THE WORKERS

They're giving, all manner of knowledge, the teachers infesting this value; you store up your head in a college, or gain erudition by mail. Alas, but in all of our questing, the hitting that is most useful is missed; the beautiful science of resting is never put down on the list.

CRIPPEN MUST DIE SALISBURY CHOSEN

Found Guilty of Murder of His Wife and Sentenced

HANGED NOVEMBER 15th

THE JURY WAS OUT ONLY THIRTY MINUTES—THE IMPRESSION EXISTS THAT THEY HAVE RECOMMENDED A LIFE SENTENCE. THE TRIAL OF MISS LENEVE.

London, Oct. 22.—Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, after a trial extending over five days and thirty minutes deliberation by the jury, was today found guilty of the murder of his wife, an American woman, known on the stage as Belle Elmore, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who presided at the trial, sentenced Crippen to be hanged November 15.

There is, however, the strongest prejudice in England against executing a man on purely circumstantial evidence and an incident at the close of Crippen's trial has caused the impression that the jury may have recommended a life sentence. After Crippen was sentenced to death, the foreman of the jury handed to the Lord Chief Justice a note, after looking at which the justice said: "That shall be forwarded to the proper quarter."

"The proper quarter" might mean the Home Secretary, who has jurisdiction in such matters. The jurors refused to discuss the incident. A large crowd awaited the departure of Crippen from New Batey. There were a few "boos" as he drove away to the Bentonville prison, but no oaths or other demonstrations.

The jury was out just 30 minutes. When it returned and announced that it had found the defendant guilty, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone asked the physician if he had anything to say.

Crippen replied in a low voice: "I still protest my innocence. The Chief Justice then pronounced the sentence of death.

Addressing the condemned man, Lord Alverstone said:

"You have been convicted on evidence which can leave no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man that you cruelly murdered your wife, and then mutilated her body. I advise you to entertain no hope that you will escape the consequences of your crime. I implore you to make your peace with Almighty God."

As the Lord Chief Justice concluded a policeman stepped forward and in the hush that had fallen over the court room led Crippen from the dock.

The Trial of Miss LeNeve. The trial of Ethel Clare LeNeve as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Mrs. Crippen, will begin on Next Tuesday.

Crippen received the death sentence with the apparent calmness that characterized him throughout the trial.

He appeared rather nervous during the judges' summing up, which was strongly against him.

As Lord Alverstone mercilessly portrayed his character as developed during the trial, Crippen twirled his thumbs, crossed his legs and occasionally shuffled his feet. However, as soon as the trial had been concluded the prisoner seemed to pull himself together. When the verdict was announced Crippen did not flinch.

Richard Muir made the closing speech for the prosecution. He declared that the Crown had proved beyond reasonable doubt that the body found in the cellar of Crippen home was that of the doctor's wife.

No one else, he said, had a chance to murder the woman and bury the body as it was found to have been buried.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone immediately began his summing up of the case.

The justice described Crippen as an extraordinary man whether guilty or innocent.

If guilty he had covered up a ghastly crime in a ghastly way and it was believed, in a most brutal and callous manner.

If he was innocent it was impossible to fathom his mind, as he was absolutely indifferent to the charge of murder. He had taken no step whatever to prove his innocence. Crippen, the justice declared, undoubtedly was a liar and had lived an immoral life, but, he added the jury could not convict the defendant on that score.

It must be quite convinced that the human parts found were from the body of Belle Elmore and that her death was caused by a wilful act of the prisoner.

The Lord Justice charged the jury that they must be convinced of the identification beyond a reasonable doubt.

Forty Eight Postal Bank Station For Trial of Plan

THE APPROPRIATION SMALL

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF POSTAL BANK SYSTEM SELECT CITIES TO TRY OUT THE NEW SERIES.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Board of Trustees of the postal savings bank system today approved at least 42 second class postoffices, at which the plan will be given its first trial. The list includes one office for each state and territory.

The trustees are Postmaster General Hitchcock, Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh and Attorney-General Wickersham. They met in the office of Postmaster General late this afternoon.

The list they formally approved was selected after careful investigation by the postal officials with a view of making the first test of the service as thorough as possible under the limited appropriation of $100,000 provided by Congress which includes all the expenses of equipment, including the engraving and printing of forms, certificates, bonds, etc., clerical assistance, etc.

Owing to the smallness of this appropriation it has been impossible to establish postal savings banks during the first year in the large city post offices of the country.

Communities were chosen in which conditions were exceptionally favorable to the development of a postal savings business mostly industrial centers where wage-earners will be especially benefited by the kind of banking facilities afforded.

A large patronage of the service is expected by the officials from foreign born Americans in these cities, who are now remitting considerable sums to their native countries, usually in the form of money orders. The work of furnishing the necessary equipment to the postoffices selected and having the postmasters and their assistants thoroughly instructed in the operations of the system will probably consume several weeks, but every effort will be made to have the designated officers ready to receive deposits at the earliest feasible date.

The postoffice at Salisbury, N. C. was selected for North Carolina.

Getting Away With It.

(Thomas R. Ybarra, in New York Times)

Let me sing a song of autumn, Of the chill that's in the air, Of the sting of coming winter, That's apparent everywhere.

Of the heavens blue and cloudless, Of the breeze that cheers like wine, Of the leaflets brown and shriveled, (Though it isn't in my line) —

Of the red that's in the faces, Of all passing maidens fair; Let me sing a song of autumn!

(Why, they're let me, I declare!)

All skill ought to be exerted for universal good—Johnson.
