(Signed.) J. A. SULLIVAN, Chairman. B. F. BOWERS, Secretary. J. K. HOYT, L. A. SQUIRRE, STEPHEN C. BRAGAW.

After a strenuous count and verification of several hundred thousand special ballots that had been held in reserve for several weeks, many of them since the first of the contest, at 1:40 o'clock this morning the committee of judges announced that its work had been completed in the European tour contest.

MISS PEARL CAMPBELL Of 313 Market street, winner of European tour from District No. 1, and also winner of chaperonship for her sister, Miss Lillian Campbell.

The committee convened in the directors' room of the First National bank at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. The first procedure was the selection of the Rev. J. A. Sullivan as chairman of the committee, and Mr. B. F. Bowers, secretary. The ballot box was set before the committee, and after a few minutes' deliberation on the method of procedure, the seal to the ballot box was broken, the box unlocked and the verifying and count of ballots was begun.

MISS EMILY GUILFORD Of Aurora, N. C., winner of European Tour from District No. 2.

At times the outlook would be extremely bright for one candidate, then the work of another would overshadow it, and again and again the committee faced surprises in the vote that was light or heavy for a candidate as the count proceeded. It is needless to say that there was great relief in the "camp of the judges" when the count was finally completed and the committee knew that its arduous task was finished.

As had been anticipated all along, we find many surprises in this final vote standing. These unexpected conditions arose from numerous circumstances better known to the individual candidates. At any rate, the news items contain that those who have been defeated will be satisfied to know that their defeat was fairly and honestly accomplished.

TO-MORROW A GREAT DAY IN TOWN OF WASHINGTON

Everybody is coming to Washington tomorrow to witness the agricultural exhibit, attend the oyster roast and the motor boat races.

All the arrangements for the day are practically completed and no more remains but the execution of the plans as scheduled so admirably by those in charge.

Last year an exhibition of crops was had here and it proved to be one of the greatest occasions in Washington's history—so much so that the people demanded another exhibition take place this year.

Well, tomorrow is the day, and unless all signs fail, people are coming from all directions. Of course the center of attraction will be the agricultural exhibit which takes place at the tobacco warehouse on Pearce street.

The committee acted wisely in selecting the warehouse for the exhibits are protected, and too, those wishing to see them, if the weather happens to be unpropitious will have nothing to mar their desire. Immediately after the judges finish their task of awarding the premiums, which are seventy-five in number, there will be given at the Kugler Lumber Company a free oyster roast to this every visitor in Washington has a cordial invitation.

At 2 o'clock the motor-boat races are to take place on the river. These races will be from the county bridge down to the Norfolk Southern bridge and back to the county bridge. The entire day bids fair to be one full of interest and excitement from start to finish.

FIERCE STRUGGLE OVER POSSESSION OF BRIDE

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—A tug of war for possession of a bride of only a few minutes threw the congregation in the Central Baptist church here into the wildest confusion last night and caused a suspension of the services.

The tussle was between the young husband, George H. Coker, on one side and the two maiden sisters of Mrs. Coker on the other. Mr. and Mrs. Coker had eloped and been married by the pastor of Central church in his study shortly before the evening service began.

The bride and groom decided to remain for the services. While the minister was announcing his text the two sisters of Mrs. Coker, having learned of what was forward and hoping to prevent the marriage appeared on the scene.

Declaring that Mr. Coker should not marry their sister they pulled her into the aisle.

Mr. Coker also laid hold of his wife and between them they created considerable excitement. The combatants were finally persuaded to leave the church however, and when they learned that he marriage had already taken place they gave up the fight.

Baptism Tonight.

The ordinance of baptism will be administered to several candidates tonight at the First Baptist church. Public cordially invited.

The corn judging is to begin at 11 o'clock, promptly. The judges selected by the committee are Messrs C. B. Williams, C. L. Mewman and J. O. Schaube of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C.

The committee on the part of the Chamber of Commerce first appointed to arrange for this agricultural exhibit were Messrs. W. D. Grimes, W. M. Kear, E. A. Daniel and A. C. Hathaway.

Later on a subsequent committee composed of A. M. Dumay and Colonel H. C. Bragaw were named. These gentlemen have performed their hard and difficult task well and they deserve the thanks of the entire city.

Colonel Bragaw will have charge of the exhibits at the tobacco warehouse.

The committee on the oyster roast appointed by the Chamber are Messrs. J. P. Taylor, E. Hoyt Moore, Frazier Woolard and A. J. Cox.

Farmers residing in Beaufort, Pamlico and Hyde counties and those from portions of Martin, Pitt, and Craven counties are to contest for valuable prizes—seventy-five in number. The best samples of crops are to be exhibited.

Special trains will be run on the Norfolk-Southern, Atlantic Coast Line and the Washington & Vandremer roads. Washington is expecting a record breaking crowd tomorrow. The latching string hangs on the outside. Everybody will be welcome to come and enjoy the day.

IN THE MORNING

When you leave your downy couch with a big three-cornered grouch, and begin your morning's labors with the manners of a bear, then your friends will wish you'd slide to the forest wild and wide, and, like any other bruin, do your growling in your lair. I have figured it this way: If I want to spoil my day, if I want to fuss and clamor till my jaws are flecked with foam, I should seek a piece remote, there to shed my shoes and coat, and kick up a holy rumpus till the cows are coming home. For I haven't got the right to go snapping, day and night, making life a weary burden to the people that I meet; and although my nature's dour, and my temper hard and sour, I have made some folks imagine that it's reasonably sweet! Life is more or less a bluff, and pretension is the stuff; just pretend that you are gentle, though you are as savage as a bear; just pretend that you are kind, and the people are so blind that they'll praise you every where!—Walt Mason in News and Observer.

Fire Yesterday

An alarm of fire was turned in yesterday afternoon. It proved to be the grass in a vacant field on West Third street. The West End Reel Team responded promptly and but for their prompt work it might have proved disastrous. The surmise is that the grass ignited from sparks from the railroad engine.

CALE CHEWS UP MONEY

Spartanburg, S. C. Nov. 15.—Vile going milking Mrs. Luther Calvert, who lives at Clinton, dropped a neck-stroke containing five twenty dollar bills, a ten and a five and three ones, besides a silver quarter.

The money was missed an hour later and though search revealed the quarter which showed signs of having been chewed upon by a calf, a young helper in the yard had a guilty look and a veterinary surgeon was summoned.

The roll of bills was extricated from the stomach of the calf in a badly mutilated condition. The bills were taken to a local bank cashier who sent them to Washington to be redeemed.

THE SEINE RIVER IS NOW STATIONARY

Paris, Nov. 15.—The swollen Seine, which has flooded some of the lower parts of the city and threatened great damage, was stationary today.

At a conference between Premier Briand and the inundation committee it was decided to rush the work of deepening the river between Suresnes and Bougival and the construction of a canal for diverting the water in times of flood.

LITTLE GIRLS DARING FEAT

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 14.—Stripping off her coat like a "grown-up" 8-year-old Martha Stauffer, of Emsworth, a suburb, jumped into a pond yesterday and rescued her 3-year-old brother, who had fallen while throwing stones.

The child swam to the bank in four feet of water, supporting her little charge.

It might not be a bad idea however, to begin sending them to jail first, as they invariably manage to keep out after getting into Congress. —Ledger Dispatch.
