NEW YORK WORLD PREDICTS LANDSLIDE FOR WILSON IN THE NATION

Estimates gathered by World correspondents in every State in the country and based upon the figures of the leaders of all parties indicate little change in the forecast of the national election published by The World last Sunday. These indications are as follows:

That Wilson and Marshall will carry 39 of the 48 States, with a total of 484 out of 531 electoral votes States with a total of 33 electoral votes.

That Col. Roosevelt will carry two States with a total of 15 electoral votes.

That the Democrats will surely win three Senate seats and have an overwhelming majority in the House.

That the popular plurality for Wilson and Marshall will exceed 2,500,000 votes.

That the plurality for Wilson and Marshall in New York State will approximate 120,000.

That Sulzer will have a plurality of at least 60,000 over Hodges, the regular Republican candidate, who will in turn lead Straus, the Progressive candidate.

That both the New York State Senate and Assembly will be Democratic.

The figures are not conclusive in many of the States and do not imply that no States are debatable; but the estimates indicate so decided a trend toward some one of the three Presidential candidates that each is credited accordingly by correspondents eager to furnish an estimate that will be borne out on Election Day.

In Michigan, for instance, there is noticeable a pronounced shift from the Progressive to the Republican cause, thereby increasing the chances of Governor Wilson for carrying the State. A week ago the Progressive candidates seemed certain of a plurality over the Democratic candidates, but the marked change reported indicates a healthy improvement in the Democratic situation. The revised estimates are now that the vote of the Wolverine State will be distributed this way: Wilson, 225,000; Taft, 175,000; Roosevelt, 200,000.

Both the Republican and Progressive leaders in Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois privately admit the strong probability of the electoral votes being awarded to the Democratic candidate. Having become reconciled to this conclusion,

Overwhelming Sweep For Gov. Wilson Shown in The World Canvass

New York, Nov. 5.—The vote cast for President at today's elections throughout the United States will exceed all previous records, if today's predictions are fulfilled.

Reports from all States indicate intense partisanship as the election draws near; an unusual activity on the part of campaign leaders to "get out the vote"; and developments in the three-cornered Presidential contest which indicate a determination to bring every voter to the polls.

Colonel Roosevelt, in a statement directly charges that the New York Republican leaders are urging voters to support Wilson, to make the defeat of Roosevelt certain. This statement was met with general denial from the Republican State leaders.

From Governor Wilson and his New York headquarters came further admissions to Democratic leaders to get the voters to the polls so that the maximum Democratic vote should be cast.

ACCEPTS POSITION.

Mr. Herman Carrow, formerly with the drug firm of Worthy and Etheridge, has resigned his position for the purpose of accepting a position with the Hassel Supply Company. He has already entered upon his new duties and has the best wishes of his many friends.

HAS SMALL POX.

The many friends of Mr. L. A. Squires, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, will regret to learn that he is now confined to his home on West Second street suffering with a slight attack of small pox. The condition of Mr. Squires is reported to be much better today. Every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Mr. Squires' son, who is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever is getting on nicely.

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL AT MRS. DUMAY'S HOME

The most enjoyable social event of the many held in Washington this season was the Halloween party given at the lovely home of Mrs. A. M. Dumay on West Main street Friday evening last. The hostess again proved her charms as an entertainer and those present on this occasion were more than complimentary. Bridge whist was played until a late hour with much interest. Mrs. Henry Bridgman made the highest score and she was awarded the first prize, being a pumpkin filled with mints. Miss Adeline Mayo, having the lowest score received the booby, which was a noisy pumpkin fan.

The hostess opened the spacious dining-room which proved to be both attractive and well looking, being decorated in autumn leaves with all sizes of pumpkins faces hanging between the autumn leaves, and witches, green-eyed cats and other reminders of the night when the spirits walk. The tables was a bit of decorative art. The refreshments were very appropriate. Small pumpkin pies, ginger cakes, cider, apples with salad, cat sandwiches, ghost and devil cakes, cherry ice, etc.

