Subscribers desiring the paper discontinued will please notify this office on date of expiration, otherwise it will be continued at regular subscription rates until notice to stop is received.

If you do not get the Daily News promptly telephone or write the manager and the complaint will receive immediate attention. It is our desire to please you.

Parties leaving town should not fail to let the News notice them daily with the news of Washington fresh and crisp. It will prove a valuable companion, reading to you like a letter from home. Those at the seashore or mountains will find the News a most welcome and interesting visitor.

All articles sent to the Daily News for publication must be signed by the writer, otherwise they will not be published.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16.

Mr. Richmond Pearson Hobson is to deliver an address in Raleigh, following Doc. Cook. We now suggest that the "Rev." Clarence Virgin Theatrical Richeson be invited down to open the meeting with prayer.

In the death of Officer George Morgan, the city loses a faithful and fearless officer. He was courageous and vigilant and filled his post with credit to himself and satisfaction to his superior officers.

Greenville will send quite a large delegation over here Friday to accompany the Home Seekers from this city to Pitt's Capitol. We will show the neighborly spirit to our friends from Greenville, and take occasion to say that the latch string is on the outside, and that they are as "welcome as the flowers in May," which is "some welcome" when you consider weather conditions now.

The DAILY NEWS doesn't claim to print "all the news that's fit to print." There has been from time to time foot ball games, lyceum lectures and entertainments, and other meetings at which an admission fee has been charged that we have not reported. We believe it to be a fact that Washington is the only city in the United States that doesn't provide the press with complimentary passes to such functions, which are supposed to receive in return press notices of such entertainments. They may, and they may not be worthy of being reported, but if they are "fit to print," they will remain unprinted so long as gratuitous advertising is given to boost the crowd and an admission fee is charged the booster to write them up.

Under the caption "It Takes Negroes to Raise Chickens," the New York World notes that a negro took the Blue Ribbon in competition with Thos. F. Ryan's blooded pen at Lynchburg, Va., recently. They don't usually stop at chickens, is the trouble.

The Tennessee minister who thought it was wrong to sell whiskey, but didn't think it a violation of the law to distill it himself, was somewhat in the class of Uncle Andy Carnegie, who thought the Sherman Anti-Trust Law only had reference to railroads.

Schedule K doesn't seem to protect the workmen at Lawrence, Mass., in the turbulent riots they are having there now and Senator Lodge is not regarded as seriously as heretofore.

Of the Same Shape. Customer—"What have you in the shape of oranges?" Grocer—"Well, we have baseballs."—Harlem Life.

Use of the Horse. Owing to the advancement of science it would be possible to get along without horses now, if it were not for the necessity of having a few of them at the annual horse shows.

A Cooking Feat in the Air. To cook a potato pie at the top of a chimney three hundred feet high by means of the heat generated in the fire below would seem an impossible task, yet such a feat was on one occasion accomplished by John Faulkner, a famous Lancashire steepjack.

The incident was the outcome of a wager between Faulkner and the manager of a Manchester gas works, who doubted John's statement regarding the excessive heat.

A large iron kettle was procured, and this, being filled with necessary ingredients—sixty-six pounds in weight—was hoisted to the summit of the huge chimney stack. Faulkner placed the receptacle on the outer and coolest side of the brickwork, but despite this, the contents were found to be thoroughly cooked in one hour and twenty minutes, or ten minutes less than the stipulated time.

Faulkner was his usual and the pie, which it is said, was slightly burned at the bottom, was afterwards distributed among the poor of the district.—Birmingham.

HOW TO RENOVATE PAINTINGS

Simple Suggestions By Which Beauty of Pictures Can Be Preserved Indefinitely.

Often the beauty of a painting is lost because it is so thickly covered with dust. To remedy this, follow these suggestions:

Brush the painting free from dust and wash the canvas with water, using a sponge. Now take a piece of shaving soap and rub it over the entire painting, leaving it on a very short while. Scrub off with a brush, and when it is thoroughly dried, rub the canvas with a piece of linen, which has been dipped into benzine. Do not use this too freely, however. If the painting appears dull, a little olive oil will benefit this. A coat of thin, colorless varnish is now applied, which protects the painting and keeps it bright for a long time.

To brighten a gold frame, boil some onions in water until soft, mash them fine and use the fluid that is extracted.

HINT ABOUT WASHING VEILS

How White Lace Affairs Can Be Clean and as Good as New With a Little Care.

Keep your white lace veils clean by letting them lay in a strong lather of white soap and clean water for half an hour; squeeze and rinse in clear water. Then rinse twice in weak blue water.

Now pass the veil through water in which a very little raw starch has been dissolved; squeeze the water out, and stretch and pin it on a clean cloth, keeping the edges as straight as possible. Should the veil be edged with scallops, fasten each out with pins, so when it is dry the lace part will be smooth. When almost dry, place under a thin cloth and iron with a warm iron. Roll over a bottle to keep it perfectly smooth when not in use.

Cocoonut Pie.
 Put two even tablespoonfuls of grated cocoonut into a pint of milk. Add three even tablespoonfuls of sugar, the yolks of two well beaten eggs and two even tablespoonfuls of corn starch stirred to a paste with a little cold milk. Add butter the size of a walnut and cook until thickened and smooth. Line a pie plate with crust, prick in several places and bake in a hot oven. Then fill the crust with the cocoonut mixture and spread with meringue made from the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Sprinkle with cocoonut, set in an oven and brown slightly in the oven.

