THE NOTED DYNAMITE TRIAL OPENS IN INDIANAPOLIS TODAY

Fifty-one Officials of the Labor Unions Connected With the Dynamite Conspiracy Are For Trial.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1.—The opening today of the trial against the fifty-one present or former officials of labor unions, on the charge of complicity in the so-called "dynamiting conspiracy," attracted a large crowd of spectators to the court room of Judge Albert B. Anderson, of the United States District Court. Long before the opening of the court every available seat in the courtroom was occupied and the corridor of the federal building was filled with people who could not find space in the court room.

During the preliminaries to the opening of the session general interest centered in United States Senator John W. Kern, chief counsel for the defendants, and District Attorney Charles W. Miller, and his assistant, Clarence Nichols, who represent the government in this trial. They were on hand promptly, apparently prepared for the fray. The fifty-one men facing trial occupied the places assigned to them. They did not seem to be nervous and, before the court was formally opened, carried on an animated chat among themselves.

The defendants are indicted under a Federal statute forbidding the transportation of explosives on passenger trains and are charged with having been concerned in a nation-wide plot to destroy the property of contractors employing non-union ironworkers, culminating in the explosion in the Los Angeles Times building, which cost twenty-one lives. In its report of February 6 last the grand jury indicted fifty-one men, but of this number John J. and Jas. R. McNamara are in San Quentin prison, California, and J. J. McCray, a former member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, has not been found by the Federal authorities. Most of the defendants are or have been connected with the ironworkers' association, which, since 1906, has been engaged in a struggle with the National Erectors' Association, an organization of structural steel and iron contractors employing non-union workmen. Members of this employers' association suffered loss from more than one hundred explosions from 1906 to 1911.

Following the arrest of Jno. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the Ironworkers' Association, at its headquarters in this city, and the arrest of James B. McNamara and Orrie H. McManigal in Detroit, in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion, presentments were made to the federal grand jury of this district that officials of the Ironworkers' Association and other labor unions had been concerned in a conspiracy to intimidate employers of unorganized labor by a systematic destruction of their property.

Orrie McManigal's confession, in which he related that he had been employed by the McNamara brothers and Herbert S. Hookin, acting secretary-treasurer of the Ironworkers' Association, to dynamite bridges and buildings in course of construction by non-union contractors, was the basis of the government's inquiry. McManigal has been brought here and is to be the principal witness for the government in this trial. A mass of letters and other records, seized in a raid on the offices of the ironworkers' Association, also will be offered as evidence of a general conspiracy secretly to convey dynamite and nitroglycerine from coast to coast in a campaign against employers of unorganized ironworkers.

Most prominent among the defendants are Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers; Herbert S. Hookin, acting secretary-treasurer and the alleged head of the "dynamiting crew," John T. Butler, of Buffalo, first vice-president, Michael Young, of Boston, and William A. Cooley, of New Orleans, members of the executive board; Olaf A. Trevison, secretary of the Building Trades Council of California; William K. Beason, former president of the Detroit Federation of Labor; Clarence E. Dowd, organizer for the International Association of Machinists and a number of minor officials of various other unions.

CONQUEST OF AIR HAS COST 183 LIVES

September, 1908—Lieut. Thomas Selfridge, at Fort Myer.
1911—Lieut. G. E. M. Kelly, at San Antonio, Texas.
June 11, 1912—Lieut. Leighton W. Haslehurst, at College Park.
June 11, 1912—A. L. Welch, at College Park.
September 28, 1912—Lieut. Louis C. Rockwell, at College Park.
September 28, 1912—Corporal Frank Scott, of the Signal Corps, at College Park.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Three aviators were killed Saturday, two in Washington and the other at Hempstead, L. I., in almost an identical manner, within the same hour.

Lieut. Lewis C. Rockwell, guiding a Wright biplane and carrying Corporal Frank Scott as passenger, lost control of the machine and both plunged with it to the ground. Scott was killed outright and Rockwell died two hours later.

John L. Longstaff, a British aviator, was killed at Hempstead and his mechanic, Pierre Chavallier, was badly hurt, when their craft fell fifty feet.

Since the start of aviation in 1908, 183 deaths have resulted from accidents. The number of injured runs into thousands. Two Italian aviators were killed last week. The British army has lost four officers and the United States army a like number. The French army has been the worst sufferer.

Army Board Investigates Accident.
Lieutenant Louis C. Rockwell and Corporal Frank S. Scott, the army aviators who were dashed to death at the army aviation school, College Park, Md., will be buried tomorrow in Arlington cemetery.

