SATURDAY, JANUARY 31, 1914

Parties leaving town should not fail to let the News follow them daily with the news of Washington, D. C., and the country. It will prove a valuable companion, reading to you like a letter from home. Those at the seashore or mountains will find the News a most welcome and interesting visitor.

All articles sent to The News for publication must be signed by the writer, otherwise they will not be published.

RECORDER'S COURT.

The board of county commissioners in their wisdom have seen fit to submit to the legislature a bill creating a recorder's court for Washington, Chocowinity and Long Acre townships and so far as the News is informed without first having made an effort to ascertain the wishes of the voters in this territory.

They have also provided that the recorder must be a practicing attorney thereby debaring every other citizen in this territory from holding this position. It matters not how well qualified a man may be otherwise he can not be recorder.

In other words they are creating an office for lawyers only and by so doing have said that no other man in the townships named is capable of hearing evidence and rendering a fair decision in accordance therewith.

The criminal laws of North Carolina are explicit and very plain with no such complications as are to be found in the civil law therefore we are of the opinion that there are a number of citizens in the proposed territory who are fully capable and competent to bear evidence in any matter over which the recorder is given jurisdiction and render a judgment which would give justice to all parties concerned.

This office must be more important than that of governor of the state, or attorney general or judge of our superior court. In the creation of these offices our lawmakers did not see fit to require that a man should be eligible to hold any of these positions.

The commissioners are also given the power to appoint the recorder and substitute recorder without any expression from those over whom the court would have jurisdiction.

Again the fees for rendering judgment are increased in every case to twice and three times the amount now allowed by law for judgment rendered in our superior court.

What justification can there be for this increase of fees?

This bill has been drawn and sent to the representatives to be enacted into a law and should it not meet with the approval of any one now is the time to raise your objection. It will be too late after the bill has been passed.

A Lucky Hold-Up Man.

It was an old custom among highwaymen to stop prosperous looking men on the street at night and inquire the time and when the obliging party had pulled out his watch and named the hour to snatch the watch and run off with it.

One night one of these footpads selected an athlete.

The athlete death the crook a hard punch on the jaw.

"Just struck one," said the athlete, as the footpad went down before his stinging blow.

"Geel!" said the crook, as myriads of stars were clouding his vision. "I am glad I didn't meet you an hour ago."—National Magazine.

Instead of making new counties it would be much better for the state if she would consolidate some of the older ones.—Durham Herald.

There are distinct signs of peace between Spartanburg and Greenville and they remain in the same baseball league.

Bryan is the greatest standpater of the country when it comes to knock the other fellows who want to be president.

TREATMENT OF SEED CORN.

Proper Methods, According to Washington Authority on the Cereal.

In Farmers' Bulletin No. 410, on "Seed Corn," C. P. Hartley, one of the best experts of the United States department of agriculture, asserts that the same day seed corn is gathered the best care should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air and placed in such a manner that the seeds do not touch each other. This is the only safe procedure. The writer has repeatedly seen good seed ruined because it was thought to be already dry enough when gathered and that the precaution mentioned above was unnecessary. Many farmers believe that their autumn is so dry that such care is superfluous. Seed corn in every locality gathered at ripening time will be benefited by drying as suggested. If left in the husk, long after ripening it may sprout or mildew during warm, wet weather or become infested with weevils.

The vitality of seed is often reduced by leaving it in a sack or in a pile for even a day after gathering. During warm weather, with some moisture in the cob and kernels, the ears heat or mildew in a remarkably short time.

The best possible treatment immediately after gathering is shown in the illustration. Binder twine will support fifteen or twenty ears on a string arranged in the manner illustrated. Ordinarily the best place to hang these strings of ears is in an open shed or loft.

Permanent seed racks, with a separate compartment for each ear, are more convenient than the use of binder twine, and when they are located in a dry, breezy place the ears dry successfully.

Keeping Away Moles. I have noticed that moles will avoid tarred corn put in holes. It occurred to me to guard pumpkins, squash and similar crops in this same way. I tarred stones, chips and corn-cobs well with gas tar and placed them about a foot below the surface, so the roots did not come in contact with the tar, and for several years I have had no trouble with moles, bugs or grubs.—American Agriculturist.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Men know less than they say of women more.
A woman hopes for happiness, a man pleasure.
Wise women hide their brains from men just like they wrinkles.
The power living a man can make the better across he can make for it.

Dancing is a heap-sight easier, even when your shoes hurt you, than walking.
Making excuses is a steady job for lots of people.

Most of us are willing to believe that our vanity is merely proper pride. Hints would be taken much more freely if they were other people's property.

Any woman knows how to manage a man, but few men know how to let her.

The most you can count on with the average man is that you can't count on him.
