JOE WOOD AGAIN ROUTS GIANTS IN FOURTH GAME

New York, Oct. 12.—The Boston Americans defeated the New York Nationals by a score of 3 to 1 yesterday in the fourth game of the world's series before a crowd numbering about 49,000 people.

Joe Wood, Boston's pitching star, was invincible when his meat runs and the New York batters could do nothing with him. Wood did not give a base on balls.

Wagner played a star game at short stop for Boston, taking several hard hit balls that were heading for center field while on the dead run and pinching the batters at first by the fast throw.

Official score follows:

PARENTS URGED TO SEND THEIR CHILDREN

At the close of the first month of the public school it is found that the total enrollment in the white school is 789. Of this number 57 reside outside of Washington, leaving 701 attending school who live in town. Our last census report showed that there were 825 school subjects in Washington between the ages of 6 and 21. Deducting 701 who are attending from the total census, it will be seen that there are still 200 persons of school age not attending school. Of this total of non-attendants quite a number are past the age limit comprehended in our compulsory attendance law and are at work; many others are away attending schools and colleges; some others are married; a few have moved out of town. There are, however, about 63 between the ages of 6 and 16 who are not in school. These may be required to attend school unless they come within the exceptions provided for in the compulsory attendance law.

The parents of all these children have been visited by some one connected with the school and they have been requested and urged to send their children to school at once. Many of them promised to send them next Monday—others have given various reasons for not sending. All these cases will be carefully investigated by the School Board within the next few days with a view of determining which ones should be required to attend school.

We hope that all those not now attending school will begin at once, particularly those who are to enter the primary grades. It will be impossible to take children in the kindergarten or in the beginner's grade after another week or so.

It is the duty of all parents to take this method of urging all people whose children are not in school to put them at once.
N. C. NEWBOLD,
Superintendent.

COUNTY CANVASS

The Democratic County Canvass will begin at the head of Pungo on Monday, October 21, and the county candidates will cover all the county precincts up to and before the election.

and the convention of the American Meat Packers' Association, at Chicago.

Of interest in church and educational circles will be the inauguration of Dr. Ezra S. Tippet as president of Drew Theological Seminary, the inauguration of Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn as president of Amherst College, and the laying of the cornerstone of the new Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

The consecration of Rev. Heber J. Hamilton, the bishop-elect of the new Canadian diocese of Japan, is scheduled to take place Friday in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal.

A distinguished body of Pennsylvania civil war veterans and public officials will go to Culpeper, Va., Thursday, for the dedication of the monument erected to the memory of the Keystone State soldiers buried in the national cemetery at that place.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
There will be regular services at this church Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours to which the general public is cordially invited. The subject for the morning discourse will be: "Secret of Waxing Cold." At night the topic will be, "Character of Our Zeal." Sunday school will meet promptly at 4 o'clock. E. R. Nixon, superintendent; G. F. Bland, assistant superintendent; W. M. Kear, teacher of the Baraca Class.

Mr. C. F. Bland, of the Harris Hardware Company, has returned from an business trip to Kingston, N. C.

COTTON MARKET.
Lint cotton, $10.58.
Seed cotton, 4c.
Cotton seed, $19.

BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT

All In Readiness For Second Trial Of M. McFarland

Newark, N. J., Oct. 12.—Both sides are in readiness for the opening on Monday next of the second trial of Allison M. MacFarland, who is charged with the murder of his wife MacFarland was indicted on October 20, 1911, and his first trial took place in the early part of the present year. The prosecution had little direct evidence in that sensational case and the case hinged practically upon the admission of the "Bunny Letters," a number of affectionate missives which MacFarland had received from Miss Florence Bromley, his former stenographer, and which tended to show that MacFarland was in love with the writer and had expressed the intention of riding himself of his wife. Notwithstanding the strenuous objections of the defense the letters were admitted as evidence and, after a trial extending over several weeks, MacFarland was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death.

His lawyers appealed to the Court of Errors and Appeals and the latter, after a careful review of the case, decided that the lower court had erred in admitting the "Bunny Letters" as evidence and that the Justice presiding at the trial had erred in his instructions to the jury, permitting the jurors to base their judgment upon these letters. The decision of the trial court was reversed and the case remanded for a new trial. The latter was finally set for next Monday.

