The delegates who are planning to hold a parade in Washington the day before the inauguration originally intended to wear ancient Greek and Roman costumes, but abandoned the idea when they thought of Washington's usual brand of inauguration weather.

Professor Willis Moore of the weather department is being boomed for secretary of agriculture, but if he does not give us better weather on March 4 than on previous inauguration days it is easy to see his finish.

The first fish story of the year concerns a Tarrytown man who claims to have caught three fish at one throw of his one hook. Who said that this matter of fact age deprives us of imagination?

A New York newspaper fantasist is saying the big town has no ghosts. New York is so close to the nether world and ghosts see in terror.

Cheer up! We have many blessings. For one thing, the sixty-second congress is nearly at an end.

UNIT SYSTEM IN THE SCHOOLS

Tulsa, Okla., Adopts a New Idea For Its Buildings.

CLASSROOMS IN GROUPS.

Entire Block is Built Around a Quadrangle—In Addition to Educational Uses Will Be a Social Center and Playground.

Tulsa, Okla., is setting an example for the United States in modern school buildings. A contract has been let for the first group of buildings of what will be known as the unit school system. Instead of one large building there will be several two room units, arranged in a quadrangle around a 300 foot square block, with an assembly room on the ground floor. The classroom units will be 30 by 52 feet, and the assembly hall will be 50 by 60 feet, seating 400 persons. There will be no inner halls or corridors. An outer corridor of concrete within the quadrangle will take the place of the usual classroom. This corridor will be so constructed that it can be used as an amphitheater from which to witness the amusements of the playground. In the basement of the assembly hall will be a swimming pool. In that basement also will be the heating plant, which will serve the entire quadrangle by means of concrete ducts. Each unit will be ventilated by a natural gravity force from independent plants. One of the classroom units will be given over to the domestic science department. The arrangement of buildings will permit of a new playground 200 feet square. It will be equipped with baseball diamond, tennis courts and playground apparatus for small children. The ground will be ample for football

Cheer up! We have many blessings. For one thing, the sixty-second congress is nearly at an end.

The new system is designed to be of benefit to the adults of the school district as well as the children. The playground and swimming pool will be open to the public at certain hours, and the assembly hall will be at the disposal of the neighborhood for public gatherings. The idea of the unit school system originated with H. C. McClure, a member of the board of education. Since Tulsa decided to make the experiment the idea has been favorably commented on throughout the country. The Chicago Playgrounds association, of which Jane Addams is an officer, has declared it to be one of the most practical plans for school buildings that has ever been presented.

SCOUTING FOR TIN CANS.

Boys Do Good Work in Cleaning Up the Village Street. There are 250,000 Boy Scouts of America, and every last one of them has promised to keep his hair combed, his teeth white, his hands scrubbed and his finger nails clean—in his compliance with the scout regulations. Recently the boys' activities in the direction of cleanliness have been skillfully steered to bigger things. They have been impressed into city street brigades for the picking of waste paper and the considerable litter swept from small shops into the highways.

In Toledo, Ohio, the boy scouts proved helpful to the citizens' committee, which insisted on better sanitary conditions throughout the municipality. In Syracuse and Rochester the schools were closed one day while the boy scouts carried on a campaign of cleanliness. In Monongahela, Pa., the boy scouts went out on a crusade against tin cans.

In Portland, Ore., the boy scouts cleaned up the back yards and vacant lots. In New Rochelle, N. Y., fifty scouts cleaned up back lots. In Washington boy scouts have made a specialty of personal health and sanitation.

An Up to Date Town Hall. The town of Spring Valley, Wis., has shown its enterprise by erecting a municipal building that is an improvement on the old style of town hall. It contains quarters for the public library and for a town and country club, an engine house and an opera hall, which is also used for public meetings of all kinds. A large dining room and kitchen are also included. The building is of concrete and presents a substantial and handsome appearance.

A New York judge has decided that $43 is enough to pay for a woman's attire. It is a good thing for that judge that woman suffrage and the judicial recall are not in force in his bailiwick.

Bernard Shaw has appealed to his audiences not to laugh during the performance of his plays. This is one time that Mr. Shaw is really funny.

This is a good word. J. Bruce Ismay is no longer managing director of the White Star line.

What the Lawyers Tell Us.

Chickens are not "live stock." This was the gist of a recent opinion by the Interstate commerce commission. A man has no authority to open his wife's letters, and he cannot give his attorney or any other person the right to open her personal mail. Assistant Patent Commissioner Tenant has decided that, while the assignee of the entire interest in an application for patent may be permitted to prosecute such application for patent to the exclusion of the inventor, the patent office cannot recognize a party having only an option to purchase. Under the older common law a person was entitled to kill all pigeons coming on his land. Pigeons are now regarded as property, however, and are protected by the law much to the same extent as domestic fowls. This means that a landowner is not justified in shooting them merely because of their coming on his property, but he may kill them where it is reasonably necessary to prevent their injuring or destroying his crops.
