For those who wish to cook more than one meal at a time, there are many recipes available. To make a Pear Shortcake, wash the pears with plenty of water and remove the cores and a little orange or lemon juice, to bring out the flavor. When pears are very tender, pass through a colander; add such additional seasoning as may seem necessary, and spread the same liberally over some old-fashioned shortcake crust. To make the latter, take two cupsful of flour, a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder, half a tablespoonful of lard and sufficient sweet milk to make the dough. Mix thoroughly, and bake until the crust is brown and crisp; then split it through the center, butter it generously, and cover with the fruit.

A cathedral clock, which is a masterpiece of art, was shown in the window of St. Paul's Cathedral in London. The clock was made by a watchmaker of the name of Robert Hooke. It is a fine specimen of the art of watchmaking. The clock is a masterpiece of art, and is a fine specimen of the art of watchmaking. The World's Telephones.
The number of telephones in the world is estimated at 2,500,000, of which 7,000,000 are said to be in use in America and 2,000,000 in Europe. The industry of statisticians is so great that possibly some one will turn his attention to the number of despairing entreaties made to the young women at the exchange in a year in London alone.

New Table Covers.
The latest touch in embroidered lunch cloths is to form them of alternate stripes of lace and fine linen. Flirt, fine Cluny, and copies of the old Venetian laces are used for these insertions, and a border of lace to match completes the cover.
This is a change from the square of lace and linen which have been popular for some time. On the handsomest cloths the strips of lace are embroidered in a conventionalized vine of satin stitch and eyelet embroidery; and the contrast of all have stripes of reticella, giving an open effect that is lovely over polished mahogany.
Sometimes a lining of satin in the palest tone of the floral decorations is used under these lace covers.

Coughs and Consumption.
Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by Hard's Drug Store.

His Fishing Trip
Hen Merrim never would say just what the black bass weighed. "I saw a man from Mourne county, and I guess Mark Sullivan didn't know, but the hammer weighed five pounds."
"It was a Sodus bay bass, and when Hen talked about wanting to go out and get it or one something like its size some one told him the bass ran so large in Sodus that fishermen who wanted to be on the safe side took a big hammer along with them to knock 'em in the head. So the hammer Hen Merrim took with him weighed almost as much as the cedar boat he rowed."
"Hen, being a railroad conductor, seemed to expect the bass to be right on schedule time in taking his hook after he had thrown in, and so when 15 minutes had passed, and no bass had come along, he decided it was so far behind time that he guessed it would have to be abandoned, and he was pulling up to go in when the bass came along and got the hook."
"Hen started right in to make up lost time and yanked that bass in hand over head. When the fish's head came in sight and within reach Hen grabbed his hammer, and before the time he brought the hammer down Hen was a blacksmith's anvil well on to his job."

"But Sodus bay bass are watchful and spry, and this one ducked and got out of the way of the hammer. The hammer kept right on coming down, though, and it had to hit something, and so it whanged into the side of the light cedar boat."
"It passed right on through the side of the boat, making a hole big enough to shove a stovepipe in. The hole being below the water line of course the water poured into the boat like a torrent, and Hen began to yell."
"Hay!" he yelled. "Somebody better get me extra good time over here, or there'll be trouble on this line!"
"And that was no joke, for Hen had hardly yelled that much when his boat sank and he was floating in the water trying to keep from following it. He had the hammer in one hand and held fast to his line with the other. Mark Sullivan was taking out bass in a boat near by, and he pulled for Hen right away."
"Don't stop for signals!" yelled Hen. "I'll be wide open, or this bass will get away!"
"Mark got there just in time to tug Hen into his boat, and Hen was no sooner in than he began hauling away on his bass, which was still on the hook. When he got it alongside the boat he handed the hammer to Mark, and while Hen held the bass with the top of his head out of the water Mark used the mallet on it."
"He tumbled the bass' skull in at the first clip. They lifted the fish into the boat and came ashore. Nobody has ever heard how much it weighed, for Hen Merrim didn't say and I guess Mark Sullivan never knew. When Hen told about the bass he just said it was so big it sank the boat."
"But if I find the man who told me to take that hammer along as part of my fishing tackle," said he, "he'll know how much I weigh!"
"Some say the boat cost Hen $40."

Air Consumed in a Minute.
In one minute in a static rest the average man takes into his lungs about 8 liters or 45.8 cubic inches of air. In walking he needs 18 liters or 97.6 cubic inches, in climbing 27 liters or 140.3 cubic inches, in riding at a trot 33 liters or 201.3 cubic inches, and in long distance running 57 liters or 347.7 cubic inches. —Scientific American.

RESULTS TELL
There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Washington. Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Washington citizen can be easily investigated. What better proof can be had? Mrs. Lina Arthur, Sr., 538 W. Second St., Washington, N. C., says: "I suffered greatly from dull nagging backaches. I could hardly get around at times, and was afraid to move on account of the knife-like twinges in my joints. My kidneys were weak and no doubt caused all this trouble. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box from the Hort Drug Co., I began their use. They relieved every symptom of my trouble." (Statement given January 13, 1907.)

CONFIRMED PROOF.
On November 15, 1910, Mrs. Arthur said: "I am willing to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have been of such great benefit to me that I am always glad to make their merits known."
