PINETOWN

Jakeville we are glad indeed to know that your Atomizer has decided to run for office, but he didn't say what office he was going to run for. We suggest that he be run for sanitary inspector for our horse stables and hog pens, and if he has no opposition nor-opposers we are sure that he will be unanimously elected provided he don't become bald headed before election. If you do it might be a doubtful chance for your victory, and if you are elected there is no doubt at all what you will be run out of office if you don't get out.

Miss Sarah Boyd returned home Sunday from a pleasant visit at Jamesville and was accompanied home by Miss Mamie Modlin.

We are having very cool nights at present and the crops are looking backward.

Mr. H. C. Boyd was a Washington Bath Itemizer last week that he

Rev. J. B. Bridgers, of Bath, filled his regular appointment at the M. E. Church Pinetown Sunday.

Wonder what was the trouble with our Bath Itemizer las week that he didn't report.

Hilling corn seems to be the order of the day.

Pinetown and Bath played an interesting game of ball Saturday evening on the Pinetown diamond. The score was three to three at the end of the ninth inning. They had to play one more inning to decide the game and the Bath boys made three runs and Pinetown not any, which gave Bath the game 3 to 6. Batteries: For Pinetown Boyd and Dav- enport. Bath Bridgers and Gaylord.

PUNGO

We have been having some very cool weather for the time of the year, party at the upper school house Thurs day.

Mr. Bennie Dunbar, of Pantego Swamp, was driving on our streets Sunday.

Mr. D. Paul has recently purchased a new pony and buggy.

Misses Matilda Paul and Lucy Harris spent Saturday night with Miss Myrtle Allen.

A crowd of young folks gathered at the home of Mr. Lonney Allen Saturday night and all seemed to enjoy themselves very pleasantly.

Miss Della Allen and Mrs. L. B. Paul left Friday to visit friends near Washington.

We are very glad to say that several of our girls are nicely progressing in their study of instrumental music under Misses Myrtle Allen and Fedonia Cooper.

Quite a crowd attended the box party at the upper school huse Thurs day night and seemed to have a jolly good time.

Hilling corn and harvesting wheat is keeping the farmers busy now.

Mr. W. G. Gray has recently purchased a new bicycle.

Rub-My-Tism will cure you.

Competition.

She (to young poet)—How much do you get for your poems, Charley?

Charley (with pride)—From $2 to $5.

She—Well, isn't that very little, Charley? I see that Sir Walter Scott got $10,000 for one of his.

Charley—Yes, but you see, writing poetry isn't the business it used to be. There's too much competition.

"Trust God and Sally."

The worthy people of the historic town of Newark, Nottingham, England, have lately been much exercised in their minds regarding the selection of a motto to go with the borough arms. Ultimately it was decided that the motto of the town should be the historic remark made by Major Smith in 1646, "Trust God and Sally."

It was in that year when Newark was surrendered to the Scottish army after sustaining three sieges during the civil war, and the remark was made to Lord Balfour when the fortunes of King Charles I were at the lowest ebb. The word "sally," of course, as used in Newark's motto, means to rush forth, leap out, or issue suddenly.

Brief Census.

In a certain town of Vermont there was a lively widow maintaining a boarding house, who was joined in that enterprise by her brother, a widower. Now it so chanced that their very first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently lost his second wife. An agent from the associated charities came to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and this was the first house she hit upon.

"Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress.

"All remnants!" was the reply.

Taking No Chances.

Friend—Do you wish me as your mouthpiece to give out a statement about your willingness or refusal to be a candidate?

The Political Sphinx—Say that no friend is authorized to speak for me, and then make sure that if the people call, the line won't be busy.

ROASTING

There is a difference between meat roasted in a GAS oven and that by any other method.

"The lower oven is used for all roasting purposes and broiling, the upper oven for baking purposes; both ovens being heated at the same time and with the same flame.

The oven must be heated previous to roasting, the same as for broiling—ten minutes full heat. Turn meat frequently (leaving door open) until each side is seared. Then place roast lower down in the oven, add seasonings and begin basting with the fat which drips into the pan. The oven flame may also be reduced, and as a rule the front burner will do all the work after the preliminary browning of the surface. Red meats so roasted taste more like the old-fashioned roast before an open fire, than when cooked in any other manner. Not a drop of water is required for basting if there be a proper amount of fat, and the heat be moderate after basting is begun.

Just try a roast on your GAS Range and following all the instruction and you will have the finest piece of roast beef you ever tasted.

Pains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardui. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment.

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you know what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardui has helped over a million women. Try it.