The score cards with cats and pumpkins bearing an appropriate inscription. The fans were little pumpkin faces with fiery red tongues. The dining-room was darkened and only the dim lights of the pumpkin faces and the candleabras made an effect that although weird was nevertheless attractive and much complimented by the guests of the evening. The scheme was a unique one and the hostess was congratulated and justly so, upon her original reception. The function was a conspicuous success and Mrs. Dumay has again shown her graciousness as an entertainer. Her receptions are always anticipated with pleasure by her guests. Those present were:

Madame D. T. Taylor, C. F. Warren, G. T. Leach, John Rodman, J. K. Hoyt, J. B. Moore, A. C. Hathaway, J. D. Gorham, T. H. Clark, Fred Pratt, H. W. Carter, Elizabeth Windley, William Percival, Richmond; James Ellison, Walter Wolfe, J. H. Hodges, Henry Bridgman, Edward L. Stewart, Misses Nan Waddy, Marcia Myers, L. T. Rodman, Adeline Mayo, Mayme Burbank, Julia Hoyt, Elizabeth Warren, Frances Satchwell and Pearl Campbell.

REV. C. M. ROCK RETURNS TO GREENVILLE LAST NIGHT

On account of pressing duties in his own pastorate, Rev. C. M. Rock returned to Greenville, N. C., on the early Norfolk Southern train. Last night the congregation of the First Baptist church expressed their deepest appreciation to him for his faithful services, and regretted that he must leave ere the revival closed. It is the consensus of opinion that his labors in Washington have accomplished much good.

DR. RODMAN MOVING TO HIS NEW OFFICE TODAY

Dr. John C. Rodman, whose office has been at the corner of Market and Main streets for the past several years, is today being moved to his building on East Main street. The doctor's new suite of rooms are among the most attractive in the city.

ELECTIONS RETURNS.

Full returns of the election both national, state and county will be received in the Court House this evening. The returns, according to Manager Z. M. Potts, of the Postal Telegraph Company, will begin to be received between 7 and 8 o'clock. The Daily News on tomorrow morning will furnish the late returns to all its readers. Patrons of the paper should watch their front doors early and get their paper.

Every convenience will be placed in the Court House for the prompt receipt of the returns. See Daily News for first full report.

AT PAYNE MEMORIAL.

Rev. H. B. Searight, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach at the Payne Memorial church, Nicholsonville, on Thursday evening next at 7:30 o'clock. All have a cordial invitation to be present.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT THE SCHOOL BUILDING

Of all spooky things, what is more so than a Halloween party, especially when most every guest is robed in ghostly white and moves around among the crowd in a slow and mysterious manner? The halls and rooms of the school building were gloomily lighted. A few candles flickered here and there, and the grinning faces of pumpkin lanterns looked down to arouse in you a distinct feeling of fear.

The guests were welcomed by a group of spirits, and ushered into a dismal place where norville moanings and groanings were heard, and weird lights were seen. The experience which you went through with were enough to make you a victim of melancholia, and were only too glad to get out into a more agreeable atmosphere where fun is going on. Some were bobbing for apples in tubs of water; others were biting at them hung in the air on strings, and others trying in various ways to learn their future fates.

A ghost-story contest was next in order, and Miss Eunice Gibbs, who succeeded in relating the most gruesome, won the prize offered, a box of note paper.

During the evening Halloween fruits and confections were served by attending spirits. Halloween favors on which were written your peculiarities and future career, were distributed. After spending an entertaining evening, the guests departed, voting the members of the Comellian Club very charming hostesses.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this method of extending our thanks to the members of the fire department and the citizens generally for their prompt aid in assisting in saving our residence from the fire and on Sunday evening last. We are more than grateful and shall ever remember those who so kindly assisted us.

Respectfully,
MR. & MRS. A. M. DUMAY.