The army board investigating the accident is still at work.

German Aviator's Injuries Fatal.
Sonneburg, Germany, Oct. 1.—Lieut. Willy Haber, army aviator, died today as a result of injuries received recently during the imperial maneuvers in Saxony, when his aeroplane collided with a tree while he was "managing" a reconnoitering flight.

"The choice which the voters have to make is simply this: Shall they have a government free to serve them, free to serve ALL of them, or shall they continue to have a government which dispenses SPECIAL favors and which is always controlled by those to whom the SPECIAL favors are dispensed?"

B. H. THOMPSON INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE LEGISLATURE

Says Great Body of Farmers Should Have Representation, Hence His Candidacy. Favors Economy in County Government. Opposes Change in the Prohibition Law.

To the Voters of Beaufort County:—

After a conference with a number of my friends throughout Beaufort County, I have decided to become an independent candidate for the office of legislator for the office of legislator. I am calling down upon Assembly.

In making this announcement I realize that I am calling down upon my head the wrath of the machines of the Democratic party, but am sincere in the belief that the great body of farmers, to which I belong, are entitled to representation in the law-making body of this State, and I am equally confident that the present nominee of the Democrat party is not the choice of the majority of that party, nor is he in harmony with the majority of his party on certain questions, and this being true I respectfully ask the voters of all parties to attend the election on November 5th, and cast their ballots for me, provided, however, that they believe I will properly represent them.

My platform is now and always will be "equal and exact justice to every man without regard to his social, political or financial position." I am in favor of every local question that has its moral effect being settled by the people to be affected, and if elected, I will permit no law passed of a local nature, except it be ratified by a majority of the people who are affected by it, and especially is this true as to local road districts. And I promise here and now that if I am elected, all questions of this nature will be referred back to the community affected, to be by them ratified or rejected as they deem best for themselves.

I am in favor of strict economy in all the various county offices and especially am I in favor of economy being practiced in the repairing of bridges, road work and tax listing, as I think that the present methods are very lax and inefficient. I am opposed to any amendments to the present prohibition laws that would tend to license the sale of whiskey by any means in the State, and if elected will so vote upon every measure of this character as I regard this as being a great moral question and in no wise local in its effect.

I am opposed to the present primary law.

As to my past political history, I will say that for the last thirty-five years I have been a working Democrat, always supporting the nominee, except where I knew them to be men of bad moral character, and in such cases I assumed the right to select men of better character, or vote that portion of my ticket blank.

In conclusion I desire to say that I have no political or other axe to grind, I am not a lawyer, I am not related by blood or interested in any corporation, and have no purposes other than to serve, if elected, the people of my county to the best of my ability, and especially the great agricultural interest that has made and is making Beaufort county the garden spot of our State.

To those who do not know me, I respectfully refer them to the Bank of Aurora, the postmaster, any business man at Aurora or Washington and to my farmer friends with whom I have been dealing for the last forty years.

Respectfully,
B. H. THOMPSON.

HOWE SHOWS ARE COMING TOMORROW

The circus is coming tomorrow and young America is already in full expectancy for a glorious day. Not only the juvenile folk in high glee, but the adults as well. The great show which requires twenty rail cars to bring it is expected to arrive at some time tonight. The show will give two exhibitions tomorrow on West Third street at the Fleming Park. The great parade is to be given tomorrow morning between ten and eleven o'clock and judging from the press comments it promises to be one of the most elaborate ever seen here.

This show was in Washington about three years ago and delighted and captivated all who witnessed it. It was clean and wholesome throughout.

The acting and managerie was first class in every detail. The performance this season is scheduled to be a vast improvement. An exchange in commenting on the Howe's Great Shows says:

The Great London Show Consolidated this season presents the most legitimate highest class feature that has ever been toured with any circus. The World Famous Dublin Dapple Gray, Prize Winning, Six-horse Team, which is owned by the Great London Show.

These superb dapple grays are valued at $25,000, and are known as the International Champions of all prominent Horse Shows.

This beautiful team of gray Percheron geldings, World's Champions, have won blue ribbons in all countries and are now making a tour of all the principal cities in the United States and Canada, with the Great London Shows. In 1907 they toured through England and Scotland for several months, appearing at the Liverpool May Day Parade, the International Horse Show at Olympia, London, England, in June; the Regent's Park, London Parade, the Royal Agricultural Show at Lincoln, England, and later at the same place by special Royal command of His Majesty, King Edward VII.

