HERALD SEES DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN NEW YORK, OHIO, NEW JERSEY

Connecticut also going Democratic is prediction of New York Times. Democrats will control the next House by majority of thirty-three.

Forecast of Times New York, Nov. 5.—The Times, in tomorrow morning's issue in addition to New York, New Jersey and Ohio, puts Connecticut in the Democratic column. They declare that there will be nothing in the nature of a landslide, but a Democratic victory, nevertheless. The Times is recognized as a conservative paper and value is attached to their forecast, based on reports of correspondents.

New York, Nov. 5. Democratic victories in New York, New Jersey and Ohio and the election of a Democratic house of representatives are indicated by the country-wide impartial political canvass compiled by the Herald at the close of the final week of the campaign.

In New York, according to the best information obtainable at this time, John A. Dix, Democratic candidate for Governor, will receive a plurality of approximately 50,000 and the result will be very close on the "balance of the ticket."

Ohio has a similar situation. While the consensus of opinion is that Governor Harmon, the Democratic nominee will be re-elected by from 10,000 to 40,000, no predictions are made that he will carry through the bulk of the state ticket.

Next House Democratic The Herald's Congress table, which was prepared only after the opinions of editorial experts in every state of the Union had been obtained, indicates the election of 217 Democrats and 174 Republicans, which singularly enough, is an exact reversal of the present make-up of the house.

They are striking hard blows out in Ohio—the home of Presidents—and the struggle there is being watched as is the battle in the Empire state for the same reason, with keenest interest because of the vital bearing its result may have upon the next presidential campaign. Should Governor Harmon be elected he would loom large as the next Democratic candidate for President.

wide canvass of New Jersey indicates the election of Woodrow Wilson by something like 7,000. The fight there will be carried right up to the polls and a shift in the situation at the last moment would not cause surprise to persons who have familiarized themselves with conditions in New Jersey.

In Connecticut, where a most remarkable contest is being waged, indications point to the election of Charles A. Goodwin, Republican, over Judge Simon E. Baldwin, his plurality being placed at from 8,000 to 12,000.

In Massachusetts the prediction is made by careful observers that Governor Eben S. Draper will be re-elected by something like 20,000. Democrats declare they will carry the state, controlling the next legislature and insuring the retirement of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Robert P. Bass apparently will triumph over his Democratic opponent in New Hampshire, and Governor Pothier, Republican, will be re-elected in Rhode Island.

In the Middle West and further toward the Rockies indications point to Republican victories, with the exception of Indiana, where the Democrats, according to the present outlook, will be in control, thus forcing the retirement of Senator Albert J. Beveridge. Iowa will go Republican. In Wisconsin the Republicans will win.

They will also be victorious in Minnesota, and in Kansas Gov. Stubbs will be re-elected by an increased plurality.

In making this canvass the correspondents of the Herald were instructed to ascertain just how deeply the national issue which influenced the elections in Maine, Massachusetts—the Fourteenth Congressional district—and New Hampshire will cut into the elections of next Tuesday.

Failure to discover any great sentiment over the issue which marked the New England elections and the declarations of experienced politicians that the voters who may be "nursing a grievance remain silent" put an element of uncertainty into

NORTH CAROLINA IS DEMOCRATIC

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 5.—The close of the campaign in North Carolina finds success on State ticket certain for Democrats, with a majority of from forty thousand to fifty thousand.

The Democrats will elect at least eight congressmen, with a fighting chance for Republicans in the Eighth and Tenth districts, now Republican. The fifth, now republican, appears assured to Democrats.

A GREAT DAY FOR BAPTIST

One of the most powerful, convincing and thoughtful sermons heard in Washington in sometime was delivered at the First Baptist church Sunday evening by Rev. K. A. Handy of Baltimore. The topic for this profound and logical discourse was "What am I Worth?"

From this great theme the speaker endeavored and did succeed in showing to the large audience the value of a soul. For the past week the Angulus Trio of Baltimore, composed of Revs. O. L. Owens, L. E. Dutton and K. A. Handy, have not only been preaching the gospel to the delight and edification of our people, but they have charmed all by their sweet songs of Zion. Sunday evening they were heard with pleasure and profit by a packed house.

In addition to the trio Rev. Mr. Dutton favored the congregation with a solo, "I Want to Go There—Don't You?" They not only preach the gospel but sing it with power and sweetness as only those filled with God's love can sing it.

