-six rooms have already been engaged for the delegates. If there are any prospective delegates who cannot be accommodated by this route, they can secure reservations on the steamer "Puritan," which will leave New York city on next Tuesday the 23rd inst. Full information and reservations may be obtained by writing to Mr. George F. Sproule, The Bourse, Philadelphia. Five hundred can be accommodated on the Puritan, and delegates from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will go on this steamer. Delegates from other sections will be accommodated up to the limit. The officials of the Association, together with the Governor of Rhode Island have extended a special invitation to the governors of all of the Atlantic Coast States to attend the Convention as the guests of the State and the city. Governor W. W. Kitchin has been especially invited, and Mr. Small expressed the hope that he would certainly attend. Arrangements have been made with the Navy Department for the presence of the Fifth Division of the Atlantic Fleet in Narragansett Bay during the sessions of the Convention. Among the ships in this division will be the armored cruiser North Carolina. Mr. Small has received a letter from Col. George H. Webb, of Providence, who is in general charge of arrangements for the Convention and the entertainment of the delegates. Of course the primary purpose of the Convention is to enter into a serious discussion of plans and methods for promoting the construction of the Intra-Coastal Waterway from Boston to Florida, and many distinguished gentlemen will participate in the deliberations of the Convention. Mr. Small expressed the hope that the delegates from North Carolina, who intended, would go with a serious purpose to help in this great movement, and would attend all the sessions of the Convention. Incidentally, however, the State of Rhode Island and the city of Providence will provide most elaborate entertainments for the pleasure and recreation of delegates. The Executive Committee has planned to spend more than $25,000 for the entertainment of their guests. A typical New England clam-bake, the largest ever held in the State, will be given at Vandy Fair on Narragansett Bay. There will be an inspection of this beautiful bay and the opportunity to visit Newport, Narragansett Pier, and other places of interest. The good people of Rhode Island are noted for their hospitality and every delegate will find ample opportunity for a pleasant recreation. The city of Richmond will send a large delegation both from the Municipality and the Chamber of Commerce, and they will endeavor to capture the next meeting of the Association for Richmond. It is probable there will be an interesting contest between Atlantic City and Richmond. Delegates From Washington. Messrs. T. O. Myers, W. K. Jacobson, C. M. Little, E. K. Willis, J. E. Hoyt, B. L. Sumner, J. D. Griffin, Hon. Geo. H. Small, Walter Credit, J. E. Buckner, W. A. Thompson, E. H. Jefferson, J. W. Giddens, Dr. W. A. Boulton, A. W. Strouse, T. J. Latham, Geo. A. Phillips, Jas. E. There is room for several more to be appointed. If you want to go speak up. It will be a grand trip.

BURIED IN EARTH

Courades Uncovered Him Twice - But to no avail

THIRD CAVE-IN KILLS HIM

HENRY LARSON BURIED BY THE "LAYING IN OF EARTH." HIS FACE WAS UNCOVERED BY HIS WOULD-BE RESCUERS TWICE. New York, Aug. 24.—Three times yesterday Henry Larson of Perth Amboy was buried by the caving in at Asbury Park of earth on the sides of an old well he was repairing. Twice he had been nearly dug out, when the earth buried him anew. The last time tons of earth and debris fell on him, burying him forty feet and killing him by suffocation. Larson was engaged in removing the worn brick and had worked his way downward about twenty feet. The earth above broke and Larson was buried completely save for one of his hands. This protruded out through the earth and waved in frantic appeal to a man named Goddard, who was helping him. Goddard then shouted for help to some farm hands in a field and then dropped into a well. He worked swiftly and soon threw out of the earth that was choking Larson. He freed the man's eyes and mouth and nostrils from sand. Larson directed the digging of the sand, cautioning Goddard to be careful for his own life. "Get out—quick!" Larson cried to his friend, himself helpless to move. Goddard barely escaped being buried with the other man. On the very instant that he reached the well's mouth a ton or more of dirt plunged down upon Larson. Goddard was horrified when it was only buried waist deep and was able to work himself out. He renewed his cries for help and two or three men responded. Larks sent boys on horseback to other farms, and soon eight men were on their way to the well. Meanwhile the first rescuers had gone to work furiously with shovels and for a second time Larson's head and shoulders were brought into the air. He was unconscious but gasping for breath. As he drew the air into his lungs and began to revive to the extent of opening his eyes and begging the men not to lose a second for fear of a third cave-in, that which he feared occurred. The rescuers made a mad scramble and succeeded in getting out as the whole side of the well fell in upon Larson.

