The Atlantic Deeper Waferways Association was formed in Philadelphia, in 1907, for the purpose of agitating an inland waterway from Maine to Florida. The agitation resulted in the adoption of a definite project the largest section of which has been surveyed by Government Engineers and favorably recommended to Congress. This section extends from Boston across Cape Cod by causal to Hugaards Bay: to Long Island Sound; to Burtian Bay: across New Jersey by the New Jersey Sea-Level Canal to the Delaware River; to Defauars Bay: to the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal; to Chesapeake Bay, thence Trom Norfolk, Va. to Beaufort, N.C., over the Virginia-Caralina Waterway.
