BATTLE OF BALLOTS ON WAY AS RESULT OF HIGH OF SUBSCRIPTIONS UNDER DOUBLED VOTE OFFER—SECOND PERIOD ENDS IN TEN DAYS.

A light vote was cast yesterday in the Four-of-Europe contest, but it was heavy enough to cause some changes of position for today. The double vote offer is bringing results, too. Subscriptions are coming in for the candidates in fine style, and the interest in individual campaigns is growing.

The race is heated and as the contestants and others equally anxious for this delightful tour of Europe that awaits the winners, they become more and more determined. There is the shifting of positions and the deposit of subscriptions.

It seems that the election of chaperson is not exactly clear to the public and several of the contestants, but the plan is simplicity itself. Each subscription ballot, known as a "special" ballot, carries with it a number of votes for the chaperson equal to half the number it gives the principal candidate who turns in that particular subscription.

The chaperson vote is then certain to increase in the same proportion as the "special ballot" vote of the candidate, who named her. Thus, the candidate who is found to have the greatest allowance of votes to her credit on her chaperson ballot.

Don't steal another's time. Don't steal another's time. You do that every time you are late to an engagement and what is worse you do it by failing to keep the truth.

Punctuality is a form of truthfulness. Like most business virtues, punctuality rests on the virtue of truth. Business is truth. Truth is business.

No business succeeds without truth in the long run and punctuality is a business virtue because business turns and rests on keeping engagements, obligations and promises.

A great merchant—one of the very greatest that trade has known—said once that his great difficulty and trouble was not in the work he had to do or the risks he had to run, but in finding "7.55 men."

As his store opens at 8 a. m. it is plain enough what he meant. "The world is full of '7.55 men,'" he wearily added.

The world is full and so are the halls of hellure and the whirlpool of disaster of men who are five minutes late when they ought to be five minutes early.

They waste what never returns. They burn what no man can grow again. They blunt their own sense of truthfulness. They lose control of their time. They cease to be able to go and come as they should and as they desire.

"Only slaves hurry," said Emerson. Of all slaves he is worst, who having ample time, throws it away, and is the slave to that hard taskmaster—hurry.

Every day is long at 8 a. m. All days are short at 4 p. m. The man who is late five times in succession of 4 p. m. days, with truth flocked and broken in each.—Exchange.

MOBS ARE RAMPANT LISBON'S MOBS LOOSE

Many Banished Sisters Will Seek Refuge Here LISBON'S MOBS LOOSE

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 11.—To restrain the mobs which were uncharitable when the revolution started in proving more difficult for the new born republic than was the overthrowing of the monarchy. The lawless element having had a taste of mob rule, is committing excesses of all kinds.

The decree summarily banishing the religious orders gave excuse for brutal treatment of the clergy. Today the police adopted severe measures to prevent the people scattering the religious establishments and to check the demonstrations against the religionists pending their expulsion.

But it is in the capital chiefly that priests are attacked and monasteries looted. From all parts of the country come reports of tranquility and enthusiastic celebrations in honor of the republic.

As was the case in Barcelona, the popular feeling here seems to be repressive to the monks and nuns and does not manifest toward the secular clergy.

Decrees expelling the Jesuits and declaring their property confiscated and expelling foreign monks belonging to other orders were promulgated today.

Portuguese members of religious orders other than Jesuits, who accept secularization, may remain in Portugal and return to their families, but those refusing to become secular must leave the country.

Many Nuns Will Go to America. Many of the nuns who are being expelled have announced their intention of going to America.

Several monasteries and convents belonging to Portuguese or foreign orders are declared to be veritable arsenals, and it is announced that the Clericals' obstinate resistance to the republic hastened the order of expulsion, which was necessary to tranquillize the public spirit.

The discovery of secret subterranean tunnels at the monasteries set about rumors that many monks were still hiding underground, awaiting a favorable opportunity to emerge and continue the fight against the new regime.

AGED CITIZEN RECEIVES FALL Mrs. Elizabeth Mayo, the aged mother of Messrs Arthur and Harry H. Mayo received a fall at the home of her son Mr. Harry Mayo last Monday morning. She was taken with an attack of vertigo and in consequence she fell into the fireplace, striking her head against an and iron.

