NEWS MADE IMPORTANT BY THE FUTURE AT ROYAL LAST NIGHT

Insurance Man Wanted in Sumpter County, S. C., for Forgery is Located Near Royal—Sheriff Geo. E. Richs Returned to City With the Prisoner This Morning

One day this week, Sheriff Geo. E. Richs, received a letter from the sheriff of Sumpter county, South Carolina, asking him to locate C. A. Reddit, a young man who had been a fugitive from justice in that state for four years, having forfeited a $500 bond for embezzlement, and who was believed to be in this county. The sheriff immediately got busy, and learned yesterday afternoon that the man wanted was near Royal, this county. Taking the train for that point yesterday afternoon, the sheriff proceeded to look up Mr. Reddit, and the arrest followed. Bringing him back to Aurora, last night, and fearing that the town lockup was not sufficient to hold his prisoner, and not wanting to sit up all night and guard him, the sheriff brought his wife and decided to divide the honors with his prisoner. He put one handcuff on the prisoner and the other on himself and suggested that "we go to bed." As it might have been worse for the prisoner, he yielded, and together he and the officer occupied a bed at the hotel, handcuffed together. Reddit is a young man about 26 years of age and is an insurance solicitor, and according to his statement, he got into some trouble in his home county about four years ago, over a check, or an overdraft on his bank account, which he states is a felony in that state. However, the authorities state he is wanted for skipping a bail bond of $500 under the charge of embezzlement. He told the sheriff that he was glad that he came after him. That he had been uneasy all these four years and was suspicious of nearly every stranger whom he saw, fearing him to be an officer on his trail. The South Carolina officer will come after his prisoner at once.

AFTER SEPARATION OF FORTY YEARS A CHRISTMAS CARD BROUGHT FORMER LOVERS TOGETHER

HONEYMOON AT SEVENTY

MR. HEGEMAN AND MRS. OAKLEY HAVE TRAVELED DIVERGENT PATHS FOR MANY SUMMERS, BUT NEAR THE CLOSE OF LIFE THEY MEET AGAIN

New York, N. Y., February 14.—James H. Hegeman, seventy, a member of the prominent New York Hegeman family, and Mrs. Mary B. Oakley, sixty-four, who was his sweetheart forty years ago, will start on a honeymoon trip today. They were married quietly on Sunday.

For three years Mrs. Oakley, who lived in Foughesville, has been a widow. Last Christmas, desiring to get into communication with the sweetheart of her girlhood, whom she had not seen for nearly forty years and whose address she did not know, she sent a Christmas card to him in care of H. Oberbussing, a son-in-law. And on Christmas day the old sweethearts met.

Mr. Hegeman courted with the ardor of youth and was accepted. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Dr. Stearns in his church.

"But we don't want one word of this in the papers," protested Mrs. Oberbussing at her home last night. "Father is opposed to having this in print and I believe mother—I mean father's new wife—would object. I won't say where they will go on their honeymoon. When they return they will live with us for a time. Then they will set up housekeeping." It is believed that Mr. and Mrs. Hegeman will go to Dutchess county, where they first met and had their first love affair. Just what perted them is not known.

WAYNER FLOYD CARRIED MUCH HEAVY BOOTY

WHEN ARRESTED IN TERRELL, TEXAS, HE HAD REVOLVERS, POCKET KNIVES, RAZORS, AND FOUNTAIN PENS.

GOODS WERE STOLEN HERE

HARRIS HARDWARE CO., D. T. TAYLOR & CO., WERE THE HEAVIEST LOSERS—CHIEF HOWARD RECOVERED SOME OF STOLEN PROPERTY.

Immediately after Wayner Floyd's arrest in Terrell, Texas, last December, the authorities of that city in the Lone Star State, wired Police Chief George Howard here, for Floyd's record. He was arrested there for carrying concealed weapons and when his effects were searched, or to be more exact, his suit case, it was found to contain twelve razors, a great number of pocket knives, fountain pens and many articles. Chief Howard reported a description with the number of the razors and knives of the store.

Chief Howard soon furnished him and he proceeded to locate the narrow, nearly sixteen months after the store of the Harris Hardware Co. and D. T. Taylor & Co. had been searched and looted. The former lost nearly in fire arms and cutlery and the latter lost one entire case of fountain pens, valued at about $162. Among the revolvers found in Floyd's possession were the ones that had been purchased from the Harris Hardware Company, as shown by the numbers on them. Assuming that the other articles were also a part of the missing booty, the officials here succeeded in having the authorities there ship it back to this city, which has just recently been received.

