SINCE TIME OF BRANDON

Remarkable Changes Evident in Dress and General Appearance in Fashionable World.

The modern society woman has a multitude of expenses that her grandmother never even dreamed of; her visits to the milliner, the hair-dresser, the chiropist, are a necessary part of her grooming today. While grandmothers looked her with a scornful eye at the woman who sat at the dressing table and could not be bullied into the admission that she used powder, today her granddaughter unhesitatingly admits that she wears false braids and curls and that the soft glow of health on her rounded cheeks was skillfully applied by a "perfect wonder" of a beauty doctor.

Social affairs have increased in number as well as in variety, and this has brought about a great change in the lady's wardrobe. Our grandmothers talked about their "best dress" and "best hat," the up-to-date lady speaks of her bridge gown, her dinner gown and her dancing frock. She has not one gown for dress up affairs, but 15 or 16. She has an appropriate outfit for each occasion. Not only must the gown be suitable, but all the accessories, including hat, wrap, gloves, shoes, veil, jewelry and even lingerie must be in absolute harmony.

When one stops to consider that the woman who is "in society" does remarkably well if she keeps within $100 for a year's supply of gloves, some idea may be formed as to the amount which she spends for such items as tailored suits, ball gowns and furnished evening wraps.

Arsenic Found in Vegetables.

Arsenic has been found as a normal constituent in man and animals, and now Drs. Jadin and Astruc, two French biologists, show that it may be derived from edible plants and fruits. They examined thirty-nine vegetable substances, and obtained arsenic from all, the quantities ranging from 0.03 part per million in almonds and beans. Other vegetable matters, containing arsenic are the common cabbage, the turnip, the potato, cultivated mushrooms, black truffles, Japanese rice, red haricots, white haricots, gray peas, split peas, lentils, artichokes, saffir, chloery, lettuce, spinach, green peas, celery, carrots, watercress, cauliflower, wild asparagus, hazelnuts, almonds, chestnuts, apples, pears, oranges, pineapples and bananas.

NOTICE

North Carolina, Beaufort County. In the Superior Court, Before the Clerk.

F. J. Morgan, vs. John A. Peyton.

To John A. Peyton, defendant above named:

You are hereby notified that this proceeding has been instituted and petition filed therein before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Beaufort County, North Carolina, for partition of land in Washington Township, Beaufort County, as described in the deed from Thomas Peyton and wife to Alfred Peyton, dated September 30th, 1882, recorded in the Register's office of Beaufort County in Book 84 Page 261, and in the deed from George E. Ricks, Sheriff, to F. J. Morgan, dated May 7th, 1912, recorded in the said Register's office in Book 172, Page 133, which deeds are referred to, it being alleged in the petition that the plaintiff is the owner of an undivided one-half interest and that you are the owner of the other undivided one-half interest therein. You are further notified to be and appear before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Beaufort County, at his office in Washington, North Carolina, on the 26 day of August, 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M. then and there to answer the petition, else the relief therein prayed for will be granted.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, this the 27 day of July, 1912.

The No-Rim Cut Tire is Here

YOU have read much about the No-Rim Cut tire. It is here. Come and let us show you. Let us explain the No-Rim Cut and 10 per cent oversize features. Let us show you how it cuts tire bills 48 per cent. Men, at first, were slow to adopt this tire. Now over 1,000,000 have been used—tested out on some 200,000 cars. Now the demand is greater than ever before. Six times that of two years ago. Men everywhere are now accepting No-Rim-Cut tires.

We were slow to take up this tire. We made a thorough investigation and comparison. The evidence became overwhelming. We were convinced. The tires are now here. We recommend them to you. You should use them. Here's the evidence—

Can't Rim Cut

With No-Rim Cut Tires the side rings are used with the smooth, curved side next the tire. The hooked side is turned away. These wholly deflated, from neglect or accident, it rests on the rounded side of the rings. Thus you see rim cutting is impossible. That, it is estimated, saves 23 per cent—that's what rim cutting costs.

10 Per Cent Oversize

When a car is overloaded, as most cars are at times, the tires are subjected to excessive strain.

No-Rim-Cut tires are made 10 per cent oversize to cover the overload. This gives 10 per cent more air—10 per cent more carrying capacity. It's the air that carries the load.

This oversize is permitted by the No-Rim-Cut construction. That saves overloading. Prevents blow-outs. It cuts probable tire cost 25 per cent.

10 per cent oversize saves 25 per cent.

No-Rim-Cut feature saves 23 per cent. Both together save 48 per cent on an average.

Isn't it reasonable for men to prefer this tire?

Don't you see why we so strongly recommend it?

Don't you think you should use

TRY A WANT AD

PUT A WANT AD TO ANY REASONABLE TEST

It need not be usual or a simple test—just a reasonable one.

For example: If you want a position paying you $10.00 a week more than your present one, the task of helping find it is a want ad task—a "usual" sort of want ad service. But it would be unreasonable to expect that one insertion of your ad would accomplish it; or, that the task could be accomplished at all unless your services were really worth the increase salary.

Rational use of want ads—with reasonable persistence—will accomplish things for you which you couldn't accomplish at all in any other way.
