

THE LARGEST PAID SUBSCRIPTION OF ANY PAPER PUBLISHED IN EAST NORTH CAROLINA

WHAT PROHIBITION HAS DONE FOR THE STATE OF KANSAS

The following statistics have been compiled by Judge Thompson of the state of Kansas...

In 49 counties there are no paupers and the poor farms are now used for experiment stations...

In most counties no criminal case for 15 years under prohibition. The population of the state has doubled in four years...

In 59 counties out of 105 there was no one on the poor farms last year.

There are no idiots in 24 counties; 37 have no insane; 95 no inebriates, after 20 years of prohibition.

Of the 700 papers and magazines issued in the state 95 per cent admit no liquor advertisements.

The increase of taxable property is one hundred and twenty million after 20 years of prohibition.

The increase in wealth in ten years is from $69 to $112 per capita.

Fifty per cent of the county jails in the state are without a prisoner.

Forty-nine out of 105 counties sent no prisoner to the state prison in 1909.

This is the result of prohibition in the state of Kansas after a trial of 20 years.

ADDRESS ON PROHIBITION

The following address was delivered by Governor Stubbs at the Topeka convention in Kansas on the subject of prohibition.

I want to thank you for the people of Kansas for choosing this place for your convention.

I shall take great pleasure in telling you of some of the feats of good citizenship that have been accomplished in Kansas during the last four or five years.

We have in Kansas material prosperity, but we have something much more precious than that.

We are all sovereign citizens of the greatest nation in the world.

There are battles to be fought—battles to be won.

Now, I don't want to hurt anybody's feelings, but I would rather hurt their feelings than not to say this.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I became governor of this state I was told by the residents of some of our largest counties that they had as high as 150 open saloons and joints in those counties.

There were only four or five counties in the state in bad condition—in the mining communities where the law had never been enforced.

Now, I don't want to hurt anybody's feelings, but I would rather hurt their feelings than not to say this.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

When I got rid of a fine business that I had been twenty years in building up, I wish to say I would rather have helped to do the things that have been done in Kansas in the last five years than to make a fortune every year.

There is work to do in this country. There is work to do in

A LOVELY WEDDING

Mr. Walter Wolfe and Miss Julia Moore Married

AT THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

THE CHURCH PACKED TO THE DOORS TO WITNESS THE NUP-TIALS—THEY LEFT ON MID-NIGHT TRAIN FOR NORTHERN CITIES—ROCKY MOUNT THEIR FUTURE HOME

The old and stately edifice of St. Peter's Episcopal church, this city, was the scene last evening, of a beautiful and impressive December wedding.

The interior of the church was beautifully and artistically decorated in a color scheme of green and white, which was successfully carried out by means of palms, ferns, southern smilax, and other potted plants.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

A LOVELY WEDDING

Mr. Walter Wolfe and Miss Julia Moore Married

AT THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

THE CHURCH PACKED TO THE DOORS TO WITNESS THE NUP-TIALS—THEY LEFT ON MID-NIGHT TRAIN FOR NORTHERN CITIES—ROCKY MOUNT THEIR FUTURE HOME

The old and stately edifice of St. Peter's Episcopal church, this city, was the scene last evening, of a beautiful and impressive December wedding.

The interior of the church was beautifully and artistically decorated in a color scheme of green and white, which was successfully carried out by means of palms, ferns, southern smilax, and other potted plants.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.

The groom is a native of Orangeburg, S. C., and is traveling for a large business house in Atlanta, Ga. He is a young man of promise in the business world.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and costly wedding gifts.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. Frank Powell, Misses Mary McNeil Powell, Isabelle Clark and Rena Clark of Tarboro; Mrs. Kate Beckwith of Greenville; Mrs. T. H. Fairly, Mrs. F. F. Malpis, Mrs. W. L. Waitaker, Miss Eyrilla Malpis, Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edge of Rocky Mount, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rierston, of Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle of Beaufort; Mrs. John Rowe of Raleigh; Mr. Atkinson of Orangeburg, S. C.; Mr. Will Meadows of Rocky Mount; Mr. A. T. Harper of Goldsboro; Mr. Hawes Coleman of Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. Frank Powell, and Miss Pauline Powell of Tarboro.

The bride party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Messrs Daniel G. Fowle, E. S. Hoyt, N. H. Moore and John Bonner.

The bridesmaids, Misses Mary Carter, Bessie Taylor, Mary Belle Small, Caddie Fowle, Helen Kugler, Adeline Mayo, Gladys Beckwith and Elizabeth Warren, and the groomsmen, Messrs. Hawes Coleman, Frank Powell, John Rowe, Edmund Harding, T. A. Harper, William Meadows, Jos. F. Tayloe and Dr. A. C. Hoyt, entering alternately; the groomsmen passing into the chancel and the bridesmaids forming an aisle for the remainder of the bridal party.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white satin, with overdress of white grenadine, having crystal and pearl trimmings. Their hair dresses were butterfly bands of crystal and they carried pink carnations tied with pink maline.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Daniel G. Fowle, of Beaufort, N. C., sister of the bride, wearing pink satin with pearl trimmings. Her hair dress was a crystal band with pink ostrich tips and she carried pink "My Maryland Roses".

Following her came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Powell, of Tarboro, gowned in white striped chiffon over white satin, with corsage of crystal, and hair dress a butterfly band of crystal. She carried white carnations.

The bride entered leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. E. H. Moore, who gave her away. She was exquisitely gowned in Duchess satin, embroidered in seed pearls, and trimmed with point lace. Her bridal veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms, and caught with a pearl and diamond brooch, given her by the groom.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley. At the foot of the chancel, the groom with his best man, Mr. E. L. Atkinson, awaited together they entered the chancel followed by the bridesmaids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding performed the ceremony. During the ceremony the soft strains of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" were wafted through the church.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride and groom passed quickly out of the church and entering carriages drove to the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hoyt, on Market street, where a public reception was tendered them from ten until twelve o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe left on the midnight train for a wedding tour north. They will be at home in Rocky Mount, February 1, 1911.

The bride is one of Washington's most attractive and popular young women, a daughter of Mrs. J. E. Moore, and possession many lovely traits of character that have won for her hosts of friends in social circles all over the state.