THE PROPER SPIRIT.

In the Raleigh Evening Times of yesterday appeared an editorial referring to our townsman, Mr. George Hackney, Jr., which will doubtless be read with interest by his numerous friends. It follows:

The tribute paid by Washingtonians to George Hackney, Jr., the youthful manufacturer of that city, was well deserved. It is not often that a man 25 years old is in charge of a business costing $250,000, and it is seldom that such a youth starts this business and keeps it going as Mr. Hackney has done. He is a credit to Washington. His payroll is $5,000 a month and his factory turns out more than 8,000 buggies, phonographs and wagons a year, their value being something like $400,000. Mr. Hackney was described by Congressman Small as "one of Washington's best assets." If that town has many other assets in the class of the young manufacturer, it is destined to become a great city.

It is so much better to recognize worth when it is appreciated than to wait until recognition can help only relatives.

YOUR CHANCES FOR CONSUMPTION.

Your chances for consumption are good. Indeed, they are entirely too good. Here are some interesting facts about your chances:

Last year about 13 1-2 per cent. of all deaths in North Carolina, or one out of every seven, were caused by consumption. You run more chances of dying from consumption than from any other disease. Pneumonia comes second, followed by diarrhoeal and heart diseases.

Children and old people have the least to fear from consumption, but about one death out of every four occurring between the ages of twenty and forty is due to consumption.

Consumption exists and can be cured all the way from the equator to the pole. Your chances for consumption depend far more upon what you do than upon where you live. Those who work and live in foul, dusty, dirty places, such as cigar makers, tobacco workers, saloon keepers or stone cutters, run five times as many chances of dying from consumption as farmers or lumbermen.

But don't lose hope. You can easily make your own chances against consumption infinitely better than those of the farmer or outdoor worker. Their chief advantage is in the fresh air they get when they are at work. But they don't work all the time, and so they don't get an abundance of fresh air all the time. Very few of them get enough fresh air in their bed rooms if they can keep it out. The same thing is true of their living rooms.

If you want to have as good chances against consumption as the farmer, get fresh air ten or twelve hours a day. If you want to have better chances, get it twenty-four hours a day.

It has been found that the majority of those suffering from consumption are persons who have lived irregular or unhygienic lives, or who are compelled, in order to gain a livelihood, to work in unhealthy surroundings.

Remember that the dangerous germs coughed and sneezed out in the air are not so likely to infect us if we keep them well swept out with a constant flood of fresh air.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Having this day qualified as the executor to the last will and testament of the late Fenner B. Guilford estate, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present same on or before the 18th day of November, 1912, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to the said estate are hereby notified to make immediate payment. This the 18th day of November, 1912. M. E. GUILFORD, Executor.

How to Get Rich.

One of the richest men of a certain Indiana county is known as well by his penurious habits as by his bank account. A short time ago he invited an old friend to dine with him. Accepting the invitation, the friend was piloted to one of the cheapest "hotels" in the place and two dinners were ordered at 25 cents each. A second cup of coffee was ordered by the guest and when he finished it, the pair, after the bill of 55 cents was paid, meandered out on the street. Noticing his host's downcast expression and silence, he asked what had come over him. "Nothing," said the host. "But something must be wrong," said his friend. "Well," said Croesus, "I can't understand how my bill was 55 cents." "Oh," said the guest, "I had a second cup of coffee—but I'll pay for it." He at once took a nickel out of his pocket and Croesus accepted it.—Indianapolis News.

Cure for Snoring.

The invention of a light steel bar to be held against the upper lip to clamp to prevent persons from snoring is announced in the patent office. Many persons are convinced that a snoring driven off by the invention is the only permanent cure.

The trouble will not be over until we find out whether the American or the National league champions are the better ball players.

A Pennsylvania man died at a ball game while rooting for the winning team. From a "fan's" view he died at the summit of earthly bliss.

The New York commissioner of police had his pocket picked. Under present conditions in that city, this seems like adding insult to injury.

A female fly lays 120,000 eggs in a single season; but that's because she can't spend three-fourths of her life snackling over it.

Elbert Hubbard recommends baseball as a cure for "nerves." Evidently Elbert isn't really interested in any penient outcomes.

Now it appears that the English beauty who planned to see the United States in two days is an actress. Score another point for the alert press agent.

Bad living and intemperance, unless a person has a peculiarly rugged constitution, make him a favorable subject for consumption.