The horses are all gray Percheron geldings from five to eight years old. Big Dan, the high wheel horse, is regarded as the Champion Draft Horse of this country, weighing 2,400 pounds. These horses have been driven during their show career by Jack Kent, one of the most expert

J. HAVENS IS ERECTING A GIN PLANT

Mr. Jonathan Havens is erecting a strictly up-to-date gin plant at the corner of Bridge and Third streets. It has all the latest improvements. The erector, Mr. Christian from Texas, says that it will be beyond doubt the best gin plant in the South and as yet erected in this section.

Setting gins for a number of years, his opinion is of value. This plant was a special order by Mr. Havens and he has installed a number of his own ideas which is a great improvement over the average gins. No brushes will be used in this gin. It will be run entirely by electricity. It will be used exclusively to gin custom cotton. It has a cotton house with twenty stalls for the purpose of handling twenty different kinds of scales, separate from each other. 22 plant will contain two sets of wagon scales, separate from each other, 22 feet long, with a capacity of 12,000 pounds each. Everything in the gin will work automatically.

The building of this modern and up-to-date gin is among the many enterprises that Mr. Havens has already erected in Washington. He is among Washington's enterprising business men and is always in the forefront.

F. H. ROLLINS TO ATTEND GRAIN DEALERS ASS'N

Manager Frank H. Rollins, of the Havens Grain Mill, leaves tonight for Norfolk, Va., where he goes to attend a meeting of the Grain Dealers of the United States, which is to assemble in the Monticello Hotel. The session will last three days. The association is composed of all the leading dealers in grain in the United States. It promises to be one of the most auspicious events ever pulled off in the city of Norfolk. Mr. Rollins expects to return the latter part of the week.

whips in the world. Arrayed in gold trimmed harness they present a picture of rare beauty. All of the valuable beautiful gold and silver trophies, medals, ribbons, etc., are also exhibited with the Great London Show.

A large number of visitors from all parts of the county are expected to visit the performance.

Junior Members Will Stand Solidly by Members Suspended

Chapel Hill, Oct. 1.—The vigorous investigation of the hazing situation at the university which has been inaugurated since the death of "Billy" Hand and which probing developed such a sensation in the expulsion of sixteen students yesterday revealed no additional expulsions, consequently President Venable's report to the called meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees in Raleigh on yesterday will in particular account for the expulsion of the sixteen students that have already been dismissed, and since so much resentment has been expressed by friends of the parties that have been expelled it is likely that a few of the students expelled will appear before the executive committee of the trustees pleading injustice on the grounds of being dismissed for acts of hazing engaged in last session. At least one student who has been suspended emphatically states that he will contest the legality of his expulsion, pleading that the charge brought against him is infinitely small and for conduct last session.

The junior class further outspoke only expressed its resentment of the expulsion of eight of their members when a second meeting was held this afternoon. The meeting further emphasized their opinion of yesterday that members of the class should not be expelled for conduct of last year, and attached blame to President Venable for not investigating the shooting up of Pickard's hotel annex last session. The class in its last analysis went on record by a vote of two to one that they were with members of the class that were expelled, and passed a resolution to draw up a letter to that effect.

B. H. THOMPSON THE CHAMPION BEAR HUNTER

Mr. B. H. Thompson, of Aurora, N. C., arrived in the city this morning via the Washington and Vandremer train. Mr. Thompson is always a welcome visitor to this city. He is not only one of the county's first farmers, but judging from a report given a Daily News man today, he is too a first class bear hunter. On last Friday M. Thompson succeeded in bagging two large bears, which had been destroying his corn. One weighed 169 pounds and the other tipped the scales at 207 pounds. They were captured in traps. Mr. Thompson is very proud of his catch and is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

OPENING CLARK'S STORE MECCA FOR LADIES

One of the most successful millinery openings of the many given this season occurred at the James E. Clark Co.'s store this morning. The opening will last all day and also through tomorrow. The ladies swarmed the store all day eager to witness the elaborate display of Parisian and domestic effects. Miss Mayne Burbank is again in charge of this popular department. She is assisted by such well known artists as Mrs. Guy Gabriel and Mrs. Glenn Walters.

The styles as displayed were much admired and justly so by every lady caller. Quite a number of the latest styles were purchased on the spot. Miss Burbank is very popular as a trimmer and her taste and art this season is being much admired.

CARLOAD OF HORSES.

The Washington Horse Exchange Company on yesterday received via the Atlantic Coast Line a carload of horses from Western markets.

VISITING IN THE CITY.

Miss Mae Leary, of Colorado, N. C., is visiting Mrs. D. C. Ross and Mrs. A. J. Cox on West Second street.