The result of the fall caused a gash to be cut in her head which bled profusely. Dr. John Blount was called and rendered the necessary medical attention. Since that time Mrs. Mayo has been confined to her bed. Although much better today she is still suffering from the effects of the stroke.

Mrs. Mayo is one of Washington's oldest, being 84, and highly esteemed citizens. Her many friends rejoice that the accident did not prove more serious.

ROBIN DUTY CASE THE DECISION IS ADVERSE TO THE UNITED STATES

IT CAUSES A SURPRISE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 11.—That a decision adverse to the United States had been rendered by the board of general appraisers in the robin duty case, in which the Fairbanks Company was the appellant, became known here today when President J. A. G. Carson of the Savannah board of trade received a telegram from T. J. Devery, special United States attorney who has been in charge of the government's case.

The decision was rendered by the board in New York. The news was a distinct surprise to the naval stores people here and caused widespread disappointment among them as it was considered a foregone conclusion that the rule of the secretary of the treasury, imposing the duty on imported rosin, would be upheld by the board.

The case was instituted by the Fairbanks Company several months ago to test the validity of the ruling of the Secretary of the treasury, which was made shortly after the new tariff schedule became effective.

During the pendency of the case before the general board of appraisers, the effective, hence no longer, has been effective, hence no longer, rosin has been imported into the country, the tariff being practically prohibitive.

Efforts will be made shortly to induce the secretary of the treasury to appeal the case to the custom court of appeals which in matters pertaining to the interpretation of the tariff, is a court of final resort.

E. C. T. S. NOTES On the morning of October 5th, the first anniversary of the opening of the school, appropriate exercises were held in the assembly hall.

Prof. W. H. Rasdale, who was influential in establishing the school, spoke on "The Growth of Education in Eastern North Carolina," comparing the schools of Pitt county of ten years ago, with those of today.

The "Father of East Carolina Teachers' Training School," ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis, gave a history of the establishment of the school.

In a little more than two years after the ground was broken, six buildings had been erected and a year's successful work completed.

Miss May Muffy, until recently one of the supervisors of public school music in the Baltimore schools, has accepted the position of director of public school music. She has studied for several years in Peabody conservatory.

Miss Orpah Dabney has arrived to take charge of primary methods. She is a graduate of Columbia University and has had experience in teaching in both rural and city schools.

She has been teaching in the Louisiana Industrial school, at Ruston, La. We sincerely regret to lose Mrs. Ogden. Her work has been of a high order. She will return to her home in Delaware.

The Y. W. C. A. opened with bright prospects. Many of the old members are back and are bending every effort to get every new student to join the association. On the evening of October 3rd an impressive installation service was held. Forty-five new members were installed. Excellent talks were made by President Wright and Mrs. Beckwith.

The Y. W. C. A. is doing a good work in furthering the social uplift of the school. The receptions have been on Saturday evenings. To West Main. The concrete sidewalks have been practically completed on West Main street as far as Bridge street.

ROOSEVELT MAKES SURPRISING STATEMENT WHILE IN ATLANTA WOULD WILLINGLY RUN IF

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 11.—"By George, if I thought I could carry a single Southern State, I would willingly run for the presidency." Colonel Roosevelt made that statement in Atlanta Saturday, it was learned today, in the presence of Mayor Maddox and other members of the reception committee, which escorted him through Atlanta's crowded streets.

As the procession moved along the streets with the Colonel bowing his acknowledgments to the thousands of either side, Mayor Maddox told Mr. Roosevelt that he had lived in Atlanta all his life and the crowd was the largest he had ever seen massed on the streets on any occasion.

"You see, Colonel Roosevelt," added Colonel Fred J. Paxton, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce and a member of the reception committee, "what the people of Atlanta would do for you if you would give them a chance."

With manifest enthusiasm, the president then made the remarks quoted above. "I regard it as unfortunate," said Mr. Paxton tonight, "that the matter reached the newspapers as Colonel Roosevelt was the guest of the city, and I considered his statement made in his usual enthusiastic manner, as confidential."