BULL TERRIER AND BABY OR INTERRUPTED PROPOSAL

These two plays will be presented Thursday evening at the Public School Auditorium at eight o'clock under the auspices of the local alumnae association of the State Normal College of Greensboro, for the benefit of the Beaufort county scholarship. Other features of the program will be: Gold Dust Twins Cake Walk; Quakers Courtship—a song; A Little Girl in Trouble—a recitation. Specialties by Mr. Herman Carrow. This is a most worthy cause, as the proceeds will go to establish a scholarship to assist the poor ambitious girls of Beaufort county to secure an education. The entertainment promises to be a very interesting and entertaining one and should be generously patronized by the people of Washington. The entertainment will be given by local talent under the direction of Miss Lucy Cobb, of Chapel Hill, N. C.

J. K. HOYT TO PURCHASE ANOTHER STOCK OF GOODS

Mr. J. K. Hoyt left this morning for Northern markets, where he was compelled to go to meet the demands of his increased trade this season in order to have bargains for his numerous customers. This trip on the part of Mr. Hoyt is to secure another line of unheard-of bargains for his customers. He will return within the next few days. Watch his space in the Daily News.

HAS FEVER.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Newbold will regret to learn that their son is suffering from an attack of fever. It is to be hoped that he will soon be convalescent.

REGULAR COMMUNICATION.

There will be a regular communication of Orr Lodge, A. F. and A. M., at their hall this evening at 8 o'clock. All visiting brethren cordially invited.

WILSON HURT IN A MOTOR CAR SMASHUP YESTERDAY

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Governor Woodrow Wilson tonight wears a narrow strip of colloid and gauze across the top of his head, covering a scalp wound 3 inches long, which he received early today in a motor car mishap on the way home from Red bank, N. J. His automobile struck a mound in the road and jolted him against a steel rib in the roof of the limousine car. The wound is not serious and the Presidential nominee will fulfill his speaking engagements in Paterson and Passaic, N. J., tomorrow night, and attend to his correspondents as usual early tomorrow.

Tonight the governor was in the parlor of his home, the center of a group of friends. There was nothing in his manner to indicate he had met with any mishap. He said he did not feel the wound in the slightest degree and had not even developed a headache from it.

"I guess I'm too hard headed to be hurt," he said, smilingly, as he received the correspondents.

Dr. J. M. Carnochan, the governor's family physician, who dressed the wound, issued the following statement about it tonight:

"When I saw Gov. Wilson this afternoon I found he had received a laceration of the scalp, about three inches in length. Otherwise he was in good condition and seemed to be suffering from no ill effects."

The governor's family was kept busy answering the telephone tonight, alleviating the worry of friends who had heard alarming reports, they said, about the accident. The mishap occurred in the early hours of the morning. The governor had spoken last night at Red Bank and left for Princeton, a distance of 45 miles, shortly before 11 o'clock. He rode in the limousine car of Abraham I. Sikos, a New York lawyer, who lives at Red Bank, accompanied by Captain William J. McDonald, his personal body guards, who was shaken up and bruised.

"The machine was running about 15 miles an hour," narrated the governor tonight, "and we were going very smoothly near Hightstown, when the jar came. The chauffeur did not see the mound of earth being decelerated by a shadow being thrown across the road. As we struck, Captain McDonald was thrown against the roof of the car. I felt of my head and found that it was bleeding. I knew I wasn't seriously hurt, but knew that it was imprudent to continue the journey in the cold, so we stopped some passerby and within a few minutes found the home of Dr. Titus, at Hightstown. He dressed the wound carefully, cleaned it, and we went on to Princeton."

The physician shaved the governor's head surrounding the injury and the strip of antiseptic plasters partly covered the bald spot. His suit was stained with blood as the wound bled profusely at first. He said he was not disturbed in the least by the accident, but that Mrs. Wilson probably was worrying about his delay in getting home. He did not telephone anybody the accident and asked Dr. Titus not to say anything about it until he reached Princeton. And when the governor arrived at home after 3 o'clock in the morning, his hat covered the wound and most of the family had gone to bed. It was not known in the Wilson household, therefore, until about noon today that he had been hurt.

