STRONG PLEA ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW

Rev. H. B. Searight Delivers a Strong Sermon on the Function of Law.

Good congregations were present at the First Presbyterian church Sunday, and a cordial welcome was given the pastor, upon the occasion of his first appearance since returning from his annual vacation. In the morning, Mr. Searight spoke on the faith of the man who was healed by simply touching the hem of the Savior's garment.

At the evening service he discussed on the Function of Law, and the duty of respecting and enforcing the laws of our land. The text was I Timothy 1-3. "The Law is not made for a Righteous Man, But for the Lawless and Disobedient, for the Ungodly and Sinners." etc. Attention was called to the increasing lawlessness of the country, and to the open and alarming disregard of the law that prevails among the American people. Conditions were contrasted with the reverence for law and authority which exists in England—a 1,360 murders in Chicago in one year; only 20 in London in 3 years. Crimes are not punished as it should be—hence it increases in commission the speaker pleaded for:

1. The enforcement of discipline in the home, that children may learn early in life the consequences of lawless acts.

2. The inculcation and practice of higher conceptions of citizenship and civic responsibility. Many good people are careless and delinquent in this respect. They fail to use their influence to purify and uplift the standards of public life and service, leaving the government of our cities to corrupt and incapable men. Hence graft, bribery and the liquor interest control, prevent our municipalities from being what they should be.

3. Religious and moral education, that men may be taught to fear God, and to love their fellow-man. The best way to do this is to bring them to Christ and build them up in Christian character and conduct.

BENEFIT WEST END REEL TEAM AT LYRIC THEATER

One of the best musical programs of the season has been slated for Thursday night at the Lyric Theatre for the benefit of the West End fire company.

A benefit of this nature is of interest to everybody in Washington and should be well patronized. The fire boys are working hard to buy them a hose wagon and the receipts from this benefit will be applied on same.

A more extended program will appear later in this paper and it is to be hoped that they will be given a liberal patronage.

RECORD-BREAKING SALE OF SHEEP

Weiser, Idaho, Sept. 17.—Sheep breeders and dealers from many sections of the country gathered here today for the opening of the largest auction sale of sheep ever conducted in the United States. The sale will last two days and will comprise 12,500 thoroughbred and registered sheep, the property of the insolvent Butterfield Livestock Company. The list of animals to go under the auctioneer's hammer includes 500 Rambouillet rams, 500 Delaine-Merino rams, 500 Hampshire ram lambs and several thousand fall blood Rambouillet, Delaine and Hampshire ewes.

DELIGHTFUL SERMONS.

Rev. Mr. Brickhouse, a young and promising divine of Creswell, N. C., filled the pulpit at the First Baptist church last Sunday morning and evening and those who were present were simply delighted. A member present stated that both sermons he has not heard surpassed in quite awhile.

Mr. Brickhouse filled the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, Rev. H. P. Dalton, who is assisting in a series of meetings at Belhaven.

SIDNA ALLEN AND EDWARDS AT ROANOKE

Throngs of People Gather at Station to Catch Glimpse of Noted Outlaws

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 17.—Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, arrested in Des Moines, Iowa, Saturday evening, charged with taking part in the shooting up of Carroll County Court at Hillsville, were brought here yesterday, arriving on the noon train, accompanied by W. G. Baldwin, head of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency; Detective H. A. Lucas and G. O. Monday, deputy sheriff of Albemarle, N. C. Miss Maudie Iroter, the girl through whom the officers traced the fugitives to the Western city, also was with the party.

Despite the efforts of the authorities to keep secret the hour of the prisoners' arrival, hundreds of people assembled at the station and watched the outlaws as they left the train.

From the station they were conveyed in an automobile to headquarters of the Baldwin-Felts Agency, where they were photographed.

An immense throng of curious people blocked the street outside the building.

Later, Allen and Edwards were put behind the bars in the city jail.

Detective Baldwin gave out a statement yesterday afternoon positively denying that Miss Iroter betrayed the fugitives. Mr. Baldwin says most emphatically that she had no knowledge whatever of the fact that she was being shadowed.

JUDGE BRAGAW PRAISED AS PRESIDING JUDGE

The following complimentary notice, with reference to Washington's distinguished citizen, Judge Stephen C. Bragaw, is clipped from the Wilmington Star of the 14th. No doubt it will be read with pleasure by the News readers.

Lumberton, N. C., Sept. 14.—The one-week term of the Superior Court, which convened Monday to try criminal cases, closed this evening. During the term much business has been disposed of, Judge Bragaw, Solicitor Sinclair and the resident attorneys working day and night. This is Judge Bragaw's second court here, and we do not believe any Judge has ever won the respect and esteem of our people in so high a degree in so short a time. To know Judge Bragaw is to love and admire him. Solicitor Sinclair is as well-known here that he is regarded as one of us. He will spend Sunday with his family in Fayetteville and he is in Elizabethton Monday. Judge Bragaw will spend Sunday here and go to Elizabethtown Monday morning to hold court there next week.