Most of the razors, knives and in fact the best of everything that had been disposed of, but those returned were easily identified as that which had been stolen over a year previous and were turned over to their rightful owners.

"SCOTTY" IN HIS PALMIEST DAYS WAS NOT IN IT WITH "TYSON"

Sows $1,000 Bills as a Youth Would Sow "Wild Oats"—Gulped Rare Vintages, Tests Ability of Epicurean Caterers to Satisfy His Appetite and Flees from the Strenuous Vision of Curious Police Officials

St. Louis Mo., Feb. 14.—J. H. Tyson, registered from New York and who has been staying at the Jefferson Hotel for the last five days, has been playing the role of spendthrift with $1,000 bills in a way that has made hotel hangers-on and the St. Louis "White Way" gasp. He purchased wine by the case and demanded the smallest tip to bellboys and to waiters, and taxis with him was a mania. The menu of the downtown cafes were too plebeian for the New Yorker, and special bills of fare had to be prepared in order to suit his fastidious appetite.

He lavished presents on his guests and got rid of money with a celerity that would have shamed "Scotty" in his palmy days. St. Louis, however, has had a carnival of diamond robberies of late, and it is risky to spend much money. Within twenty-four hours after his arrival he was shadowed by Chief Alleader's "Sherlocks."

When he gave a modest order for a case of champagne, he was watched by detectives. Police officials kept their eyes on him when he dined, while Tyson was followed wherever he "taxied."

Tyson's guests were interrogated by the police as to where their host received his thousand-dollar bills. They did not know, but thought Tyson's father owned the Mint in Philadelphia or the Bureau of Engraving in Washington.

There was a cord of police around the Tyson apartments this morning and this so disgusted the New Yorker that he paid his bill and left, telling the hotel clerks that if he couldn't find any other city in which to spend he still had "little old New York" to fall back on.

John H. Tyson, of Riverside, Connecticut, and New York, left his home on a western trip a week ago. His relatives last night did not know his whereabouts. The Riverside Tyson has had a striking career as a reckless automobilist. He was under indictment here for killing Olaf Gundersen by striking him with his motor car, and has been concerned divorced him and he married again.—N. Y. World.

COLORED FARMERS ARE INTERESTING THEMSELVES

Professor W. C. Chance, of Farmville, in Talking Address Interest in Promoting Agriculture Among the Colored People

Principal W. C. Chance, of Farmville, is conducting a series of meetings in the interest of the colored farmer of the northern section of Pitt county. He has succeeded in getting the Department of Agriculture to furnish an agent and instructor to assist him in the work.

Prof. Chance thinks that the colored farmers will be helped greatly. Prof. Chan, S. Mitchell, the agent, is to visit their farms and give them the practical idea by putting his teachings in practice.

Out of 14 local agents in North Carolina there are only two colored. One connected with the colored A. & M. college at Greensboro, and the other with Principal Chance at Farmville.

The co-operation of the government with Prof. Chance is given through its appreciation of his efforts at Farmville, and its faith in his character, and in confidence in his ability to succeed.

The negro farmers, week at the A. & M. college in Greensboro is proving a great success and fully 100 are there for the lectures and practical instructions in more improved methods of farming, which are being given by national and state experts in the department of agriculture. Splendid lectures have been made on dairying by Prof. McClain, of the dairy division of the United States, and by Prof. Burgess, state agronomist, who discussed very interestingly "Green Manures." Soil Fertility," was the subject of an address last night by C. L. Goodrich, of the national department of agriculture and today he discussed "Farm Management." Two other addresses today were by Prof. O. M. Clark on "Horticulture," and by W. B. Johnson, on the "Negro and Forestry."

Edward, Feb. 15.
Mr. Editor:—Heretofore we have had only Democratic and Republican parties in our Republic for many years. Now please explain to me where an insurgent Republican party and a progressive Democratic party can come in.

HIS FIRST SERMON TO THE NEW CHURGE WILL BE DELIVERED IN THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY MORNING.

PASTOR MUST PAY WIDOW OF MAN WHOM HE KILLED

Mr. William B. Rodman, Jr., appeared before Judge Grimes in the Recorder's court yesterday and pressed that the two fines of $100.00 each against "Billie" Baxter, be reduced to $50 each and cost and that the notice of appeal, noted at time of trial be withdrawn. The same was ordered and the fines and costs paid. This is the result of a trial of a Portsmouth concern soliciting and delivering whiskey in this city, through its travelling representative.

At the opening of the Baptist Association here last fall the Mayor issued a call to consider our water supply. Is there any way to connect the weather yesterday with the arrival of the new pastor of the First Baptist church last night?