Chocolate Fudge.
 Put two cups sugar, a half cup milk, a quarter cup butter and four squares of chocolate into the same pan and simmer ten minutes.

Take from the fire, add one teaspoonful vanilla and stir five minutes until soft and creamy. Pour in buttered pans.

To make the plain Vassar fudge add to two cups white granulated or soft brown sugar, one cupful thick cream. Put this over the fire and when it gets hot add a quarter cake chocolate, grated or broken in fine pieces. Stir constantly and vigorously.

Tomato Salad in Winter.
 Take the juice from a can of tomatoes, and, with gelatine, make into a jelly that will mold. Place a slice of this jelly, alternate with lettuce leaves and serve with a mayonnaise dressing salad. Thus prepared it is almost as delightful as with fresh tomatoes; in fact, it is preferred by many, as the unpleasant features of the tomato, the seeds and skin, are eliminated. The tomato jelly will keep for several days, so that enough can be made for several salads.

For Rusty Grates.
 Grates rust easily when fires are given up, and when the cool days come and fires are again needed the housewife looks for a means to clean and polish them. A little bath brick made into a thin paste with sweet oil rubbed over the surface of the grate or freirons and worked in with a soft cloth will do the work. Polish with a chamol or old flannel. Common salt and brown paper, heated, will remove rust from steel grates or freirons.

Molasses Doughnuts.
 Half cup molasses, one-half cup sugar, one cup sour milk, one large teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon each of ginger and nutmeg, one teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon cream tartar, two eggs, one tablespoon sweet cream, four enough to handle easily. Sift all ingredients together before adding milk and eggs. Have lard, piping hot and turn doughnuts but once in it.

FREE HAND FOR DEMOCRATS

Opportunity Before the Party to Show Themselves Worthy of Trust and Confidence.

Reports from the national capital indicate plainly that the tariff board is not handing out for publication any statements of what it is going to recommend. But they indicate quite as plainly that the Republicans have more to fear from what the board may say when it is ready.

They are cats and dogs on the tariff question. Some are for revision upward, some for revision downward, and others want no revision at all. What over the board may say about the tariff question can not bring them any nearer together, but is more likely to drive them farther apart.

On the other hand, the Democrats in the present Congress have been unexpectedly harmonious in dealing with the tariff, and nothing the board can say is likely to produce discord among them.

They have a free hand. They can use any facts the board may report and report whatever they find to be at variance with fact. They are in a position to give credit for fidelity to the public interests by treating the board's work on its merits.

They can urge approval for going farther than the Republicans in accepting anything good the board may offer, as well as in rejecting anything that ought to be rejected.

It is to be expected, therefore, that they will refrain from wholesale condemnation and advise a readiness to avail themselves of any good suggestion, regardless of its source.

By so doing they will commend themselves to the people as public servants worthy of still further trust and confidence.—Chicago Journal.

Another Democratic Chance.
 The currency reform plan puts another splendid opportunity up to the Democrats who control the lower branch of congress. The progressive Democrats of the country and their representatives at Washington may not approve the monetary plan which is generally called the "Aldrich plan." But they will study it for the merit there is in it and will approve it if they find it meritorious.

The chance is another such one as the reciprocity bill offered. The Democrats took that up, found it good and put it through. In doing it they made the biggest hit with the country they have made in a generation.

If they act as promptly and openmindedly with the currency measure they will make at least as big a hit.—Kansas City Star.

Smooth Petition.
 Stenographer finds that one who would deprive it of some of the pleasure that it derives from an unobtrusive tariff must be a free trader. It is the confusion and complications in the public mind growing out of the wholly fictitious contention for the impossibly represented by the words "free trade" that smoothed the way for the McKinley, the Dingley and the Aldrich-Payne tariffs.

Thirty young "Heroes" are bringing a message of good cheer to the housewives of the South. Armed with samples of Hero thirty boy "Heroes," in full uniform, are touring the South, in squads of four, town for town, and house for house, that the women of the South may know by actual test the delights of Hero Coffee and Chicory.

Look Out for the "Boy in Gray." One of these little Heroes is scheduled to arrive at your home January 19th. Look out for him. See that you are presented with a sample of this delicious cup. He will also give you a little booklet telling you how to prepare to the best advantage, this most superb cup.

HERO COFFEE and CHICORY
 THE ROYAL BEVERAGE (100% Goodness)

Why Hero is So Good: It is a scientific blend of the best grades of coffee with pure chicory. Chicory is itself, a delicious drink resembling fine cocoa in richness and flavor, and when compounded and roasted with fine coffee, by our own process, which brings out to their fullest advantage the exquisite flavor of the chicory and the rich aroma of the pure coffee, produces a drink that is in reality fit for Kings.

Why Hero is So Healthful: By our process, the tonic effects of the chicory—which tend to increase the appetite, promote digestion, and stimulate the liver—combined with the rich flavor and aroma of the coffee, resulting in a delicious beverage, not only appetizing, but very wholesome.

A Clean, Pure Beverage: Hero can be enjoyed with the satisfaction of knowing that it is absolutely pure and clean in every respect. Our modern sanitary methods and improved machinery insure the users of hero a clean, healthful drink, free from all impurities.

Economical: Owing to the present low price of chicory, we are, even though using the highest grade coffee, able to offer the Hero brand of coffee and chicory at a lower price than is usual for good coffee. Owing to the richness and strength of chicory, it takes less Hero to make a cup than of ordinary coffee. Lower in price. Goes further.

A true test of the deliciousness of Hero cannot be had unless you try it.
