MINISTER HAS FINISHED HIS TOUR OF SOUTH

Dr. Egan, Minister to Denmark, Completes Tour of Southern Farms.

Special to the Daily News.

Washington, May 31.—Dr. Maurice Egan, United States minister to Denmark, has just returned from a tour of the South under auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress.

Denmark, naturally one of the smallest and poorest countries in Europe, through intensive farming, has become in a few years one of the most prosperous and wealthiest, per capita, in the world.

The Southern Commercial Congress suggested to the State Department that Dr. Egan's knowledge of the success the Danes had achieved in intensive farming would be of immense advantage to Southern farmers.

Dr. Egan lectured to immense audiences of farmers, and described the Danish farming methods. His lecture, which was received with great enthusiasm everywhere he went, probably will be published as an official bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, for circulation throughout the nation.

Dr. Egan will return to his post at Copenhagen, June 6. He said today he was delighted with his special mission to the South, and hoped that his exposition of farming in Denmark would be of advantage to Southern planters.

It is probable that next year the State Department will detail him on a similar mission, under auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress, to visit all the state legislatures in the South and tell the lawmakers about Danish farming.

Dr. Egan has received a great number of letters from farmers and public men along the route of his tour, thanking him for the privilege of hearing the lectures.

"Denmark," said Dr. Egan today, "twenty years ago was in a poverty stricken state. The farmers were poor. Today, through intensive farming Denmark is prosperous and happy. Practically every Danish farmer owns his own land. Bacon, butter, and eggs have made the Danes a wealthy people. Products of the farms are marketed through co-operative system, has made Danish butter a standard of excellence and high price known all over the world."

Not an inch of ground or natural fertilizer is ever wasted in Denmark. If the Southern farmers, who waste so much of their lands, and in many instances wear out their farms, would adopt the Danish methods the South would become the wealthiest section of the globe in a short time.

PRESIDENT TAFT SAYS HE WILL GET THERE

Washington, May 31.—President Taft's belief that he has enough delegates pledged and instructed for him to control the Republican national convention was not shaken by the victory of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in the New Jersey primaries.

White House officials made no official statement but Taft leaders who saw the President would not recede from the President's own figures made public in several of his New Jersey speeches, which he said gave him 30 more than necessary to nominate.

Friends of Mr. Taft admitted that much was depended upon the Republican national committee. They were confident, they said, that the committee would be for Mr. Taft. Talk of defection among Southern delegates pledged or instructed for the President was rejected but Mr. Taft's political advisers professed to believe that these delegates would stick to him to the end.

"Nothing But Death." It was positively stated that the President's name would be presented to the convention no matter what happened and that this would bear out the statements he made months ago that "nothing but death" would keep him out of the fight.

No general conference of the President's supporters was held but several dropped in, including Attorney General Wickersham, Senator Crane and Secretary MacVeagh. The secretary had a long conference with
