SEARCH AND SEIZURE LAW AS PASSED BY LEGISLATURE

Act to Stamp Out Blind Tigers by Allowing Suspected Places to Be Searched By Officers

Reverend W. B. Windley is in receipt of an official copy of the new search and seizure law passed by the Legislature of North Carolina. This copy of the act comes direct from Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes, and therefore may be accepted as beyond question the official act, word for word, as passed by the General Assembly. The purpose of this law, as is well known, is the stamping out of blind tigers by allowing suspected places to be searched. The law follows:

H. B. 638
S. B. 221

An act to secure the enforcement of the laws against the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors. The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, association, or company, by whatever name called, other than druggists and medical depositaries duly licensed thereto, to engage in the business of selling, exchanging, bartering, giving away for the purpose of direct or indirect gain, or otherwise handling spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in the State of North Carolina. Any person, firm or corporation or association violating the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 2. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association or corporation, by whatever name called, other than druggists and medical depositaries duly licensed thereto, to have or keep in his, their or its possession for the purpose of sale, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors; and proof of any one of the following facts shall constitute prima facie evidence of the violation of this section:

First: The possession of a license from the government of the United States to sell or manufacture intoxicating liquors; or

Second: The possession of more than one gallon of spirituous liquors at any one time, whether in one or more places; or

Third: The possession of more than three gallons of vinous liquors at any one time, whether in one or more places; or

Fourth: The possession of more than five gallons of malt liquors at any one time, whether in one or more places; or

Fifth: The delivery to such person, firm, association or corporation of more than five gallons of spirituous or vinous liquors, or more than twenty gallons of malt liquors within any four successive weeks, whether in one or more places; or

Sixth: The possession of intoxicating liquors as samples to obtain orders thereon. Provided, that this section shall not prohibit any person from keeping in his possession wines and ciders in any quantity where such wines and ciders have been manufactured from grapes or fruit grown on the premises of the person in whose possession said wines and ciders may be.

Sec. 3. Upon the filing of complaint, under oath, by a reputable citizen, or information furnished under oath by an officer charged with the execution of the law, before a justice of the peace, recorder, mayor, or other officer authorized by law to issue warrants, charging that any person, firm, corporation, association or company, by whatever name called, has in his, their or its possession, at a place or places specified, more than one gallon of spirituous or vinous liquors or more than five gallons of malt liquors for the purpose of sale, a warrant shall be issued commanding the officer to whom it is directed to search the place or places described in such complaint or information, and if more than one gallon of spirituous or vinous liquors or more than five gallons of malt liquors be found in any such place or places, to seize and take into his custody all such intoxicating liquors described in said complaint or information, and seize and take into his custody all glasses, bottles, kegs, pumps, bars or other equipment used in the business of selling intoxicating liquors which may be found at such place or places and safely keep the same subject to the orders of the court. The complaint or information shall describe the place or places to be searched with sufficient particularity to identify the same, and shall describe the intoxicating liquors or other property alleged to be used in carrying on the business of selling intoxicating liquors as particularly as practicable, and any description, however general, that will enable the officer executing the warrant to identify the property seized shall be deemed sufficient. All spirituous, vinous or malt liquors seized under this section, shall be held and upon receipt of the person as charged, shall be returned to such person and, upon conviction, or upon default of appearance, shall be destroyed.

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any bank incorporated under the laws of this State, or national bank, or any individual, firm or association, to present, collect or in any way handle any draft, bill of exchange, or order to pay money, to which draft, bill of exchange, or order to pay money is attached a bill of lading, or order, or receipt for intoxicating liquors, or which draft is enclosed with, connected with, or in any way related to, directly or indirectly, for intoxicating liquors. Any receipt, any bill of lading order or receipt, firm, corporation or association or bank violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 5. All express companies, railroad companies, or other transportation companies doing business in this State are required hereby to keep a separate book in which shall be entered immediately upon receipt thereof the name of the person to whom the liquor is shipped, the amount and kind received, and the date when received, the date when delivered, and by whom delivered, and to whom delivered, after which record shall be a blank space in which the consignee shall be required to sign his name, or if he cannot write, shall make his mark in the presence of a witness, before such liquor is delivered to such consignee, and which said book shall be open for inspection to any officer or citizen of the State, county or municipality any time during business hours of the company, and said book shall constitute prima facie evidence of the facts therein and will be admissible in any of the courts of this State. Any express company, railroad company, or other transportation company or any employee or agent of any express company, railroad company, or other transportation company, violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, upon the filing of a certificate signed by a reputable physician or two (2) reputable citizens that the consignee is unable, by reason of sickness or infirmities of age, to appear in person, then the said company is authorized to deliver any package to the agent of said consignee and the agent shall sign the name of the consignee and his own name, and the certificate shall be filed on record.

