

The Elks Memorial

A most interesting service is promised the citizens of Washington tomorrow in the annual memorial exercises of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The Washington Lodge No. 372, will have their annual celebration over their dead at their hall at 2:00 o'clock. A full program of the exercises was published in yesterday's Daily News. The orator of the day will be Roy Robert V. Hope, pastor of the Christian church and the eulogies over the dead brothers, Messrs. F. G. Paul and William P. Baughman will be delivered by Major Wiley C. Rodmas and A. D. McLean, Esq., respectively.

The music promised is of high order and merit. Some of Washington's best singers are to take part.

All over the United States tomorrow afternoon the order of Elks will pay fitting tribute to the memory of those of their brothers that have passed into the great beyond during the past year. No town more fittingly observes this occasion than Washington. Not only are the members of the order urged to attend, but the general public has a cordial invitation to be present.

The order of Elks in Washington is one of the most thriving secret organizations. It has done no little for the uplift of the city. Many a widow and orphan can bear testimony to their worth in this city. Those who attend the memorial exercises tomorrow afternoon will be amply repaid.

Invitation To M. E. Church

Reading by Mrs. Gordon.
Hymn: "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name."
Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

AWFUL PAINS FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorma A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing-down sensations, so fully described in your book.

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Your druggist has it.

HYMN OF THANKSGIVING

(The Cavalier.)

We thank Thee that the sun and rains
Have brought the harvest to our fields

That we have buerdone for our part
With health and hope that plenty yields.

We thank Thee for the touch of love

That has upheld us on our road,
Was pointed to far heights above,
And led to paths before untrod.

And, while we thank Thee for the past,
With bended knee and hymn of praise,
Grant differing hand clasp hand at last,

That peace, not discord, crown our days.

FOR FRESHNESS and ACHING.

Whether from malarious conditions, colds or over-heating, try HICK'S GARDOLIN. It reduces the fever and relieves the aching. It is liquid—1/2 oz. and 50 cents at drug stores.

ADVERTISING IN THE NEWS.

In Wealth Worth the Price?

The writer once inquired of a very successful man:

"When do you ever get a moment's time for your own self—to be yourself and to think your own thoughts? Do you ever get a time like this?"

The very successful man hesitated for a moment, and then replied:
"Why, yes—I get such a time when I am being shaved in the morning."

Is success really worth the price when it must be paid for at such a rate? Of what use are mansions and country houses and great estates if one has no time to visit them and enjoy their beauty? Why should one collect, through agents, the most exquisite works of art, if he cannot find more than a casual half-hour in which to view them? What are wife and children if you are always hastening about the world, far too preoccupied to give them any serious thought, or to receive the pleasure which their company could afford you.

Triumph in the wheat pit or in the stock exchange, and your success will be tainted by the stories which those who care for you will have to read in every newspaper. Become the target of a thousand hoarse-voiced speakers on the stump, who depict you as a sort of devil; give your nights and days a self-defense, to circumventing mendicants, to holding fast what you have won—and then say whether the burden of great wealth is not almost too much to bear.

Your very charities are mocked at. Your most public-spirited actions are distorted, and your motives are held up to ridicule. You have no time for God or man or for your own true self, if your mind is wholly set upon the burden of your wealth, which in the end will brighten the brain and wither up the body.

And yet there is one sole satisfaction—if it be a satisfaction: Millions of your fellow countrymen and countrywomen believe, beyond all doubt that you are really happy, and will envy you.—Munsey's Magazine.

Not Sorry For Blunder

"If my friends hadn't blundered a thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they made every attempt to cure a lung ailment which I had. At last I tried Dr. Kline's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, laryngitis, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by all Druggists."

EDUCATION

Our Johnny is a pupil in a public school you know.

His class he leads
In stringing beads
All in a fancy row;
At writing he's diligent,
He can't spell even "cat."
But ah! he knows
Each flower that grows,
So what we care for that?

In mathematics Johnny is hardly any good,
But he can knit
A woolen mitt
As well as grandma could.
He doesn't knock one here
Or date in history,
But hup! hooray!
His bolcks of clay
Are beautiful to see.

Before he's graduated
An awful lot he'll know,
And he can turn
The things he'll learn
To profit—maybe so;
But yet, somehow or other,
Before he quits, we hope,
He'll learn enough
"Old-fashioned stuff"
To drown this modern "dope."

Found Son in Morgue.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—"That is my boy" said Leon Wiener, of Roxbury, Mass., tonight when he viewed the body in the morgue here of the man who shot and killed Special Policeman Barnett in a pistol duel in which he himself met death. Hyman Weiner whose body is in the morgue, left his home in Roxbury about two months ago. He was 26 years old, and had served two terms in the reformatory and a term in the house of correction at Boston. It is stated.

His identification helps to clear a mystery on which the detective force of this city have been working over ever since the double killing on November 28.

He had carefully removed all clues from his clothing and more than 100 possible identifications were run out before the body was positively recognized.

Assistant Director of Public Safety O'Leary said tonight that photographs of the dead man in which the eyes had been painted on the negative to give a life like resemblance, had done more than anything else to lead to the final identification. This was the first time such a photograph had been made for police work.

Awarded $500 for Kids

Shreveport, La., Dec. 2.—District court Judge A. J. Murf held that a kiss of a young widow was worth $500.

The decision was rendered in the case of Mrs. Grace Hunter against J. L. Norman, former postmaster at Oil City, this parish. It was in the postoffice that the alleged offense was committed.

Mrs. Hunter alleged that Norman

SHOPPING AT HOME!

The most clever and progressive woman have learned the immense advantage of carefully reading the advertisements.

Those who are more dull of apprehension prefer to wander around in different stores hunting for the special bargains and usually attractive articles.

The up-to-date woman of today sits down and takes her paper and reads the advertisements carefully before she goes "shopping."

She has learned by experience that the merchant who is up-to-date in his methods and has the most desirable offerings, is the one which makes his influence felt through his advertising.

If he did not do this he would not be an up-to-date merchant.

The back number merchant does not advertise.

Shopping at home, looking through the ads before you start out, saves time and annoyance and is sure to result in both economy and satisfaction.

It pays to read the advertisements.
