SELECTING SEED CORN.

Better Run Risk of Frost Than Pick the Early Too Early.

The first step toward better seed corn for your year must be taken in the fall by selecting the best ears from the stalks in the field. The corn should be allowed to mature well on the stalk. By selecting the best ears and picking them from the stalk as soon as the husks begin to turn yellow, which is a common practice, earliness is secured at the expense of vitality, writes Professor Moore of the University of Wisconsin in the American Agriculturist.

A slight frost will not injure corn if it is well matured, and it is better to run the risk of a frost than to pick the ears too early. The better part of the growing season seems to improve the vitality of the corn greatly.

Care should be taken in picking seed to secure ears which are attached to the stalk about three feet above the ground. These ears which grow either very high or very low upon the stalk should be rejected, as they are undesirable, having characteristics which we do not desire. For the same reason we should avoid selecting ears with very short or long cobs or from inferior stalks.

Go into the field after the husks on the ears have turned yellow and select the best ears from good stalks. Put them in sacks or barrels and bring them to the side of the field and bank. It is well to follow definite rules in selecting seed corn, otherwise a large number of good ears are spoiled. After the ears are banked away they will be found unperfected and should be discarded. Only those ears should be retained for seed which are of good form, have ears that are not too heavy, and are not too small. It is well to select ears that are not too heavy, and are not too small. It is well to select ears that are not too heavy, and are not too small.

EVER WATCHFUL

A Little Care Will Save Many Washington Readers Future Trouble.

See that they have the amber hue. Watch the kidney secretions. The discharges not excessive nor infrequent. Contain no "brick-dust like" sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you. They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick. Mrs. James Duff, 21 New St., New Bern, N. C., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved of more benefit to me than any other remedy I ever used for kidney complaint, and consequently I gladly recommend them. I suffered terribly from dull, nagging backaches and pains across my loins. To stoop or lift aggravated my trouble and it was hard for me to perform my work. I could not rest well and often arose in the morning feeling tired and languid. Being convinced by irregular passages of the kidney secretions that my kidneys were diseased, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. They relieved the backache, restored my kidneys to a normal condition and gave me renewed strength."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn, Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
