THE BEST HOUR OF LIFE

Is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, of Rocky Mount, N. C., when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had. I then proved to my great satisfaction what a wonderful Gold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For, after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." It's the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, Hemorrhages, La Grippe, Asthma, Hay Fever, any throat or lung trouble. 50c. $1.00. 10c. bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

A GOOD POSITION.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway Telegraphy. Since the 8-hour day became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia Pa., Memphis, Tenn., Danversport, Ia., Columbus, S. C., or Portland, Ore., according to where you wish to enter. 10-3.

A Tragedy.

"Discover" she blazed. "I hate you!" "Hate me?" gasped her affianced. "Why I was only yesterday you said you loved every bit of my head." "You tell me every bit of my head?" she retorted as she held up a bit of golden tress.

A Fearful Mystery

Belonging Her Room.

Being slipping into his wife's room, in a whisper, he brought three female forms to sleep unexpectedly.

Mrs. Bings (sighs)—What?

Bings—Yes, I have. They're down stairs.

Mrs. Bings—You wretch!

Bings—Now, my dear, I couldn't get out of it.

Mrs. Bings (laughing)—Then you'll have to take the consequences.

Bings—But—

Mrs. Bings—You'll have to put up with practically nothing.

Bings—That's what I told them.

Mrs. Bings—You did!

Bings—Yes, I told them that they needn't expect a single thing; that we'd scrape round in the kitchen if necessary and pick up whatever we could, and that, as I hadn't let you know, that was the best we could do.

Mrs. Bings—What did you tell them that for?

Bings—It's the truth, isn't it?

Mrs. Bings—Certainly not. As if it makes any difference to me how many friends you bring home! I'll show you!—London Sit-Rits.

Little Known Republics.

Within the domain of the United States on the North American continent there have been diverse independent republics, says Mary W. Hasegawa in Harper's Magazine, the very name of three of which is known to but a few. How many Americans of today have heard, for example, of the commonwealth of Watagua, which in 1772 was organized as an independent community by North Carolinians who had crossed the Alleghenies and descended into the basin of the Tennessee. Had made themselves homes in the valley of the Watagua river? How many remember the commonwealth of Transylvania, which was organized in the eastern part of what is now Kentucky in 1775 and which sent to the Continental Congress a delegate who, however, was not admitted? How many have heard of the short lived state of Franklin, or Frankland, which at a somewhat later period was self created out of certain western counties of North Carolina?

A Remarkable Concert.

A Carlested letter calls attention to a remarkable concert which took place at the St. Paul Aug. 6, 1912, a program of which is still preserved in the city archives at that place. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the sufferers by the fire, which had laid waste Dresden and took place at the Saechsischer Saal. The only performers were Beethoven and Paderewski, who played their own compositions. There were two pianofortes and two violin solos and several numbers in which both took part, says the writer. The account of the entertainment also mentions the fact that one of the interested listeners was a "tall, elderly man, wearing a great blue coat, who sat perfectly erect throughout the performance, never looking anywhere but at the stage. This was Goethe." The amount realized for the fund was about $200. The letter ends with, "Beethoven at the piano for charity and box receipts $200."

A Dog's Tongue.

Have you ever wanted to know why a dog's tongue jolls out of his mouth on a hot day or when he has been running? People sometimes say that it is because he is thirsty, but that isn't exactly right. If you look at it you will see little drops of water dripping from it. Well, you know that when you get very warm you get covered with perspiration. The dog's body never perspires. When he gets hot all the moisture comes out through his tongue, and as the moisture on the tongue dries up the dog's body cools.—Pittsburgh Press.

How He Took It.

"In training," said an instructor in athletics, "the strictest obedience is required. Whenever I think of the theory of training I think of Dash, who after eighteen years of married life is one of the best and happiest husbands in the world.

"Dash," I once said to him, "well, Dash, old man, how do you take married life?"

"According to directions," he replied.

The Sixth Sense.

In a primary school examination over which I once had the pleasure to preside one of the questions was with regard to the five senses. One of the bright pupils handled the subject thus: "The five senses are smelling, sobbing, crying, yawning and coughing. By the sixth sense is meant an extra one which some folks have. This is snoring."—Woman's Home Companion.

Merely a Question of Comfort.

"Now, doctor," complained a libidinous patient, "my great trouble is elephants—like ones. Not that I object to elephants, you understand. I like them, but they do crowd me so."—Success Magazine.

Kindness.

Kind looks, kind words, kind acts and warm handshakes, these are secondary means of grace when men are in trouble and are fighting their unseemly battles.—Dr. John Hall.

Hearing the Silence.

Little Phyllis was at a concert. The leader rapped and the buzz of conversation ceased. "Oh, mamma," exclaimed Phyllis, "listen to the hush!"—Exchange.

There is always room for a man of force, and he makes room for many.

Cheap Living.

Of the 300,000 inhabitants of Tennessee 100,000 live on an average income of about 12 cents a day.

Grammar.

W. D. Nesbit, in the Chicago Evening Post.

Grammar is an invention to make conversation difficult.

It is an ever-present aid to the comic critic and a slight criterion of social standing.