AYERS' MILLINERY OPENING WELL ATTENDED

The millinery opening at the popular store of Mr. E. W. Ayers is on today and tomorrow and judging from the number of lady callers the opening will prove to be a conspicuous success. Miss Nona Mohler, of New York, is head milliner for the season. She comes to Washington hearing with her the very highest reputation and those who witnessed her display of fall and winter millinery today place her among the most artistic milliners yet seen in Washington. Miss Mohler is assisted in the millinery department by Miss Annie Mae Harmon. The opening will continue through Wednesday and all the ladies of the city are cordially invited to call.

RUSS BROS PLACING AT- TRACTION SHOW CASE

The well-known and enterprising firm of Russ Bros. are placing in the main entrance of their attractive store a display show case which adds much to the attractiveness of their store. The case is up-to-date in every way and has been much admired by pedestrians and patrons. This firm, composed of young men, is one of the most enterprising in the city.

CONVENTION OCTOBER 5.

The Independent Progressive Republican party is to assemble in convention in the Court House, this city, on October 5. Quite an interesting convention is looked for.

W. B. Walling's Con- dition About Same

While it will be gratifying news to the many friends of Mr. W. B. Walling to learn that he is holding his own, he is still a very sick man, and his condition is yet precarious. Reports from his bedside today are anything but encouraging. Mr. Walling is one of Washington's popular citizens and his many friends not only in Washington, but throughout Beaufort county, hope that he will yet be able to resume his business duties.

Mr. C. M. Cobb, of Tarboro, N. C., was on our streets this morning.

RAPID PROGRESS BEING MADE ON PUBLIC BUILDING

Rapid progress is now being made towards the completion of the public building. All the outside work is now practically completed with the exception of the roof, work upon which is expected to begin within the next few days.

The building promises to be one of the very best and most imposing in appointments it will not be surpassed by any similar structure in North Carolina.

Mr. C. C. Fagan, a business man of Darports, N. C., is a business visitor.

Herald Forecast Shows Strong Drift for Governor Wilson

New York, Oct. 1.—The New York Herald Sunday morning contained a comprehensive poll of the nation and forecast of the result of the presidential election in November. The Herald's canvass indicates a strong lead for Governor Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee; a great log to the Republicans and a heavy progressive vote. The colonel is placed second on nearly all of the states canvassed. The Herald also says that "thirty-six days before the election shows the Democrats united in all sections, Progressives fighting desperately and the Republicans apathetic." The Herald's forecast in part follows:

"With the Republican party from one end of the country to the other torn sunder by the activities of the Bull Moose candidate, and with the Democrats working in complete, almost blissful, harmony, indications at the present time—thirty-six days before election—point to Democratic victory at the polls in November.

"Consensus of opinion seems to be that the Bull Moose sentiment has reached its highest point and that the Taft movement in many sections is on the rise. In some sections the indications are that the Wilson tide has reached its flood. In others it seems to be rising steadily.

"It is too early to make an iron-clad prediction. The Herald will not at this time attempt to do so. Conditions in many parts of the nation are very much unsettled. Chaos only describes the situation in a few sections. Furthermore, it has been demonstrated many times that only the most daring would venture a prophecy as to the result of a presidential contest more than a month in advance of the election. Conditions can change overnight. While presidential canvasses have, in fact, changed overnight. Anyone of many, many factors might unexpectedly enter into the situation, setting at naught all opinions and deductions.

"Straw votes point to the election of Governor Wilson. They indicate that President Taft will run third in many states. Personal canvasses made by the Herald's experienced political correspondents in every corner of the country indicate that sentiment at the present time favors Governor Wilson. They show keenest activity on the part of the Democrats and Bull Moose campaigners and in many sections listlessness and indifference on the part of the Republicans.

"Efforts to Get the Facts.

"In undertaking the most elaborate Presidential canvass ever made by any newspaper the Herald instructed all of its canvassers and all of its correspondents to 'get the truth.' For more than a month reports have been working from coast to coast.

"The straw votes published in this issue were taken in 11 states, and while they shed an interesting light on conditions, cannot be offered as an unfailing index of what might be expected throughout the country. But it is a fact of importance, however, that the reports from practically all the political reporters—from Oregon to Southern California, from Maine to Colorado and from Northern Michigan to Kentucky—bear out in large measure the returns from the straw votes. It is a further important notation also that the reports of practically all the correspondents agree. Some of them intimate that conditions are gradually changing—that President Taft is gaining here, the Governor Wilson is losing there—but the majority of the reports indicate that the democracy at the present time is away in the lead."
