PERTINENT QUESTIONS ASKED OF RESPECTIVE CANDIDATES AS TO COMING ISSUES.

OFFICE ASPIRANTS CALLED UPON TO GIVE THEIR VIEWS

C. D. Paul Suggests an Understanding be Made With Legislative Candidates and Those for County Commissioners Before the Primary in the County Saturday September 7.

As the primaries draw on the forcible thought presents itself to my mind that as sensible business people, we as Democrats should have a firm understanding with our legislative and county commissioners candidate.

The duties of our other county officers as fixed by law and anyone damaged by reason of their acts have redress on them or their bonds, but our representatives and commissioners are responsible to no one save their own conscience and gentlemanly character unless bound by a platform to the party whose suffrage they ask.

Now don't for one instant think that I am charging the present board with anything, for I know them all as highly conscientious gentlemen and save for some mistakes to which the entire human family is subject, I cannot see but what this board has met the requirements of the county as well as prior boards have done. Neither am I charging any of the candidates now aspiring for the office of representative or commissioner of being inconsistent. For what I know of them by reputation I take them all to be worthy of the trust they ask us to place in them. But we as a party and too as a business proposition, should know whether or not their views coincide with ours before the primaries so as to be able to vote for the man who comes nearest to our views on different questions that are more than likely to arise within the next two years.

Now as to our representative: The most important questions that I can now see that are most likely to arise wherein Beaufort county will be directly interested in are these:

First: The Primary Law. Second: The Torrens system of land title registration. Third: The division of Beaufort County to form a new county with Belhaven as the county seat. Fourth: Legislating of a State-wide no-fence law on us.

Now, Mr. Representative aspirant, I am not asking you for your views of these things neither am I expressing mine. I am asking you to come out and tell us whether or not these questions arise you will be guided in your decision on the first and second issues as set forth above by the expressions of your constituents as conveyed to you by petitions or otherwise and on the third and fourth issues, will you give the people a chance to express their wishes at the ballot box?

Now, as to our County Commissioners: I see two issues that may have to be met and they are these:

First: The withdrawal of the convict force from our public roads. Second: The building of a new Courthouse by another bond issue and I ask the several candidates for the office of commissioner to say whether if these issues or any other issue that will necessitate the placing of another heavy bond on the county, will they submit it to the voters of the county?

Now, this is not a reflection on the integrity or good business judgment of any man, either present officials or candidates, but a clear proposition to give the people a chance to express their opinions on things that are so vitally concerning them. This is the only way to have a truly representative government for I have yet to be shown wherein the servant is greater than his master or any public official greater than the people whose suffrage put them in office. Please answer these questions in the papers at once. Yours for the welfare of Beaufort county and the success of democracy in State and Nation. C. D. PAUL.

Mr. M. B. Farris, of Raleigh, is in the city.

TROOPS TO NICARAGUA.

The War Department on yesterday issued orders to the Tenth United States Infantry at Panama to proceed immediately to Nicaragua. The orders came direct from President Taft himself at Beverly. The men will embark today on merchant steamers and are expected to arrive at Corinto within forty-eight hours. Conditions in Nicaragua now border on barbarism. The latest reports make it plain that the protection of Americans is necessary.

This is done for the convenience of those who may desire to deposit in the savings department of this well known bank and also for the purpose of accommodating their many friends with change, etc.

This additional step forward on the part of the Bank of Washington officials should be greatly appreciated not only by the direct patrons of the bank, but the entire city. President Jonathan Havens and Cashier J. K. Doughton are certainly endeavoring to give the patrons of the bank and entire city every convenience. They are officials that are making good. It is due to her executive ability that this office is one of the best managed in the house of representatives office buildings.

MASS MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT ON SANITATION

The Woman's Betterment Association met yesterday and had an interesting meeting. Among other things discussed was the disposition of the city garbage, also the city water. The city schools will open within a few days and the drinking water is a matter which should receive careful consideration. The women of the city are determined that conditions in the city are improved. They at their meeting on yesterday decided to call a mass-meeting for tomorrow night and have invited the representative men to deliver addresses. Already the Betterment Association has shown itself to be of great benefit to the city. The ladies want a clean and pure water and are determined to have it. Every citizen should attend the mass-meeting tomorrow night and see what the women have to offer looking towards a clean city.

GOV. FOSS OF MASS. TO BE SPEAKER

Accept Invitation to Address Atlantic Deeper Waterway Convention Next Month.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—Governor Eugene N. Foss, of Massachusetts, in a letter to Congressman J. Hampton Moore, president of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association, has accepted an invitation to be one of the speakers at the Fifth Annual Convention of the Waterways body to be held in New London, Conn., September 4th, 5th and 6th. The addition of Governor Foss' name to the program makes the list of speakers one of the most notable in the history of the waterways body.

Governor Foss is an enthusiastic advocate of deeper waterways and was visibly pleased with the work that is being done on the Cape Cod Canal during a recent inspection trip of that waterway.

In his letter to Congressman Moore, Governor Foss says, in part: "It is my earnest wish to be present, if possible and I am planning to attend. So far, however, I am in doubt as to being able to get away. Therefore, I can do no more, in acknowledging your letter of August 10th, than to say that I shall have great pleasure in accepting your invitation and attending the convention if I can leave the duties of this office for the trip."

"No project seems to me more important today in Massachusetts than the development of our waterways, particularly in the deeper waterways, which bring us the coastwise commerce and the commerce of foreign countries."

"An important branch of my public work is devoted to this one end in connection with the development of railroad transportation. "You can see from this, the subject is one which I should particularly like to take part in at New London, and I am looking forward to the occasion with deepest interest."

FEATURE PROGRAM AT THE LYRIC TONIGHT

Another feature program is the story the Lyric ad has to say in today's paper, which appears on fourth page.

The word "Feature" has a great meaning when it appears as a beacon in the Lyric's ad, and the many patrons are beginning to realize that the management only features what are termed feature pictures, but the many patrons of the Lyric seem to think that every day is feature day with them, as their pictures daily bear the stamp of high quality, where no better photograph has ever been placed on canvas.

Another feature of this evening's bill is the "Prize Drawing" contest that comes off at the regular hour, nine o'clock. The manager is offering tonight a beautiful "Eastman Kodak" to the one holding the lucky coupon.

For real fine entertainment leave all care behind and you will finally become a customer of this place of amusement if you follow their daily program.

Newsy News as Told To the News Readers Of Neswy Points

JAKEVILLE ATOMS.

Seven correspondents reported last week. They are seven golden candle sticks who believe in letting their light shine.

We fully believe that Montgomery has crawled into a hole and pulled the hole in after her.

Glad to hear from you, Bragaw, and these big Brown melons you told about made my mouth water three times in rapid succession. When the moon rides down the western sky I expect to ride down the road that goes where the watermillions is.

The Jakeville Jack finds time to write between times of hoeing corn, chopping wood, and catching fish; so if you find any dirt, chips, or fish scales mixed up in his spatterments, you will have to cull them out.

Glad to hear from you, Zion. We used to find this a pleasant and interesting place. Zion has always been a live wire in an educational way and consequently has contributed some strong men and women to the citizenship of the county.

There used to be a nice debating society here, and the Jakeville Jack, though he was not a Jack then, used to go there and show some of his Daniel Websterisms, which was very pleasant to him, but undoubtedly very horrifying to others. However, he hopes to horrify them again some time.

We expect some of the correspondents are hanging around the neighborhood stores talking politics so heatedly they never think to write. I believe you can do more good telling the world what we folks are doing out here in the woods than you can by sitting on a barrel of flour discussing the cost of living. Fourteen next week. Come!
