ANOTHER BLOW TO WASHINGTON

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad has served notice that in the future it will charge wharfage on everything landed on its pier whether for shipment over its road or not.

This action comes as a thunderbolt from a clear sky and will work unfolded hardship upon the water transportation to and from this point. Evidently the Coast Line is of the opinion that they control the water front in Washington and that there is but one railroad doing business here.
The remedy for this injustice is in the hands of the business interests of Washington and it is up to them to secure fair treatment from this road. Act now.

"LAND OF THE FREE"

A 13-year-old English boy who came here a few days ago with his uncle was detained at Ellis Island, which caused some of his countrymen to throw up their hands in amazement that such a thing was possible in this "free" country. Under the immigration rules a child under 16 may be excluded unless accompanied by either parent, and this was the observation, which uncle and nephew encouraged. The boy was allowed to come in after investigation. Though occasionally suspended the rule is probably a wise one.

The trouble with most Europeans is that they call the United States the land of the free, and seem to think the characterization implies any and all manner of freedom. It frequently happens that intelligent foreigners come here and sneer at the term "free" simply because they have had some unpleasant experience with municipal, state or federal laws. They ask why is this called a free country if everybody is not permitted to do as he pleases?

Some who come from abroad proceed to act as if they were entitled to all the liberty they cared to exercise, regardless of the welfare and comfort of others. Then the law inter-poses, and the greatest astonishment is expressed by the unlucky alien.

From time to time Europe hears of an incident like that of the English lad, and then follows sarcastic comments.

These caustic criticisms are the result of the foreign misunderstanding of our meaning of the word freedom.

It allows a wide range of personal action, but there are certain well-defined limits.—The Brooklyn Standard Union.

EXPRESS COMPANIES SUPER-FLUOUS.

Discussing the high express rates E. H. Windsor, in the February Mechanics Magazine, cites the opinion of Judge Mabey, of the Canadian railway commission, that express companies could be dispensed with and the whole business carried on satisfactorily by the railways instead, and adds:

"That this appears the logical thing to do becomes more apparent when our own express companies attempt to excuse their high rates on the grounds of having to overpay the railroads for hauling their cars. In fact the express companies' cars having become such active bidders against each other, that the railroads are receiving as high as 55 per cent of the gross earnings, leaving only 45 per cent to the express. They pay out of which to render service and pay dividends. In other words, for a package taking a rate of $1, the railroad gets 55 cents for hauling it in a car, while the express company ...and back to train, at 100 cents from train to office or office to train, and has to stand ready for him in transit. The very fact that express companies continue to pay big dividends under such conditions is a confession that the rates to shippers are easily 25 per cent too high, which should still leave the railroad a profitable price for simply hauling the car.

EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL ITEMS.

Folders giving information concerning the spring course for teachers, which begins March 14th, have been issued.

The cooking class is proving a great success. Much pleasure as well as profit is being derived from the work.

Class spirit has developed rapidly since the completion of the class organizations under faculty advisers.
The classes are planning for various social affairs during the spring.

Misses Muffy and Bishop will give an informal musical to the students on Saturday evening.

Mr. C. W. Wilson will attend the meeting of the North Carolina Association of City Public School Superintendents and principals which meets in Raleigh January 28-29. He is secretary of the association.

Miss Dabney, teacher of Primary Methods, has charge of one section of the first grade of the Greenville Graded school for half the day during the absence of the regular teacher. The senior class is observing her work. Two members of this class have recently done substitute work in this school.

The observance of Lee's birthday was marked by an earnest, true appreciation of the meaning of the day.
The school sang appropriate songs with spirit. Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, teacher of history, made an excellent talk on Lee, stressing his character, spirit and ideals, touching only lightly but skillfully upon his career of action. Her talk showed fine discrimination and appreciation of her subject.

The second biennial report of the board of trustees has been issued.
This is a complete report of the affairs of the institution, its receipts and expenditures, the work done and proposed to be done, including the urgent needs of the school for the next two years. The report shows that during the year and a half since the opening, six hundred and ninety-one students have been enrolled, three hundred and thirty of whom were summer school students. Nearly four hundred of these are now teaching in the public schools. This proves that the school is fulfilling the mission for which it was established.

LOOK OUT FOR APPLE SCAB.

One of the most destructive diseases affects winter on leaves and fruit.
According to a circular issued by the Virginia agricultural experiment station, such is one of the most common and destructive diseases of apples and pears. A very similar disease affects quinces. It passes the winter season on leaves and diseased fruit, attacking the young foliage, bloom and fruit very early in the growing season. The foliage is browned and "blighted" by the disease. All fruit attacked at this stage drops or falls to develop. Later there is a secondary attack on the fall grown fruit, which disfigures it with gray and black blotches and "clouds" such an extent that it renders the fruit unsalable. Spraying with Bordeaux or lime sulphur (summer strength) before the bloom opens, supplemented by one or two later treatments at intervals of from ten days to two weeks, will prevent the development of this disease.

The winter wash of lime-sulphur if applied for scale just before buds begin to swell aids the further treatment very materially.

Winter Feeding of Cows.

How to feed the team most economically, especially when there is no work for them, is a good deal of a problem. If there is any place where wheat or oat straw can be economically fed it is to this team to supply a part of the filling and fiber. This, with well made clover hay and corn or timothy hay and oats, will keep them in good condition and maintain their muscles.
It has been found economical to have the grain finely ground for horses over-two and under five years of age.
The teeth of young and old horses will not usually allow them to thoroughly masticate whole grain; hence there is a loss either of grain or flesh or both—Farm and Fireside.

Protection For the Farmhouse.

A hedgerow of cedars or spruce trees along the windward side of the driveway leading from the main road to the farmhouse offers a warmth of welcome in winter that cannot be obtained in any other way. A stock proof fence that is both useful and ornamental can be made by setting fenceposts near the evergreens and stringing barbed wires in the usual way.—Farm Press.

FEAT OF A MISSOURI
WOMAN.

An African country woman filled 3,500 bushels of corn, 500 bushels of oats, ten wagon loads of potatoes, nine children and a half-dozen calves on a single acre of land.
—Central (Mo.) Courier.

The Hum of the Hive.

Any bee which loves right of the spirit of the hive and works only for private gain is considered sick, criminally ill, and the community no longer allows him to take up good space.—Elbert Hubbard.

Honey will candy or become white and hard during cold weather. This is really a good test of purity, for, while all pure honey does not candy, yet all honey candied solid is pure.

An excellent grade of beeswax can be extracted from seemingly black and worthless combs. The market price of wax averages about 29 or 30 cents a pound. Beekeepers too often overlook the possible income from wax.

If you use modern movable frames hives the stored honey should be equalized among your colonies. That in frames of sealed honey should be exchanged for frames of empty comb from the light colonies.

A strong hive contains 10,000 bees in February, 15,000 in March, 40,000 in April and from 60,000 to 80,000 in May.

The bee is charged with various imaginative crimes. Its sting is formidable, but chiefly to the intruder. It is accused of ravaging fruit, but its tongue is formed, exclusively for the extraction of sweet juices, and its mandibles are unable to pierce the skin of fruit.

In New York state it is not considered safe to winter in a single wall hive, out of doors, without protection.

Does it just seem so or are there really fewer snows and less ice than when we were boys?

If all the people get new constitutions that want them there will not be enough members of the legislature to go around.

High prices are being quoted, but with yields at twenty cents (Chicago)