Yesterday was a great day for the Baptist in Washington. All day from the Sunday school hour until the evening service the First Baptist church was the mecca for a large number of citizens.

All who went were simply carried away with the services. At the Sunday school hour Rev. Mr. Dutton addressed the pupils from the subject "Hens and Chickens."

At 11 o'clock Rev. O. L. Owens spoke on "The Transforming Power of a Vision of God."

The meeting is being largely attended and no little interest is being manifested.

There will be services again this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited to be present. The Angulus Trio is doing a great work and their coming to this city is an occasion for much rejoicing among the church-going people.

May their efforts ever be crowned with abundant success. They are worthy ambassadors.

Taken to Hospital.

Captain George Howard of the schooner William T. Parker, who met with the misfortune to fall Saturday and break his left hip, was taken to the Washington Hospital yesterday for treatment. His condition is said to be more favorable today.

DEMOCRATS TO WIN

State Chairman Eller gives out his Final Statement.

A GOOD DAY'S WORK ON PART OF DEMOCRATS TOMORROW MEANS THE END OF BUTLER AND END OF ALL EFFORTS TO CHANGE NORTH CAROLINA INTO A REPUBLICAN STATE.

Raleigh, Nov. 6.—Democratic State Chairman Eller gave out the following statement tonight:

"Democratic victory next Tuesday is as certain as any human event can be. The size of the majority is all that remains in doubt.

"It rests with us to make the victory decisive and final, or to make it so indecisive as to render necessary a repetition two years hence of the campaign we are just concluding.

"If we merely held the majority of two years ago the result of this campaign will be indecisive, and our efforts must be repeated in 1912; but if we increase our majority to 50,000, all efforts to place North Carolina in the list of doubtful states will cease. Is it not worth while to exert ourselves and for the next decade, at least, make North Carolina so certainly Democratic that no efforts will be made by the national republican party to carry it and thus insure for our state a continuation of the peace and prosperity now enjoyed?"

"To the end, therefore, that we may make our work final, and to the end that we may make unnecessary a biennial repetition of the present campaign, I now call upon all Democrats to join in a movement to register a majority of 50,000 next Tuesday.

"I suggest that all Democrats cease that day from their ordinary vocations and each one do what lies within his power to bring about this result; those who employ others in their stores, factories, or on their farms, can well afford to suspend their work one day that their employees may have full opportunity to exercise their franchise and exert their influence around the polls. I suggest further that as far as possible every Democrat cast his vote early in the day so that absentees may quickly be discovered and encouraged to come before the polls close.

"Fellow-Democrats, one good day's work next Tuesday means the end of Butler and the end of all efforts to change North Carolina into a Republican state."

CRIPPEN PLACED HIS LAST CARD

London, Nov. 5.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, convicted of the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, today played his last card and lost. He will be hanged on November 8.

The criminal court of appeals heard his appeal from the conviction of the lower court and decided against him on all points. The court confirmed the order of execution which will be carried out on Tuesday next.

Aviation Meet In Raleigh

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 7.—Saturday the State Fair grounds were again inspected and the full plans perfected for the arrangement of the course in the center of the great race course for the flying machines of Glenn H. Curtiss to make their start in the big meet that is to be held in Raleigh November 16 and 17th.

The arrangement is ideal and the opportunity for those who are inside the fair grounds, in the grand stand and around the race track to see all the manoeuvres is almost all that could be expected.

Automobile owners all over the state are interested in the great aviation meet and automobilists in Raleigh predict that the largest number of machines ever gathered at one point in North Carolina will be here for the daring exhibitions of air navigation.

Letters have already been received from forty-five owners of automobiles who will be here in their machines for the event.

Mr. John A. Wilkinson of Belhaven said yesterday that he would be here and that he had just returned from New York, where he witnessed the flights at Belmont Park. Mr. Wilkinson described the thrilling interest that held the thousands. At one time he saw seven machines in the air making daring flights. Raleigh is the only place in North Carolina where a meet has been contracted for with more than one machine.

The automobile is helping in the great work of letting the people know of the Aviation Meet in Raleigh. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Woolcott of the Raleigh Motor Car and Machine Works left Raleigh on a trip that will take in all the roads from Raleigh to Louisville, with the posters of great pictures showing the Glenn H. Curtiss flights as they have been photographed.