Allison M. MacFarland was born in Thomaston, Me., about thirty-five years ago and received a fair education, including two years of high school and a course at a commercial school at Rockland, Me. It was at Rockland, in the fall of 1897, that MacFarland met Evelyn Crockett. They became engaged and on October 3, 1900, they were married at the Methodist Church in Rockland. For one year or more they continued to live in Rockland, then they removed to Quincy, Mass., where MacFarland obtained a position as foreman in the Fern River Iron Works. One year later they moved to New York, then to Chicago, then to Michigan and finally to Philadelphia. While in Philadelphia MacFarland invented an automobile tire and a company of wealthy men was formed to put the invention in the market. Offices were opened and Miss Florence Bromley was engaged as stenographer. MacFarland soon became infatuated with his stenographer and his attentions to her caused serious domestic trouble with his wife. Finally she left him and returned to her parents, where she remained two years, devoting herself to the bringing up of her two little children. In the meantime the tire concern failed and MacFarland obtained employment with the Crocker-Wheeler Company, in Newark. In 1911 the marital troubles between MacFarland and his wife were patched up and Mrs. MacFarland with her two children returned to him in the early part of August of that year.

As it appeared later, the relations between MacFarland and his former stenographer had not ceased. They kept up a lively correspondence and frequently met by appointment. On the evening of October 17, 1911, his son, to take the little boy to one of the theatres. They remained in New York over night and when they reached their home in Newark on Mrs. MacFarland dead upon her bed, with her little daughter playing near her.

At the investigation by the coroner it was shown that Mrs. MacFarland had been poisoned by Cyanide of Potassium, a solution of which drug had been contained in a blue bottle that had formerly contained bromide, which Mrs. MacFarland had been in the habit of taking for her frequent headaches. It was suspected that MacFarland had placed the poison in the bottle with the expectation that his wife would take the poison by mistake, when in need of a headache remedy and when other circumstances evidence had been found, showing the relations between MacFarland and Miss Bromley and thus establishing a motive, MacFarland was held to the grand jury. His indictment and trial followed. Among the effects of MacFarland a number of letters were found which Miss Bromley had written to him and his final conviction rested mainly upon their incriminating evidence.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
There will be the usual services at the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning and evening at the usual hours. The twentieth anniversary of the Foreign Missionary Society was celebrated on last evening with an appropriate program and the attendance was more than satisfactory. Quite a nice sum was raised for the cause of foreign missions. All are cordially invited to attend both the morning and evening services to-morrow. Sunday school will meet promptly at 4 o'clock.

Mr. H. M. Rogers, of Petersburg, Va., is in the city.

SUPERIOR COURT TO OPEN MONDAY NEXT

The October term of Beaufort County Superior Court will convene at the Courthouse on Monday for a term of two weeks. The first week will be devoted to the trial of criminal cases and the second week to that of civil. His Honor, Judge Lane, of Reidsville, will preside. This is Judge Lane's first visit to Beaufort County in his official capacity and the Daily News takes pleasure in extending to him a warm and cordial welcome.

WOMAN AND CHILD ARE THROWN FROM BUGGY

Mrs. N. L. Sawyer, while out riding yesterday afternoon on Bonhoeffer street, with the 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boon, came near meeting with a serious accident. The pony shied at a piece of lumber falling off a building and the consequence was that Mrs. Sawyer and baby were thrown from the buggy. Mrs. Sawyer in her efforts to keep the child from being hurt, was painfully bruised on the face. The infant received only a small scratch on the neck. The pony did not run, but held his ground after being frightened. While Mrs. Sawyer's wounds are painful they are not serious.

DEMOCRATIC HAND BOOK.

New York, Oct. 12.—The Democratic hand book or Democratic campaign book for 1912 has been completed and the first issue will be off the press at once. This book was issued by a committee composed of Joseph Daniels, chairman of the Publicity Bureau; J. T. Loyd, congressional chairman, and Robert W. Woolley. The chief work in the preparation of the Text Book was done by Mr. Woolley, who gained a country-wide reputation in the Stanley Steel investigation. It will be by all odds the best and most interesting document ever turned out by a campaign committee. The book contains 416 pages and every page is a good Democratic argument. The book will be on sale at 25 cents a copy after today.

PATRONS OF LYRIC HIGHLY ENTERTAINED

The management of the Lyric Theatre announces the bookings of "The Burnettes" in a high-class singing and talking act for Monday and Tuesday engagement. "The Burnettes" are highly featured in a black face act and known as the comedy king who makes thousands laugh.

Another feature of this team is the illustrated lectures "Sinking of the Titanic" and how the accident occurred.

For real live amusement, something that is clean and moral, this novelty team excels all others, and have received excellent public and press reports where played.

The bookings for the last half of the week will be "The Majestic Trio" of high-class and rag-time singing.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE SCHOOL IS PROMISED FOR THE CITY OF WASHINGTON

Washington can secure a Domestic Science School if the proper effort is put and the citizens of the city show a spirit of interest—in fact—it is practically already at our very door. The Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church is now ready to place $10,000 in the enterprise, provided that Washington and the laymen of the church raise the additional $10,000. The Daily News can say with assurance of the remaining $10,000 requisite two thousand has already been subscribed. The only thing remaining is a little effort on the part of Washington and one of the most essential adjuncts towards the education of Southern womanhood is assured.

