FORTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING OF B. P. O. E.

Portland now in gayest attire and the Elks are stampeding the western city. Convention will be in session all of next week.

Special to the Daily News.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—Portland is in gayest attire for the forty-eighth annual grand lodge meeting and reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which is to hold forth here during the whole of next week.

Streets are flaring with purple and white decorations. Downtown streets are gay with flags, streamers and festoons of incandescent lights. The decorations extend to the residential section, and there is scarcely a house that is not displaying a flag or piece of bunting in honor of the visitors.

The central feature of the decoration scheme is a Court of Honor in the shape of a square and formed by four of the principal streets of the business district. At each corner of the four are two massive arches, crowned with heroic-size elk figures.

Elks and their friends streamed into the city today from every direction. So great was the crowd that it was impossible to get correct registration of the arrivals, but the city's hotels are already more than filled, downtown rooming houses are crowded to the utmost and many private residences have been thrown open for the entertainment of the visitors.

Monday will be devoted to the reception of the visitors. The formal opening of the grand lodge will take place Monday evening in the Armory. The program will include addresses of greeting by the Governor of Oregon and the Mayor of Portland and a response for the visiting host by Grand Exalted Ruler John P. Sullivan, of New Orleans.

One thousand automobiles will be put into use Tuesday to convey the visiting Elks and their ladies on sightseeing trips about the city. Several steamers have been chartered for excursions on the Willamette and Columbia rivers.

Tuesday night the brilliant electrical parade that has become the most spectacular feature of Portland's annual Rose Festival will be reproduced for the benefit of the visitors. This parade will consist of a score of allegorical floats, representing the development of Oregon and the Northwest. To this array will be added a number of magnificent floats typical of Elkdom.

Wednesday has been set aside for entertainment at "The Oaks," which is Portland's famous outdoor resort on the Willamette River. A sea food dinner, with tons of Columbia River salmon as the chief item on the menu, will be served free to the visitors.

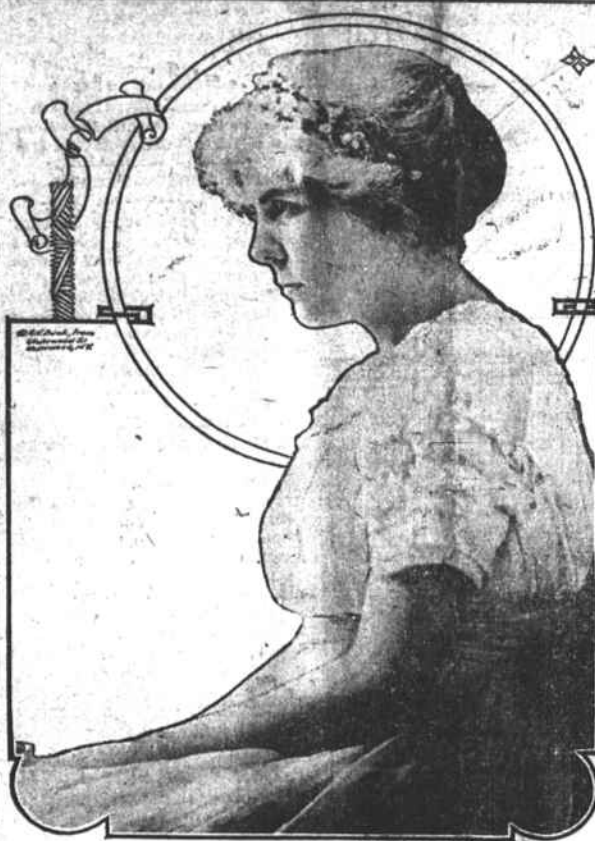

Thursday will be the day of the great parade, in which 50,000 Elks in gorgeous costumes will take part. The parade will be in charge of James R. Nicholson, of Springfield, Mass., grand esquire of the order, who has many years' experience in arranging street pageants. Portland lodge being the host, will occupy the position of honor at the head of the procession. The other lodges will follow in order, taking position according to the number of their charter, New York being No. 1 will follow immediately after Portland. Then will come Philadelphia, San Francisco, Chicago, Cincinnati and all the others.

On Friday a magnificent fleet of naval and merchant vessels will carry the Elks and their families on an excursion down the Willamette and Columbia rivers. The United States cruiser Boston will head the procession, and will be followed by other naval craft and the boats of the Oregon Yacht Club.

The annual grand ball, the principal social feature of every Elk reunion, will take place Friday night at the Multnomah Hotel. All visiting Elks and their families will be admitted free.

No set program has been prepared for Saturday, the closing day of the reunion, but free automobile and boat service will be available for all visiting lodgesmen. When the gathering breaks up large parties of Eastern visitors will begin a tour of California, Washington, British Columbia and the entire Pacific Coast country before turning their faces homeward. At many points included in the itinerary of these parties the local lodges of Elks are arranging special entertainment for the tourists.

DEMOCRATS TO PLAN CAMPAIGN IN WINDY CITY

Meeting Place Changed at the Suggestion of Governor Wilson Because Westerners Could Not Come to New York

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 6.—Further details came out today of how Chicago instead of New York was selected as the meeting place for the Democratic national committee on July 15 at the suggestion of Governor Wilson.

Although several Eastern committeemen had agreed upon New York, the governor asked that Chicago be selected after he had been advised by Southern and Western committeemen that many members would be represented by proxy at New York. These men, he was told, could and would be present at Chicago. When Norman E. Mack, in his capacity as chairman, first announced that New York had been selected, Joseph Daniels, of North Carolina, and two Western committeemen went to Mr. Mack.

"It's a poor choice," they told him. "The Western members won't have time to get home and come back to New York."

"Of course," Mr. Mack replied, "I have no choice but to announce the decision as chairman. Most of the men tell me they prefer New York." So Mr. Daniels laid the case before Governor Wilson.

"One third of the committee will be represented by proxy if we meet in New York," he told the nominee.

"That wouldn't be right," commented the governor. "We want them in person. Who would hold these proxies?" "We don't know," said Daniels. "Then it won't do," said the governor. Presently the governor sent for Mr. Mack and suggested the change. The committee was canvassed again and Chicago chosen.

News Items Of New York

Special to the Daily News. NEW YORK, July 6.—Strangers visiting New York City for the first time and even many who have visited the city on several occasions, do not, as a rule, realize that the importance of New York is not altogether due to its enormous population, the greatness of its financial and commercial business and to its favorable geographical location as a sea port, but that the city is also a great manufacturing centre, in fact, the greatest in the world.

Statistics just given out by the Federal Census bureau show that the aggregate value of the products manufactured in New York City during the year 1909 reached the staggering total of $2,029, 692, 576. In the same year there were twenty-one industries in this city, having each an annual output of products valued at more than $20,000,000. First in importance among the industries of the city is the manufacture of men's and women's clothing. The 5,521 establishments engaged in that manufacture in 1909, gave employment to about 161,400 wage earners and produced goods valued at $484,888,000.

The printing and publishing industry was next in importance, with 3,884 establishments, employing 48,332 persons and turning out products valued at $153,509,000. The list of other important industries in the city includes slaughtering and meat packing; foundry and machine shop products; tobacco manufacture; bread and bakery products; malt liquors; millinery and lace goods; fur goods; glass, illuminating and heating; paint and varnish; musical instruments; men's furnishing goods; druggists' preparations; lumber and timber; copper, tin and sheet iron; artificial flowers and feathers and confectionery.