Sec. 6. That in indictments for violating section one of this act it shall not be necessary to allege an extra section of one thousand nine hundred and eight.

Sec. 7. That this act shall not apply to any act committed prior to its ratification.

Sec. 8. That this act shall be in force from and after first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

LIEUTENANT OPTIMISTIC AS TO NAVAL RESERVES

Lieutenant Charles F. Horton, who has just returned from the unucky expedition of the Elfrida—unlucky as far as the pleasure of the boys was concerned, but lucky in that it proved their ability to endure hardship—promises to give out an enthusiastic interview as to the prospects of the Sixth Division, which are now brighter than ever.

Mr. Horton has been in conference with Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and the result of the conference is most gratifying.

The Elfrida has been discarded as unfit for these waters, and the yacht Sylph granted the Sixth Division to her place.

SPLENDID DAY AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The services at the First Presbyterian church yesterday were unusually interesting and uplifting. Large congregations were present at both hours of worship. Two members were received at the morning service.

The singing was of a high order. Rev. Mr. Boatright's address in the evening on the heroic life of David Livingstone, was very instructive and inspiring.

A special collection for foreign missions was taken at the night service, and the "Talent Money" and "Self-denying Envelopes" were brought in, and from all sources the sum of $500 was raised for this great cause.

The Sunday school was well attended, and a large offering made for the Barium Springs Orphanage.

LACKING A SUITABLE HALL, THEY DANCE AMID COFFINS

Olivet, Mich., March 22.—Dancing in a hall, the walls of which were lined with caskets, rough boxes and other funeral necessities—this was the unique experience of a number of Olivet village lads and misses the other night.

There is no place for the villagers to dance except in a large hall and the M. D. Burkhead furniture store, and in order to gratify the desire of a large number of his young friends the genial furniture man pushed all of his funeral paraphernalia to the sides of the room.

The majority of the participants were "wise" to the environment under which their fun was to be enjoyed, but one timid little miss was not expecting to be whirled around big black caskets and rough boxes and embalming fluid receptacles. One look was enough, and with a shriek she grabbed her escort's arm and rushed for the door. No entreaties could change her determination to leave the place.

Miss Ethel Cullens of Norfolk is in town visiting Mrs. M. E. Giles on Market street.

Look Into the World's Mirror Every Day

Have you stopped to think of your daily newspaper as the World's Mirror? Every time you look into your newspaper you see reflected the doings and happenings of the earth.

Not long ago you read a word picture of the Antarctic regions of the South Pole, of the experiences encountered by a band of brave and noble explorers. Recently you have had a glimpse into the Orient brought about by the Balkan war. You know a great deal about Mexico and her civil troubles. Today you are reading with keen interest the proposed tariff changes which may raise or lower your cost of living.

All these things are of great interest, but the thing that has to do with your cost of living is most important. One of these things is the advertising which appears in the Daily News every day. By reading the advertisements closely and constantly you will know where to buy and what to buy at the lowest prices. When you look into the World's Mirror, don't overlook the opportunities to economize.

YOUNG MEN WANT LEGITIMATE PLEASURE

There is a movement on foot among the young men of Washington for the establishment of a club, where any young man in town can obtain clean and wholesome amusement, as well as benefit from the high moral atmosphere which it is planned to maintain.

The club will be somewhat on the order of the various Y. M. C. A. associations scattered through the towns and cities of the country, but not, however, affiliated with that organization.

The young men intended at first to carry through the project themselves, but found the expense would be so great for each member that many desirable members would be excluded on account of not being financially able to join. It is also impossible to obtain suitable rooms without outside aid.

