Asphalt and an Accident.

Asphalt, with which so many roads are paved, was found by accident many years ago in England and natural rock asphalt was discovered, and for more than a century it was used for the purpose of extracting the rich stores of bitumen it contained. In time it was noticed that pieces of rock which fell from the wagons and were crushed by the wheels formed a marvellously fine road surface when substituted by the heat of the sun. A proper road of asphalt rock was then made, following upon the discovery, and in 1854 an experimental roadway was laid in Paris. From that time the use of rock asphalt for the making of roads and pavements has increased and extended to many countries.

He Could Dodge.

"There's nothing slow about Jones," he said reflectively. "The other laughed scornfully. "I guess you never loaned him any money," he said. "Oh, yes, I have," replied the first speaker. "That's what made me speak that way. I loaned him $10 six months ago, and I haven't been able to catch him since."

Willie Explains.

"Willie," said the teacher, "is there any difference between the words 'sufficient' and 'enough'?" "Yes, ma'am," replied Willie. "Sufficient is when mamma thinks I've eaten enough pie, and 'enough' is when I think I have eaten sufficient."—Chicago News.

A Little Bit Late.

Briggs—Everybody should lay up something for a rainy day. Griggs—True. But too many wait until it begins to sprinkle before starting to do so.—Boston Transcript.

Gluck's Opera.

In opera writing Gluck established the tradition of five acts to each work, with ballets in the second and fourth acts.

Arrangement dims the luster of the most brilliant intellect and dulls the edge of the sharpest wit.

The Ruling Passion.

A young contractor in a Missouri town found himself after the war in dire financial straits. He owned a few pieces of property, all of which were mortgaged, the mortgage in each instance being held by an old man who lived with his one son, Brocky, in a tumble-down hut that could not be rented to any one else. In the course of time the mortgagee foreclosed, taking over all the contractor's property, which was valued in excess of the amounts loaned. The contractor began to pay rent on the house in which he lived. Three months after the foreclosure the miser lay dying. An urgent message reached the contractor, and he, supposing that the other, knowing his end to be near, wanted to make what restitution he could for the good of his soul, hurried down to the cabin. He found the old man in a rickety bed, covered with a tattered quilt and an old overcoat. The contractor bent his ear hopefully to the other's lips. The miser drew a long breath, clutched the quilt in a stony hand and whispered: "Pay your next month's rent to Brocky."—Kansas City Star.

Bull Chasing in London.

From the time of King John till 1859 Nov. 13 was known as bull running day in Stamford. A seventeenth century historian gives an interesting account of the observance.

The butchers provide the bull and place him overnight in a stable belonging to the alderman. The next morning proclamation is made by the bellman that each one shut up his shop door and gate and none under pain of imprisonment do any violence to strangers; none to have any iron upon their bull clubs or other staves, which they pursue the bull with. Which proclamation being made and the gates all shut up, the bull is turned out of the alderman's house, and then hives sky-rocketing, men, women and children of all sorts and sizes, with all the dogs in the town running after him.

At the close of the chase the animal was killed and its flesh sold at a nominal rate to the burghers.—London Spectator.

Way to Apply For a Job.

Having lost three jobs for which he had applied, after he seemed in a fair way to get any one of them, a certain young man was figured out where he made his mistake.

"I referred to wages and hours before the interview was three minutes old," he explained.

Ordinarily the business world recognizes the right of the applicant to know how much money he is going to make each week and how long each day he will be expected to work and how many days a week. This is collective recognition.

The thorough business men will not close an interview until he has brought up the subject of pay and working hours. He wants it understood, of course, before he employs any one, but when the applicant makes the first mention of it a bad impression is created.—Chicago Tribune.

Reasonable Objection.

Conan Doyle was once asked why he didn't establish a detective agency and employ Sherlock Holmes—acting in conducting the business. "For the very good reason," he replied, "that all the knots Sherlock Holmes untied were of my own tying. I should fail if I undertook to unravel other people's entanglements. I believe that on one occasion I could have done so, though. I was in a tailor shop when a rather unattractive man was selecting a pair of trousers. He flatly objected to striped goods, and I got the idea that he was an ex-convict. To satisfy myself I visited one or two prisons and sure enough, found the man's picture in the rogues' gallery. He had had enough of striped clothes."—Detroit Free Press.

TIPS FOR ROAD BUILDERS.

Go over the whole of the new cutting every day or two with the rake and never leave the stone in ridges.

If you have no ring gauges remember Macdonald's advice that any stone you cannot put easily into your mouth should be broken smaller.

Use chips for binding newly laid stones together and remember that road sweepings, ash or grass and other rubbish when used for this purpose will ruin the best road ever constructed.

Remember that water wears or rounded stones should never be used upon steep gradients or they will fall to bind together.

Remember that the middle of the road should always be a little higher than the sides, so that the rain may run into the side gutters at once.

Never allow the water tables, gutters and ditches to clog up, but keep them clear the whole year through.

Always be upon your road in wet weather and at once fill up with chips any hollows or ruts where the rain may lie.

Could Shout For Joy.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no superior. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at The Hardy Drug Store.
