SUCCESS OF DEM. PARTY

and are now waiting for that Republican Senate to get busy and either pass these laws up to a Republican President, or turn them down, just as they see fit. If they are turned down, the Democrats win. If they are passed and a Republican President vetoes them, they will win. In other words the Democratic party is on the shady side of Easy Street, and like a man who owes a debt, they are letting the other fellow walk the floor.

In all my political experience and especially as that of a newspaper correspondent at Washington, I have never seen that sentiment so thoroughly in harmony from both a Republican and Democratic standpoint, that this is a Democratic year that the Democrats are going to sweep the country. During the last ten years I have written letters to the press retelling the rottenness of the Republican party and its sins against the common people of this country and often have I wound up by saying: "How long, oh Lord will the people be fooled!" My honest opinion is now, if it is worth anything to people who read this correspondence, that the people of this country have come to the conclusion a last that they will be fooled no longer and that from now on their battle cry will be, "To your tents oh Israel!" and we will now see that dishonesty wins not more than honesty.

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICANS

Special to the Daily News.
New Haven, Conn., April 15.—The advance guard of delegates arrived in New Haven today to attend the Republican State Convention which will elect delegates at large to the national convention at Chicago. The State convention will meet here tomorrow and will remain in session two days. The Taft supporters claim that the President will have a walk-over in the convention. The Roosevelt men are making no definite claims. But it is known that with National Committeeman Charles F. Brooker and several other prominent leaders manifesting only a lukewarm support of the President, the Roosevelt followers entertain a hope that something may develop in the convention that will at least bring about an unopposed re-election.

NEW YORK HAS THE FINEST LIGHTHOUSE

Special to the Daily News.
New York, April 15.—What is said to be the finest lighthouse in the world, located at Richmond, Staten Island, was put into commission today. It is to light the New Ambrose channel leading into New York bay will be visible for twenty one miles. The light is 300,000 candle power.

WAGE INCREASE FOR 2,000

Willimantico, Conn., April 15.—A ten per cent wage increase was put into effect today at the mills of the American Thread Company here. More than 2,000 operatives are benefited.

Engagement rings are still popular in court circles.

It's a poor spirit medium who has no, a ghost of a show.

Special House for "High Brow" Apes.
The "high brow" apes in the New York Zoological park are to have a home to themselves in the near future. The board of estimate and apportionment will soon be asked for an appropriation necessary to cover the expenses for such a structure. At present the erudite chimpanzees and orangutangs are in the house with their less intelligent sisters and brothers.

The intelligent specimens now number four chimpanzees and five orangutangs. Baldy is the leader of the social elite, and Susie, recently sold to the society by Professor Garner, is another inmate who stands alone. The proposed structure is necessary to the continued health of the valuable specimens, as well as to give proper facilities for their exhibition to the public.

The Health and Vigor of Your Wife and Children Depend Much Upon Their Surroundings.

Nature's means in Washington Park give rest to the nerves. Its freedom from dust strengthens the vitality, upbuilding the entire system. Such conditions allow you to live a high quality life. Come build for your health.

MORALITY OF THE ELEPHANT

He Mailed a Cat's Paw of Ray's Hand to Seal the Unbroken Rice.

Singular, as it may seem, elephants which have associated with men certainly are not, under special circumstances, they are not responsible if they utilize another to commit an illegal act. The following is an instance of this elephantine morality.

A man in Hanoi bought three young elephants to send to England. They were tame and playful, but one day, knowing that it was wrong to steal paddy (unhusked rice)—the idea had doubtless been impressed upon them by punishment for stealing—they would not touch it themselves. But if a boy went to see them, he would be seized by one, the little trunk would be coiled around his arm, and he would be led to where the paddy was kept in bags.

The elephant would make a cat's paw of the boy's hand to take up a handful of paddy. Then, letting go, he would turn up the end of its trunk, open it, and coolingly invite the boy to drop in the paddy.

Should the boy, however, put it back in the bag, his arm would again be seized by the trunk, and his hand would be again inserted into the paddy bag.

The boy, anxious to be released, would usually drop the paddy into the trunk, and the elephant would blow the rice into his mouth. After repeating the operation several times, the elephant would scupper off, feeling that he had got the paddy without stealing it.—Harper's Weekly.

WAS URGED FOR SUPREME BENCH

Miss Emma Gilbert, L.L.D., is one of the two women whom the District of Columbia Woman Suffrage association requested President Taft to consider for the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench, caused by the death of Justice Harlan. She has been practicing law before the United States Supreme Court in Washington for over ten years.

Yellow Jackets Wield Stings

A contractor and three carpenters were carefully stung when they climbed to the top of the First Baptist church, in New Castle, Del., recently, to make repairs to the roof. Thousands of yellow jackets had made their home in the belfry, and they resented the intrusion and drove the men to the ground. One of the men made his way to the belfry and with tar paper closed all exits by which the insects could escape. Then he placed four quiphar candles under the cupola and lighted them. After the candles had burned out enough dead insects were found to fill a peach basket, so overflowing, and the carpenters then resumed work on the church roof.

Staining Glass.

The art of colored glass has been lost and refound, guarded and stolen so many times during the history of civilization that it seems almost impossible to say anything new on glass staining. Yet a process has been discovered for making the stained glass used in windows which is a departure from anything known to the old timers.

The glass first receives its design in mineral colors, and the whole is then fired in a heat so intense that the coloring matter and the glass are indissolubly fused. The most attractive feature of this method is that the surface acquires a peculiar pitted character in the heat, so that when the glass is in place the lights are beautifully soft and mellow.

Napoleon on Shakespeare.

It is a fact that the great emperor of the French had a very poor opinion of Shakespeare's plays. According to this version, in his "Memoirs" and the "Complaint," Napoleon said one day: "Shakespeare was forgotten even by the English for two hundred years, in all Voltaire took it into his head to write him up, to please his English friends; and ever since people have gone about repeating that Shakespeare was the greatest author that ever lived. I have read him, and there is nothing in him that approaches Corneille or Racine. His plays are not worth reading."

England's Oldest Newspaper.

Besides being the government's best journalistic property, the London Gazette is also the oldest existing English newspaper. It published its first number in 1665. In that troubled year of the court was at Oxford on account of the plague and the paper here bore the name of the Oxford Gazette in consequence, not changed to its present title until the twenty-fourth number. We can get some idea of the cost of printing it from the statement of one of its rivals that the state charge for maintaining the printing establishment was $2,000 in the year 1665.