MISS ADELIN RITCH MAYO ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Miss Adeline Ritch Mayo delighted fully entertained at bridge on last Friday afternoon at her home, corner of Second and Pearce streets. Miss Mayo was at home from four to six and entertained in honor of Mrs. Fair and Mrs. Malpass of Orangeburg, S. C., who are visiting. Mrs. Walter Wolfe, of West Second street, delicious and tempting refreshments were served; and Miss Mayo again proved a most charming hostess. The function was thoroughly enjoyed. Merriment and pleasure reigned during the entire afternoon.

DEMOCRATIC VOTER DESIRES INFORMATION

Editor Daily News:—In your issue of the "Washington Daily News" September 16th, 1912, you cite as the basis of an article entitled, "Co. Chairman Says Who Can Vote in the Primary." It is presumed that the County Chairman knows what he is talking about. In answer to the query—"Can a Republican vote in the primary to be held on Sept. 20th, if he swears to support the nominees of that primary?" there appears the following: "The article states further that the Republican wishes to vote, he must swear to support the Democratic ticket in Nation, State and County."

ALL DEMOCRATS SHOULD RALLY AROUND FLAG

Daily News Correspondent
Writes Interestingly of Recent Primary.

The noise of battle has passed away and the candidates nominated. While we may not be pleased with every turn of events and some of us may be disappointed at the failure of our individual choice, still it is our duty as Democrats to rally 'round the flag of the victors and preserve the party intact in November. The deepest regret of the writer is that there were so many good men to be defeated, but if each man in his loyalty to the party will say with Job 13:15: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, but I will maintain mine own way before him," we need not sacrifice a principle or become less honored or respected, but become better mettle by having passed through the fire of refinement. While the political situation has been all-absorbing and, perhaps, justly so, we should not overlook other matters that are of importance, especially to the farming interest of our county. The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of Beaufort County meets in Bath October 11, 1912. The object of this meeting is to discuss the various phases of agriculture with a view to the elevation and betterment of farm-life from a mental and moral, as well as financial standpoint.

The chief interest in the meetings in the past has centered in the guano question, which should be one of the prime considerations. There has been too little said about the marketing of crops, drainage, improved methods of cultivating, good seed and the present tenant system, and its tendencies. The present tenant system should be discussed. It is a growing evil which seems to attract little or no attention and still is working at the very foundation of our free institutions. The last census shows that in three of the great agricultural States of the Middle West, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, the total number of farms decreased in ten years from 714,870 to 684,410, which means that 30,460 individual farms have been absorbed in those States and other sections are showing a similar or greater delimitation. Again, 37 per cent of the farming in these States is done by the tenant system and the South 50 per cent. The decline of the great Roman empire began when the rich land owners moved to the Imperial City, after tenantry the land out to their slaves. The curse of Ireland for generations has been the absent landlord. The rich owners of the soil sold their holdings, while wringing from a pauperized tenantry the utmost farthing that they might live in luxury in London or elsewhere. These conditions made it next to impossible for the tenants to become land owners, which meant either the enslavement or exodus of the people. Conditions have not reached the stage of a serious menace with us, but figures show that we are approaching the stage which completely overthrew Rome and reduced the population of Ireland 50 per cent, or more than 4,000,000 in half a century. Denmark faced a similar condition, which was averted by governmental interference. The old feudal system of land tenure was broken up and the large estates were divided into small holdings. The farm laborer with a good character and five years' experience may obtain money from the government with which he buys a small farm and its fixtures. In this way Denmark, instead of being a pauperized kingdom, has become one of the leading agricultural countries of Europe, with schools of science in which the young are taught the secrets of farming and experts to show farmers the best methods of rotation, tillage, seed selection and marketing.

BIG SHOW IS ATTRACTING A GREAT CROWD

Tariff Exhibit Now Under Auspices of Democratic National Committee.

New York, Sept. 17.—New Yorkers are flocking to a big free show these days in crowds that are making all the theatrical managers green with envy. The new attraction is the Tariff Exhibit or Tariff Chamber of Horrors opened in a big store on Union Square under the auspices of the Democratic National Committee. On the first day of the exhibit nearly 10,000 persons crowded in and since then a steady throng has filed in and out of the place.

It has been a cosmopolitan crowd. There are Jews and Italians from the East Side, an army of clerks and salaried men, and women by the score. Now and then an automobile runs up and some prosperous-looking folks pile out and mingle with the throng. The center of attraction is the model flat, fully equipped, with its kitchen, dining-room and bedroom. The crowds linger about the flat and study the different articles in common use, each of which is labeled with its price and the tariff tax which shows why the article costs more than it should. On the household articles the tariff taxes range from 25 to 55 per cent, and on the clothing displayed—for the flat is inhabited by a small family of wax-dummies—from 50 to 90 per cent.

But the things that attract most attention are a baby carriage and a crib, on which the tariff tax is 45 per cent, and some baby clothes, on which the consumer gets stung with a tariff tax of 90 per cent. The women are particularly struck with these articles and express great indignation at what they call "putting a shameful tax on the babies."