For these reasons, they are asking the business men of Washington to take out memberships by pledging $10 per year, in order to give assurance that quarters may be maintained, and in order that they may make club dues so low that no desirable members will be excluded, especially those still in school.

In addition to these memberships to be taken out by business men, a donation from anybody who desires to help the young men get started will be be thankfully accepted.

Following is a statement of their aims and purposes:

A Statement of Plans.

Every wide-awake business man is individually interested in and profits by any movement which benefits the town as a whole.

A good citizenship of upright, industrious young men is a great asset to any town, and what helps them to be good citizens, benefits the town as a whole.

Many young men in this town are ruining their characters seeking pleasure and means of spending their leisure hours.

At present in this town, the forces working toward the degradation of young manhood are by no means in excess of those working for their uplifting but they alone offer to the young man the amusements and pastimes which his nature craves. It is essential that he have legitimate and interesting recreation.

The business men of some towns of this size and of a great many more towns and cities having a large population support expensive Y. M. C. A. buildings or similar institutions.

This town is making great strides in progress and the business men are looking forward to great achievements in its upbuilding and this takes enthusiastic and industrious work in that direction. An enthusiastic and contented young manhood will surely help more toward this town's development than will a dissatisfied and discontented young manhood.

It is proposed:—To fit up and maintain suitable and attractive club rooms. These are to contain a reading room, a game room and a billiard or pool room.

To in no way tolerate drinking nor gambling in these rooms.

To limit the membership to young men between the ages of 16 and 30 years, who are trying to live a moral life.

To manage so as to keep up interest in the club, that its usefulness may be maintained.

To have Christian business men on our executive committee and with us in our rooms as much as possible.

Three times to our knowledge, similar organizations have been started here but in each case they failed to prosper. They were all right for awhile but interest soon vanished. The young men failed to avail themselves of the things offered them in the rooms which were fitted up for them. They loafed elsewhere. Why? Because the management did not take into consideration the inclinations of young men or else did not understand human nature.

We believe the business men will admit that our aims and the principles involved are all right, and will stand back of us if we can give them sufficient assurance that our project can be made permanent.

Something must have been wrong with the previous attempts to solve this problem; some fundamental mistakes must have been made, else interest would have been maintained.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED IN ROCKY MOUNT

Miss Margaret Squires was quietly wedded Saturday afternoon to Mr. Ernest Coley in Rocky Mount.

Miss Squires, who is one of the most popular young ladies in Washington, has been residing at the home of her brother, Mr. Lonie Squires, on West Second street. Mr. Coley, originally from Wilson, holds a responsible position with the Washington Buggy Co.

The announcement of this marriage is no surprise to the friends of the bride and bridegroom, for it had been previously rumored that they were engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Coley will make their home in Washington.

HAS LONDON BECOME A PAGAN CITY.

London, March 24.—Nobody reads the Bible any more, and London, alas! has become a pagan city.

So declares the Rev. Mr. Crawford, a missionary, who has just returned after twenty-three years' absence in Central Africa, and he is heart-sore, he says, over the godlessness of the British capital.

Dean Feuge of St. Paul, "the gloomy dean," does not agree with Dr. Crawford. London, he says, is not as irreligious as it looks to be to the casual observer.

On the other hand, the Rev. Dr. Horton, a leading Non-Conformist, who also is back here after a considerable absence, says:

"I notice with the utmost pain the appearance of Londoners. They are all worn, over-driven; the joy of life has gone from their faces. But I notice an intense religious love on the part of the people. There undoubtedly is a new type of woman. A great change has taken place in their demeanor. They behave like men, rather than like women, adopting a manner that is not an improvement, on the surface at least."

Vicar Daclington of St. Mark's Kensington, one of the largest Episcopalian churches in the working people's district, says:

"I think that there is a wave of indifference spreading all over London. The numerous council attractions to churches, such as lands and picture palaces, have something to do with this. Sunday in this city."

FANNY CROSBY IS 93.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 24.—Miss Fanny J. Crosby, the famous blind poetess, whose hymns have stirred the entire civilized world, received congratulations from all parts of the country today on her ninety-third birthday. No schoolgirl rejoicing in her 16th anniversary could be in gayer spirits than Miss Crosby, who lives with her niece, Mrs. Henry D. Booth, of this city.