Large Attendance. Mrs. E. D. Rowe, Mrs. Rowe and their daughter, were in the city yesterday on their way home from Edgecombe county where they attended the annual meeting of the Centennial Primitive Baptist Association which met in that county Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Rowe reports a great meeting and a most pleasant visit. He states that the attendance on the association last Sunday was estimated at least four thousand.

Dinner was served on the grounds of this large company. The next meeting of the association takes place on Saturday before the second Sunday in October 1911 and will be held with Shady Grove Primitive Baptist church at Small, Beaufort County.

ORGANIZATION IS POSTPONED

Last night Chairman A. H. Ellor of the State Democratic Executive committee, telegraphed W. C. Rodman, the county chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee that Attorney General Bickett and ex-Governor Aycock could be here at the organization of the Young Men's Democratic Club last night but one of them could probably be here next week.

For this reason the organization of the club was postponed until a later date. There were about two hundred anxious Democrats present and all were of one voice as to postponement until Governor Aycock or Attorney General Bickett could be with us.

Hence the organization was postponed. It was also decided to change the name from the Young Men's Club to the Democratic Club. So all Democrats, young and old, are hereby notified to be out with the boys next time.

The coming of either Attorney General Bickett or Governor Aycock to address our citizens is looked forward to with pleasure.

Nearing Completion. The new Zion M. E. church on Fourth street is rapidly nearing completion. The roof has been placed and now workmen are engaged in laying the brick and stone for the towers, which are to be two in number.

This structure is a credit to that denomination. We doubt if there is to be found in the state a handsomer church building owned by the colored people.

HUGHES IS SWORN IN

Washington, Oct. 11.—After the oath of office as associate justice was administered yesterday to Charles E. Hughes of New York, the supreme court of the United States adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late chief justice, Melville W. Fuller.

The court was in session eight minutes. Every available seat in the little court room was occupied by persons especially interested in the events of the opening day.

The mother, the wife and the daughter of the new justice were the first of the relatives of the court to arrive. Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel represented the cabinet.

Presiding Justice Harlan announced as soon as court had taken its place that the President had appointed Mr. Hughes to the bench, that the senate had confirmed the nomination, and that Mr. Hughes was present. He directed Clerk McKenney, by whom Mr. Hughes was seated, to read the latter's commission.

"The court extends a cordial welcome," said Justice Harlan, and the clerk finished reading. He then directed the new member to take the oath of office, the oath of allegiance having already been administered in the robing room a few minutes before.

Mr. Hughes read the oath in an impressive manner, and at its conclusion repeated after the clerk the words "So help me God," and Marshall Wright escorted the new member to his seat.

These formalities over, Justice Harlan proceeded to announce the death of the chief justice.

Belhaven, N. C., Oct. 7, 1910. Hon. W. C. Rodman, Washington, N. C. Dear Sir:

Mr. M. D. Leggett, our candidate for representative wishes a joint canvas of the county with your candidate, Mr. Latham for same position and that I make the challenge through you as Chairman of the Executive Committee.

Mr. Leggett wishes it understood that this is to be separate and apart from the county canvas, and of course the full time shall be divided between the two speakers only. Please advise me as early as possible if Mr. Latham will accept, so we can get together and arrange a joint canvas independent of the county canvas.

Yours very truly, (Signed) G. A. CONNER, Chm. Rep. Ex. Com. Oct. 11, 1910

Mr. G. A. Conner, Chm. Rep. Ex. Com. Belhaven, N. C. Dear Sir:

Your letter of October 7, found on my desk upon my return to this place on the 10th, inst. I beg to advise that the Democratic Executive Committee and the Democratic candidates for county officers early in September arranged a county canvas, publication of which has been made throughout the entire county. We do not deem it wise to disarrange that program for the sake of a joint canvas between two candidates. If you so desire we will be glad to have your county candidates meet our county candidates at the places and times fixed in the appointments already made by us, and I beg to assure you that we will make an equitable division of time at all points and base the same upon the arrangements existing in the past between your chairman and myself.

Trusting that I may have an answer at your earliest convenience or if you prefer a personal interview, I am, Very respectfully, WILEY C. RODMAN, Chm. Dem. Ex. Com.