If a man have cash and no grammar he can get through, but if he have neither cash nor grammar he is impossible.

And yet when a man says to you, "If I had have known that you would have come I wouldn't have went till I seen you," you understand him perfectly.

If you ask him to lend you $10, and he says to you simply, "I hain't got no money nowah," you do not require a diagram.

Even when some one splits in infinitive and confuses his "wills" and "whills," his meaning is clear even to the most cultured mind.

Speech is no vehicle of thought, and grammar is merely the gilt on the wheels.

Bad grammar, like bad language, is always learned from the neighbor's children.

Additional construction and Chatterboxian elegance is always inherited from your side of the family.

One form of grammar was invented by a Harvey. The Harvey who invented the sauce.

But sauce may at times be good grammar.

Grammar was hammered into you at school, until now you can shudder when some one say "had saw" but afterward could you name the eight parts of speech?

Nine, indeed? We might have knew that.

Who speaks to the instinct speaks to the deepest in man and finds the readiest response.—Alcott.

He is sufficiently learned, that knows how to do well, and has power to refrain from evil.—Cicero.

Match Sticks.

Certain kinds of matches are shaved with the grain from saved blocks. Others are cut both ways by saws. In still further varieties the blocks are boiled to make them cut easily. By some machines a boiled or steamed log is revolved on its own axis, and a shaving the thickness of a match is cut round and round. This shaving is at the same time cut into lengths and split into match sticks. It may be said that there is hardly a limit to the varieties of methods employed. Round matches are made by forcing them through dies.—Harper's Weekly.

Teeth of a Shark.

In respect to its dentition the shark is a very remarkable creature. The white shark has seven rows of teeth, while other species vary in the number of rows they possess. It must be understood, however, that the shark only uses one row at a time. The other rows lie down inside the mouth behind the edge of the jaw, erecting themselves when it is time for them to take successively the place of the first row. When one observes how keen edged these incisors are it seems no wonder that they can bite off a big rope as readily as if it were thread.

He Was Engaged.

An Irishman being prosecuted for a breach of the peace, a witness for the accused was told by the magistrate that he might have stopped the fight.

"Inside, on your honor," said Paddy. "I was too busy fighting a friend of my own."

Vegetation in Japan.

It is estimated that in Japan there are no less than 2,750 different species of vegetation.

Ship Money.

Charles I. was badly in need of money, and his attorney general in the course of his antiquarian researches discovered that in the dim ages of the past the crown had levied writs to the cities and towns on the coast requiring them to provide vessels for the royal fleet, and he suggested that this ancient right might be brought into use again. Instead of the actual vessels a money contribution might be exacted instead. Thus the king would be able to tax a large part of the realm while theoretically observing the law. While for ship money were accordingly levied, but the patriot John Hampden declared that they were illegal and raised such a protest against them, that they were practically nullified.

NEW MEETING

Every Member to Attend Betterment Association tomorrow

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Betterment Association in the Public School auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. This will be the first meeting of the new year and the president desires that every member attend. Important business is to be transacted. The work of the association is to be divided into several departments so it behooves every member to attend and if possible bring a new member.

The Woman's Betterment Association is doing a great work in Washington.

Prolific Cotton.

The Daily News received today a sample of the celebrated Hawkins Prolific Cotton, raised by Mr. W. H. Brantley of Aurora, one of that section's energetic farmers. On the stalk sent to this office there were seven well developed bolls with one missing—it having dropped off. We have never seen a finer sample of cotton anywhere and Mr Brantley is to be congratulated on his crop this year.

It is not only a credit to him but to this county. There is no section anywhere where better cotton is produced than in Beaufort county.

Mayor's Court.

There were only two cases before his worship, Mayor Sterling, at the city hall this morning for trial. State vs. Owen Oden, colored, was charged with being drunk, disorderly and resisting arrest. Fined $5 and cost.

State vs. Furney Branch, drunk and disorderly. Sentenced to the streets.

From Battle Creek.

Messrs. William and Stephen C. Bragaw returned home Saturday night from Battle Creek, Michigan, and other western cities.

Mr. William Bragaw visited his brother, Mr. Richard Bragaw at Asheville.

Indisposed.

The friends of Mr. T. E. Cutler will regret to learn of his indisposition.

Stonework Completed

The stonework on the warehouses and office for the brokerage firm of C. G. Morris & Co., is completed and the roof is now being placed.

New Roof

A new roof is being placed on the residence occupied by Mr. C. E. Jordan and family at the corner of Gladden and Second streets.

Arithmetic to Date.

The Widow.

"Now, if you love me just one-half
As much as I love you,
Just add your half to my whole love,
"Twil equal love for two."
Quoth she "At figures I am dull,
And fractions are a bore;
But for your sake I'll cancel all
For love forevermore."
She then from multiplying beaux
Subtracted every thought;
AT undivided love she gave
To one who proved but naught.

The Diamond.

While the diamond is the hardest substance known, it is also brittle and may be fractured by a blow. But if it is placed between two hard steel faces in a hydraulic press and a slowly ascending pressure applied the hard steel will become indented.