INTERESTING ITEM

Steamboat Will be the Outcome is the report

WATER TRANSPORTATION

AT BE EXPECTED AS A WAY OF WATER TRANSPORTATION FOR EASTERN CAROLINA WHEN THE OPPORTUNITY IS PRESENTED. An interesting item concerning a water transportation line between the city of New Bern and Philadelphia recently appeared in the Philadelphia Ledger, and in the New York Journal of Commerce. These papers announced that the experiment of the barge line between New Bern and Philadelphia had been so successful that a steamboat line would shortly follow. These papers referred to Mr. W. A. Robertson formerly of New Bern, who represents J. B. Blades, a large lumber operator in North Carolina. The operation of a steamboat line between New Bern and Philadelphia would be very much hampered by the restricted size of the canals between Albemarle Sound and Norfolk and by the Chesapeake & Delaware canal, and also by the imposition of tolls through both of these canals, and it may be that the projected steamboat line will have to wait until Congress provides a free waterway and enlarges and improves the same. This interesting item of formation shows at least the trend of commercial sentiment towards the Intra-Coastal Waterway and is an indication of the large things which may be expected in the way of the development of water transportation, when proper waterways afford the opportunity.

SLIGHTLY INDISPOSED

The many friends of Mrs. John L. Phillips will regret to learn of her slight indisposition.

A MODEL STORE

HE NEEDS IT

I am voting every day for the City Aldermen who advocates day care current for the city of Washington. If you don't believe I am one who needs it come up and look and see how I am trying to make out. A man who wants a thing and won't ask for it or work for it does not need it. I need it so I am going to work for it.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Following the will of the Great Spirit, who doeth all things well, and whose good plans and mysterious ways are past finding out, the Chiefs of Tau Tribe No. 18, I. O. R. M., do offer the following resolutions: That whereas, the Great Spirit has so seen fit to call unto him, little Richard, son of our beloved Chief, J. E. Adams, whose home is darkened by the departure of this beautiful ray of heavenly sunshine, which so wounded the hearts of mama, papa and little brothers that no earthly physician can heal, therefore be it Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved chief and family the sympathy of Tau Tribe, with the assurance that the same Great Spirit that wounded, will return that beautiful light in His own good way.

DOUBLE YOUR BUSINESS Suppose you knew a man who kept his shades drawn tight all day and burned kerosene instead of letting in the sunlight. Suppose you knew a man toiling along a dusty road who would not accept a lift—when there was plenty of room in the wagon. Suppose you knew a miller—with his mill built beside a swift-running stream—who insisted on turning the machinery by hand. All foolish, you say? And yet look around you—how few retailers take advantage of the great advertising campaign run by food, textile, cloth and every other manufacturing line that you can name! Think a moment. What was the last advertisement you read and wondered just WHICH STORE IN TOWN would be progressive enough to have the goods in stock so you could see them—and purchase? More goods are sold under the evening lamp at home than you dream of. Practically every live retailer advertises in his local paper. But how? PUT UP YOUR LIGHTNING-ROD! Let your customers know that you can deliver to them the goods which great advertising, PAID FOR BY MANUFACTURERS, has interested them in. They will eat the bait—and you will get the business. Practically every manufacturer stands ready to help you help yourself. Ask them for electrotypes suitable to run in your own advertising. Hook their trademark to your store. Consumer demand for advertised goods is now divided broadcast among all the stores in town. USE YOUR ADVERTISING IN LOCAL PAPERS TO FOCUS THIS DEMAND UPON YOUR STORE. And don't forget to send for those helpful electrotypes. Now—this means, for it means money to you. ROBERT FROTHINGHAM, Manager of Advertising, Nuttall Building, N. Y.