"Right thinking," explained Miss Crosby, "that's what keeps people young. You often hear actors and physical culture faddists say that the mind cannot be healthy without a healthy body. Did you ever stop to think that the reverse may be equally true? If the mind is warped by prejudice and evil thoughts and selfishness what must be the result? You become a pessimist. Then may be your doctor tells you your liver is bad. It isn't your liver at all, it's your mind."

"That is the way to keep young. Keep your mind bright and cheerful and happy and then you will realize the joy of living to its fullest extent."

Devoted as Miss Crosby is to the most uplifting thoughts and ideals, it is the pride of her very wide awake intellect to keep abreast of the times in all matters.

CANDIDATES HAD TO SATISFY WOMEN.

Wichita, Kans., March 24.—All of the candidates who will be nominated at the primary election here today have had the O. K. of the woman suffragists put upon their candidacy. The election is to name men to run for mayor and city commissioners. Early in the month 600 women assembled at the city hall and a sized the would-be candidates, each of whom was given five minutes to tell why he should be nominated.

AMERICAN CHEMISTS MEET.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—The annual convention of the American Chemical Society which opened today in this city, has attracted about 700 scientific men from all parts of the United States. The meetings will be held in the assembly and lecture room of Marquette university. A special feature of the convention will be a visit to the various industrial plants of the city.

GATES DEDICATED AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Before the 11 o'clock service in St. Peter's Episcopal church, three memorial gates leading into the church grounds were consecrated with appropriate exercises by the rector, Rev. N. Harding.

The largest gate, opening upon East Main street, was erected by Mrs. W. L. Laughinghouse as a memorial to her husband, Wyatt L. Laughinghouse, who was born in 1841 and died last year, after a long and honorable life in service of his church and community.

The other two gates were at the main entrance to the church on Bonner street, and were both erected by the Rector's Aid Society.

One was in honor of Kate L. Carraway, founder of the Rector's Aid Society. The tablet on this gate bore the inscription, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

The other gate erected by the ladies of the Aid Society was a memorial to Virginia Ellison Bonner, who rendered valuable support to the church in the trying period at the close of the war. This gate bore the inscription, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

At the service immediately following, Rev. N. Harding delivered what has been pronounced by many the most inspiring sermon they ever heard from the lips of their reverend rector. His theme, appropriate to the day, was that of the Resurrection. Vividly indeed he portrayed the vast significance of that great event to mankind. He made the striking point that no power on earth was able to close the mouths of those whose eyes had beheld Christ after the Resurrection. Those who saw him thus gladly suffered death and torture rather than deny their experience.

At the afternoon children's service, held at 4 o'clock, Mr. John H. Bonner talked to the little ones.

LARGEST CONGREGATIONS YET AT METHODIST CHURCH.

At the morning service in the First Methodist church yesterday, Rev. R. H. Broom preached from Romans, 14th chapter and 7th verse, "For none of us liveth to himself and no man dwelleth to himself." The lesson which Mr. Broom drew from the above passage was that we do not belong to ourselves, and no man can follow his own will and hope for salvation. This central thought was developed in Mr. Broom's usual vigorous manner, and he closed very effectively with the words, "Not my will but Thine be done."

In the evening he took his text from Colossians, 3rd chapter, 4th verse, "When Christ, who is our life, appears, then we also shall appear with him in glory." From this text, the pastor developed a resurrection sermon.

The largest congregations, in the opinion of many, that ever assembled in this church, heard these two sermons. The collections—the one in the evening being for missions, were especially good.

Five new members joined the church in the evening on confession of faith.

THE 1913 COTTON CROP.

New Orleans, La., March 24.—The outlook for the cotton crop of 1913 is causing traders some anxiety on account of the conflicting reports as to the preparations for the new crop. It is generally assumed that acreage planted to cotton in 1913 in this territory will show an increase over last year, but nobody can tell about that for a month or so. There is a feeling of security as to the spring floods, danger being practically passed. Floods last spring caused some decline in planting, and resulted also in considerable abandonment of acreage which was planted. The boll weevil is expected to cut a more important figure in 1913 than in 1912, as the weather at no time during the winter has been cold enough to kill them off. However, improved methods of planting and cultivation may offset in a measure the inroads of the pest.
