Mr. W. H. Baker, the photographer expects to leave next week for Richmond to attend the Virginia-Carolina Photographers' Association. He will be gone a week. During his absence Mr. Baker has engaged the services of Miss Emma Hardy of Greenville, now of Baltimore, who is an expert photographer and artist. She has quite a reputation in her line.

Miss Hardy will arrive Monday and can be found at the studio all next week. Wherever she has operated her work has been much praised.

Those desiring first class pictures should avail themselves of this opportunity.

NEW JOB PRINTER.

Upon inquiry it was ascertained that William Carmack Marsh, Jr., had made his arrival and he made application for assistant in the job printing department. W. C. Jr. is a handsome boy. The entire force from the editor down extends congratulations.

Both Mrs. Marsh and baby are doing well.

AT THE GAIETY TONIGHT

The program consisting of three picture acts that will be presented at the Gaiety tonight will undoubtedly prove to be one of the best all round picture programs shown here in some time. In addition to this program the Blind Boys, who have been planning all who heard them in the music line, will play and sing all now and.

The following plays will be shown.

"The Phoenix"—A sensational melodrama of national reputation, in which the world's famous actors, Milton and Dolly Nedra will play the leading parts. This is without question a great picture. It arrests your attention and keeps it closely confined in the subject.

"Grand Mother"—A dramatic production that will appeal to all. Every man, woman and child loves "grand mother." This remarkable picture shows grandmother at her best. Magnificent in photography, intense in action.

Other pictures will also be shown that will prove to be equally as good. Don't fail to hear the Blind Boys in all new music and song.

HERE FOR WINTER

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 1.—Miss Pearl Blackwell, the pretty daughter of Mrs. Mary Blackwell and the late Rev. J. H. Blackwell of Roanoke, were married at Bristol October 5 of last year and kept the fact a secret until tonight. They have lived apart until this evening.

THE GEM THEATRE

Four Reels Tonight—1,000 Feet Feature Film.

Another strong bill to be presented at the Gem Theatre tonight:

"Between Love and Honor" (Vita-graph)—Power drama of fiber and fire. Photographed amid the beautiful scenery of Kingston, Jamaica. The story is based upon a dissipated father, who rules his motherless daughter with a tyrannical will and upon every occasion scolds and finds fault. As the various characters appear in the drama a deep plot is interwoven which brings out much dramatic work of a high character.

"Inside the Earth" is a fanciful film, purporting the discoveries of two Englishmen who reach the interior of the earth. The array of monsters is quite appalling, and some of the transformations about them are unique, all being beautifully colored.

"Rebellious Betty" (Comedy).—The first of a series of comedies intended to disclose the doings of Betty. She is a new performer and no doubt this series of comedy will be watched with deep interest.

Other good pictures will be shown but will arrive too late for mention in the program.