Every road will have its advertising matter posted along the route. Manager Upchurch, of the Raleigh Bill Posting Company will have charge of the work, and with a corps of assistants will post the great bills over the state. They will be carried in fast automobiles and will have the opportunity to place the great pictures on all the country roads.

"Who Wants to Fly?" seems to be welcomed as a question by almost everybody. The matter will be entirely with Mr. Curtiss' representative, and each application received will be given the same consideration. Just because others have applied first is no reason why they will be given the preference.

All will be at the fair grounds when the flying machines make their trips, and then selections of all who are to be given the privilege to ride with the aviators will be made.

Just how great the crowd will be here is told best by the plans the rail roads are making to bring the people to Raleigh.

Never, except for the great aviation meet. Nearly every Raleigh enterprise have sent in all of the low rates to Raleigh with admission to the Fair grounds included or such special train service. The four railroads entering Raleigh alone will distribute this week nearly one hundred thousand flyers advertising their special trains and low rates to Raleigh's great aviation meet. Nearly every Raleigh enterprise has sent all of the envelopes they will use between now and the date and an announcement of the aviation meet on the envelope. Fifty thousand of these have already been printed for the various concerns and others are hearing of these and offering their envelopes for the same use.

EXCITEMENT INCREASES WITH FINAL WEEK OF EUROPEAN TOUR CONTEST

Mammoth And Decidedly Successful Thus Far, Contes' Now Enters Upon Its Last Week—Immense Final Vote Predicted—Subscriptions Rolling In—Important Pointers To All.

One week from tonight and all will be over but the shouting in the European tour contest. One week from tonight at 10 o'clock and the hopes of every active contestant for these delightful European trips will be locked in the ballot box and in the custody of the judges who are to make the final count of ballots on the following evening.

Where will you be in the final vote standing? If you are not a contestant, where will your favorite candidate be on the finish? Better think that thing over and give her your subscription now and help her win, while she still has an opportunity to win. Because you have already given one little subscription during the contest is no sign you can not give another. You are probably going to remain in Washington for some time to come, or at least you are going to want the news of your home community. Three or four or even five years paid in advance helps you just that much, relieves your mind of the payments for that long and incidentally helps more now than it ever can again.

Final Pointers to All. The contest closes at 10 o'clock next Monday evening. At that hour all subscriptions with money to accompany them, and all ballots not yet voted, must be in the ballot box or they will not be counted. Each candidate's results should be placed in a sealed envelope bearing only her name and district number.

Coupons clipped from the issues of the Daily News will not be good after 4 o'clock next Saturday afternoon. The last coupon will appear in Friday's paper.

Out-of-town candidates are expected to personally deliver all subscriptions, money and unvoted ballots and deposit them in the ballot box themselves at this office on the final night.

The contest department, or any one else, will have nothing whatever to do with accepting the final deposit of votes and subscriptions from candidates. At this stage of the contest it is impossible for anyone whatever to know the exact standing of any candidate, and in permitting candidates to personally deposit reserve votes, etc., fairness is assured all concerned.

The names of the members of the committee of judges will probably be announced on Thursday of this week. The committee will be composed of five prominent citizens of Washington, whose duty it shall be to verify the final count of ballots and see that justice is done every candidate for these tours.

Last Minute Efforts. There is always much to be accomplished with the last few hours in any kind of a campaign. In a campaign for the honors of membership in our European tour party it is the same. There are those who have promised subscriptions from time to time, but who have failed thus far to fulfill their promises. There are many yet who have been undecided as to which candidate was the more deserving of their support. There are those who have given short term subscriptions, and who should be glad to give their subscriptions now. A single year's subscription can be made almost equal in value to one in the double vote period.

The work of this week should be made the work of a victor. It should be the effort that decides the question, the results of this week will, in most instances, tip the balance one way or the other.

The trip is worth it. Work right now and win it. Many a campaign has been won on good, sincere effort during the last few days.

Why not win this trip? It's easy now. Those who have worked steadily are filled with that steadfast determination that makes winners in any struggle. The fighting forces are equally opposed up to the present and with grim determination, and with subscription ballots as weapons, they are fiercely contesting every inch of the ground.

Who will be the winners? That is the question of everyone. And this week will tell.

Card of Thanks.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of this city desire to express their thanks to Mr. Charles M. Brown, proprietor of the opera house for the use of the same for the lecture of Miss Lillian Phelps. Every member of the union appreciates this act of kindness and they will ever remember the courtesy of Mr. Brown.