Believing that such a school is needed in Eastern Carolina and feeling that it is the desire and aim to further any enterprise for the good and uplift of Eastern Carolina, a staff member of the Daily News took occasion to call upon Rev. J. H. Warren on Thursday and ask him for information in regard to the workings of this department and also to the outlook for its establishment in Washington.

The first question put to Mr. Warren by the Daily News man, was: "What was the purpose of delivering the address before the Chamber of Commerce on last Tuesday evening?"

Mr. Warren said: "In connection with the school to be established at Washington Park we hope to establish a Domestic Science School, which the Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church generously donated $10,000—provided the other $10,000 is given, making a total of $20,000. I am thoroughly convinced," said Mr. Warren, "of both the need and the result of such a building in connection with the college, after having the promise of the main building from the Board of Education. I would naturally cast for something to off-set this generous move on the part of that body and I know of nothing so essential as a Domestic Science building in connection with the college. That it will meet the demands of the hour goes without saying.

"After talking with many Washington citizens from the 1st of May last I have endeavored to find some one, or indeed, some society, that would consent to grant this much needed adjunct and also maintain it. Now I have it and feel sure that if the citizens of Washington desire it they can have a building in which DOMESTIC SCIENCE—TWO their girls can be taught how to work, sew, etc."

"While in the City of Minneapolis," said Mr. Warren, "I talked this important question over with the leading members of the Womans' Home

Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Shortly afterwards I returned from Minneapolis. Within a few days I received a proposition from a lady something like this: 'I will give $10,000 towards the creation of a $20,000 building at Washington, N. C.' This good lady gives $10,000 on a $20,000 building and the citizenship of Washington is asked to contribute to this much needed and essential proposition. Already $2,000 is subscribed towards the remaining $10,000. If Washington wants this needed enterprise the citizens are to answer.

"I was invited by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to prepare this address, which appeared in Thursday's afternoon Daily News. Encouraged by Congressman Small, George T. Leach and others, I have solicited help from only two men on the $10,000 proposition. I am glad to state that I have received promises of $1,000 each."

Mr. Warren with enthusiasm stated to the staff representative of the Daily News: "If the citizens will raise $5,000 that he would guarantee that the remainder would be forthcoming."

At this juncture the newspaper man inquired where the school building for Domestic Science would be located?

"Why, at Washington Park, of course, where the college is to be. It is the intention to accommodate at least 100 girls. In this hall every girl will be taught how to cook, to serve meals, how to sew, how to study and in a general way all the housework. This will be an addition to the regular school work."

Mr. Warren was then asked: "Have you any other schools of this character?"
"Yes," replied Mr. Warren, "we have one such school in the State, which has been in operation for the past three years. This school is located at Meisenheimer, near Salisbury, N. C.; we also have one at Athens, Tenn., which has been there for twenty years. At the school in Tennessee more than 2,000 girls have been trained for the necessities of life.

In reply to the question are all well patronized, Mr. Warren stated "we are unable to accommodate all the applicants for instruction." The question was then asked what change if any would the erection of the Domestic Science Hall make in the plans of the main building? He said "that the erection of this Domestic Science Hall will evidently make the main building more attractive and double the enrollment; the very first year."

Washington should endeavor and leave nothing undone to secure this much needed building. We cannot afford as a community not to have it.

HARRIS HARDWARE COMPANY GETS A MAMMOTH CONTRACT

The Harris Hardware Company has just closed a contract with the North Carolina College for the care of the Feeble Minded to place the plumbing in all the buildings. The outlay will amount to as much as $5,000 and work will begin as soon as the material is received.

This speaks well for this enterprising Washington firm who are always up-to-date and ready to compete with any similar firm in North Carolina.

The contract for the plumbing work was closed Thursday last. This institution bids to be one of the greatest and most useful institutions within the bounds of North Carolina and the managers could not have secured a better or more competent firm than the Harris Hardware Company to do the plumbing work. Both the institution and the local firm are to be congratulated.

HON. W. M. BOND SPEAKS AT COURT HOUSE MONDAY

Washington is to hear one of the most gifted speakers within North Carolina at the Court House on Monday next at noon in the person of Hon. W. M. Bond, who is to address the citizenship of Beaufort County in the interest of Hon. F. M. Simmons for the United States Senate. Mr. Bond is no stranger to Beaufort county. He always entertains and instructs his hearers and all who hear him Monday at the Court House will be amply repaid.

Messrs. H. H. Carrow, Claude Carrow and Herman Carrow have returned from the Richmond Fair.

Mr. J. W. Bell, of Belhaven, N. C., was on our streets today.
