NAVAL RESERVE MAKES A CREDITABLE SHOWING

The Sixth Division North Carolina Naval Reserves were inspected by Colonel H. D. Harper, of Kinston and Lieut. Commander Fred Shipp, of New Bern, last Saturday night. The inspection occurred in the armory of Company "G." The inspection was very creditable indeed and the members of the reserves are delighted at their showing. For an organization so young their record was a most creditable one. Before going to the armory the reserves were drilled on Main Street. The stunt was witnessed by a large number of citizens. The boys are to be congratulated on their showing. The reserves expect to go on their annual cruise in the Chesapeake Bay and waters of Eastern Carolina within the next few weeks.

The "Hog" machine is located beneath the floor of the mill plant proper and when it was discovered that the belt was off Mr. Tillery jumped through the opening for the purpose of straightening the belt. In jumping he accidentally landed into the machine with the result that his leg was cut completely off. From the hospital comes the report that while Mr. Tillery is suffering greatly from the shock he is getting along nicely and as well as could be expected under the circumstances. information satisfactory to those who were putting up the money and had a decided influence in boosting Foss as the compromise candidate of the convention. There is also a deep under surface movement to have Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, selected as the dark horse, while the friends of Underwood the Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, say he will get the nomination. If the convention is finally deadlocked, which is extremely probable, the outcome of the situation it is believed, will be that Foss, Kern or Underwood will get the nomination.

Murphy Criticized.

Murphy is coming in for a good deal of criticism both by friends of Gaynor and by friends of Clark. The Clark people say that Murphy has played the wrong game from the start. They say that he should have nominated Gaynor and then stuck to him for a longer series of ballots.

Clark Returns.

"There is no change in the situation that I can see," said Speaker Clark last night upon his return to Washington. "It is exactly as it was when the convention adjourned Saturday night. I went over to Baltimore to see some of my friends because it was more convenient for me to go than for them to come over to see me. I have no intention of going to Baltimore again."

Wilson or Deadlock.

It will be Wilson on an early ballot or the battle will be long drawn. This is the opinion of the progressives and conservatives. The Wilsonites are working hard and claim that by the third ballot that he will be far enough in the lead to justify the great Western States, originally for Clark, to swing into line for Wilson. Wilson has a good chance to win if he makes good on the early ballots. The Clarkites claim that Bryan's espousal of Gov. Wilson will go against him. The shrewd politicians say that Clark's boom is dead. The delegates were worn out and short of funds and implore the deadlocks to be ended.

Friendship Broken.

The Democratic party today entered upon its second week of this record-breaking convention facing a desperate situation. Friendships of years have been broken in the past week with little hope of ever being renewed. Sets of large sums of money were being placed aside as midnight last night that Governor Eugene Foss, of Massachusetts, would be the Democratic nominee for president. These bets were made upon