The nominee had to repeat the story of the accident several times during the day. "It was a hard blow," he remarked, "but my hat acted as a cushion, though not a very soft one."

SIX LIVES LOST IN WRECK OFF N. C. COAST

New Inlet Life Saving Station, N. C., Nov. 5.—A lone survivor of the crew of the New York schooner John Maxwell, driven on the treacherous Hatteras shoals, during the night while bound from Norfolk to Savannah and broken in two by a raging sea, clung tenaciously in the rigging of the wreck when darkness fell tonight, while life savers from this and nearby stations watched helplessly for an opportunity to rescue him. A United States battleship from the Southern drill grounds and a revenue cutter tonight are steaming full speed to reach the spot in an attempt to save him.

Six lives already have been lost in the wreck, five of the men having disappeared in the huge waves before dawn today. The sixth sailor hung onto the rigging until late this afternoon, when benumbed by cold and exhausted by the lashing of the waves, he was forced to release his hold and was swept to death in the sea. The lone survivor, through glances, appeared to be an aged man. An all day battle was waged by the life savers, but the tremendous sea and 40-mile gale made it impossible for them to launch their boats. Capt. Etheridge, of this station, aided by Capt. Westcott, of the Pea Island, and Capt. Midgett, of the Chicamacostation, with their men endeavored to get to the wreck and bring the two seamen ashore.

Repeatedly during the day the life savers shot lines over the Maxwell, but the men in the rigging apparently, were too numbed by cold, or too exhausted to attach it to the rigging. Failure to get the line fastened so the breeches buoy might be sent out prevented a rescue in this way.

The coast guardians again and again tried to put their life boats to sea, but each time were repulsed by the relentless waves.

Word was sent to Norfolk, where the navy yard wireless flashed the plight of the vessel and men to the Atlantic fleet on the Southern Drill Grounds. News came back here that one of the ships would steam as near the shoals as possible and attempt to rescue the men from the sea.

The coastwise telegraph also brought word that the Revenue Cutter Service would send a vessel.

OBSERVER PREDICTS FOR SIMMONS FIRST PRIMARY

The Charlotte Observer, one of North Carolina's most conservative papers, predicts the election of Hon. F. M. Simmons in the first primary over both Kitchin and Clark by a majority ranging from 20,000 to 30,000. That paper also predicts that there will be 46 Democrats in the Senate and 106 Democrats in the House in the next General Assembly.

The interest indicated at the First Baptist revival last night was such that it was decided to continue the meeting. The pastor, Rev. H. P. Dalton, will preach tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

REVIVAL SERVICES WILL BE CONTINUED

The interest indicated at the First Baptist revival last night was such that it was decided to continue the meeting. The pastor, Rev. H. P. Dalton, will preach tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

GREAT SPEECH BY W. A. LUCAS LAST NIGHT

A great speech was delivered at the Court House last night by Hon. W. A. Lucas, of Wilson, N. C., in the interest of the candidacy of Hon. F. M. Simmons for the United States Senate. A large number were present to hear the distinguished speaker. He was charmingly and ornately presented by Mr. J. F. Taylor, of this city. The speaker showed convincingly that he people of North Carolina should go to the polls today and cast their vote for Simmons. His address was one of the very best delivered in Washington during the campaign and no doubt his words of advice will be heeded by the voters today as they cast their vote in the senatorial fight.

IN WESTERN MARKETS.

Mr. Howard Winfield has gone to Western markets for the purpose of purchasing a car load of horses and mules. Watch for his announcement upon his return.

PUTTING DOWN WELL.

The Public School Trustees are having a well driven on the property of the school for the purpose of affording the pupils of the schools pure drinking water. The well will be bored at least one hundred feet. Mr. Robert Tripp has the contract.
