FOR THE BOND ELECTION.

Washington has made another big stride towards obtaining a cleaner and better city. Her progressive citizens rallied to her support yesterday and voted for an appropriation of $130,000 for the installation of a sewerage system and improving water conditions and $20,000 for the improvement of the electric light plant of the city.

We do not understand why there should have been any opposition at all. Evidently some of the voters of the city did not understand the subject very well and it is probably because of this fact that the election was not carried by a large majority. Why should anyone willfully vote against such a commendable proposition? Why should certain voters still desire to endanger their lives and the lives of their families by drinking polluted and poisonous water? Why should they be satisfied with the present unhealthy conditions due to the lack of proper sewerage? It's beyond us. We don't know the answer.

SINGING CLASS TONIGHT.

The Singing Class of the Oxford Orphanage will be at the Auditorium in the Washington High School tonight. It is hoped that a large number will be in attendance. An excellent performance is assured and besides you will have the gratification of knowing that you assisted in the support of one of the best organizations of its kind in the country. Be there.

Rats to Fear.

Some of the East African rats are numerous. The largest variety of rat, the giant rat, attains alarming proportions. These giant rats would give the most earnest cat had dreams, and a rough time if she were to encounter one of them on her marauding expedition.

A. J. Klein, taxidermist, Nairobi, who is collecting local specimens for an American museum, has some half a dozen examples. The rat varies from two feet to over thirty-two inches in length. The body, which is half its total length, is the color of an ordinary mouse, but is as large as that of a cat. The tail is sometimes an inch and a half and more in circumference at the base and varies from six to eight inches in length. These rats frequent the bush and are to be found in fair numbers in Nairobi, Limuru and other localities.—Potchefstroom Budget.

Explained.

"What is this civil service business that they are always talking about?" asked the boob. "What good does it do?"

"It's like this," replied the cheerful idiot. "If you have a job and you are not under civil service they can fire you any time they want to. But if you have a job under civil service they can't fire you unless they want to."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Combating Dust.

An English city is experimenting with granulated calcium chloride to combat dusty roads, applying about half a pound to the square yard.

Speed of Flying Ducks.

How fast ducks fly is a question that sportsmen have long debated. A correspondent of Forest and Stream throws some definite light on it. Business requires him to ride frequently on a railroad in New York state that skirts a large lake. Wild fowl, startled by the train, will sometimes fly for a long distance parallel to the track at a speed the same as that of the train, hence it was easy, by timing them and getting the speed rate of the train from the conductor, to learn how fast they were going. The rate varied from forty-seven miles an hour to a little over fifty. The belief of gunners that ducks sometimes travel at the rate of a mile a minute is therefore not far from the truth.

Old Sores.

that refuse to heal are caused by poison in the blood. Skin eruptions of old kinds are due to the same cause. The cure for such troubles is not an external application of some salve, ointment, etc. Such treatment does not penetrate to the cause of the trouble and consequently cannot really cure.

For obstinate sores and other eruptions of the skin, thousands of people have found prompt relief and a permanent cure by using

In Busy Towns and Cities
Oh how dusty, dusty,
Making furniture look nasty,
When the breeze is stirring bravely,
And the ground is dry and crisp,
In Busy Towns and Cities

In Washington Park
The air's dust, dusty, dusty,
In our furniture looks nasty,
And our carpets we brush lightly,
Stay clean and look brightly,
In Washington Park

In Busy Towns and Cities
Oh this dust makes air so thick,
Makes us all feel dull, yes hick,
As the breeze stirs up those nasty
Microbes: We eat them daily,
In Busy Towns and Cities

In Washington Park
Breeze here so pure and healthy,
Makes us rich in health, yes wealthy,
Then no dust to make us huffy,
So feel gay like Fluffy Fluffy,
In Washington Park

In Busy Towns and Cities
Autos stir up dust so thickly,
And we breathe it makes us sickly,
Why this air with dust kept hazy,
Can but set us almost crazy,
In Busy Towns and Cities

In Washington Park
Dustless air we have it dandy,
Yes, and picturesque scenes so handy,
Come then build your cottage cozy
And your life will be so cosy,

The Democracy of Death.
In the democracy of the dead all men at last are equal. There is neither rank nor standing nor prerogative in the republic of the grave. At this fatal threshold the philosopher ceases to be wise, and the song of the poet is silent. Direr relinquishes his millions and Lazarus his rags. The poor man is as rich as the richest, and the rich man is as poor as the poorest. The creditor loses his usury, and the debtor is acquitted of his obligation. There the proud man surrenders his dignities, the politician his honors, the workman his pleasures. The invalid needs no physician, and the laborer rests from unrequited toil. He is at last in nature's final degree of equity: The wrongs of time are redressed, injustice is expiated, the irony of fate is refuted, the unequal distribution of wealth, honor, capacity, pleasure and opportunity which makes life so cruel and inequitable ceases in the realm of death. The strongest there has no supremacy, and the weakest needs no defense. The mightiest captain succumbs to that invincible adversary, who disarms alike the victor and the vanquished.—John J. Ingalls.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help, Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with 'womanly trouble,' writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, 'and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer. I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die. At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains. Cardui worked like a charm.' There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease. Please try it, for your troubles. H. E. Wolff, for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chicago Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, 'Home Treatment for Women,' sent in plain wrapper, on request.
