Federal Building Almost Completed

VERY LITTLE REMAINS TO BE DONE ON NEW BUILDING. FIXTURES HAVE BEEN INSTALLED.

FINISHED BY JULY 1ST

IT IS BELIEVED THAT THE POST OFFICE WILL BE ABLE TO MOVE IN THE NEW BUILDING ON THE ABOVE DATE.

The work on the new Federal building is now almost completed. It is believed that the postoffice will be able to move into its new quarters by the first of July.

The plastering and woodwork on the building is finished, the lighting fixtures are all in place, windows have all been put up, flooring put down and the heating system is being installed now.

Besides a few minor details, all that is necessary now is the varnishing of the floors and the putting in of the furniture and equipment of the different rooms.

The postoffice department is finished. The boxes and railings have been put in place and everything appears to be in readiness for the opening. The boxes are of the "lock" type. Each box owner will be furnished with a key and will have to unlock his box every time he wants his mail. This system has been put in preference to the combination lock system which is in vogue in the present postoffice.

DANIELS MAY BE GOVERNOR?

MAY BE NEXT NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR WITHOUT A PARTY STRUGGLE.

SEEMS LOGICAL MAN

STORY FROM RICHMOND SAYS HE IS BEGINNING TO BE MENTIONED AS THE MAN FOR THE JOB

Richmond, June 12.—Men who claim to be close to the heart of political moves in North Carolina have brought to Richmond within the past few days the statement that Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, may be the next Democratic nominee for Governor without a party struggle. It must be said to the credit of Secretary Daniels, however, that he has not been engineering the campaign which makes the situation all the more complimentary, and shows that the people are beginning to appreciate what he has done to throw the national spotlight upon the Old North State.

While he has been a big power in Carolina politics, Secretary Daniels has not sought honors from his party at home. Years ago when William Jennings Bryan first took up the work of running for President, Mr. Daniels was picked up as a member of the Cabinet. Then long before Woodrow Wilson's candidacy was regarded seriously, Daniels went to work, plugged the opposition holes, labored day and night for the New Jersey Governor, and fixed things up so nicely that North Carolina stood by him fearlessly at Baltimore. After the election last November, it was simply a question as to whether the North Carolina Cabinet would be called upon to fill.

Since he has taken hold of the navy, since he has tolled for the uplift of the enlisted man, since he has endeavored to throw a little human interest in the service, and since he has figured so prominently in the public eye, the folks at home have turned to Joseph as the right man to pick up the affairs of the government when Locke Craig puts them down a few years hence. Of course, if President Wilson should be retained in 1916, he might desire to retain Mr. Daniels as Secretary of the Navy, but after serving four years in the cabinet, Mr. Daniels would hardly object to being nominated Governor of his own State. That nomination would be good to him as freely as if it were a good and beautiful unperfected diamond. Daniels is a politician.

C. O. D. PARCELS BY MAIL AFTER JULY FIRST

THAT HANDSAW IS A BUZZ SAW NOW.

Partner Hangs It on Tree and It Is There Still, For Bees Are On It. Morgan, N. C., June 12.—A large swarm of bees belonging to David Liscomb of Reynolds Bridge left the hive and alighted on a small limb of a tree yesterday. He arranged a new home for the family, got a saw with which to cut off the limb and started up a ladder, placed against the tree. Just then he remembered he had forgotten something in relation to the new hive. So he hung the saw on a limb near the swarm, descended and fixed the hive. On returning to cut the limb off he was surprised to find that the colony of bees had covered his saw completely. At last accounts the saw was still there. Bees ditto.

BROWDER & BROWDER AT LYRIC THEATRE TONIGHT.

Browder & Browder, a feature singing, talking and dancing act heads the list in a rich and refined vaudeville act at the Lyric Theatre tonight. These artists offer a number of catchy songs and a variety of changes equal to the best that can offer excellent amusement for the evening.

The motion picture program is another feature that deserves mention, as it is an unusual strong program and something that greatly appeals to all lovers of good photography.

The Bernhardt pictures exhibited last evening drew unsolicited praise and considered to a feature that has no equal in their class. The acting was perfect and scenic effect was beyond par.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather there were a good many that could not attend, and by special request from many of the patrons these pictures will be shown at the Lyric today through the courtesy of the management without extra admission price. Those who could not attend last evening will unquestionably find them to be a feature by itself, together with a vaudeville bill and the admission prices will be 10 and 20 cents.

The daily press of Vienna is very favorable to the conference. The Society for Promoting the Welfare of Visitors (Freundenverkehr), has given its co-operation; the Society for the Lace-making Trade, whose protector is the Arch-duchess Marie Joseph, has arranged an exhibition of magnificent lace and other work made by hand in the various crownlands of the Austrian empire.

Mrs. Prudenhofer, an American living in Vienna, whose address was one of the famous Frauengroschen Hof, will give a lecture on American women's clubs and other organizations; the Austrian League of Women Artists will give an exhibition and the actresses have planned a similar entertainment.

PREDICT A CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND

PASSING OF HOME RULE BILL ON SECOND READING IN COMMONS STIRS OPPONENTS.

London, June 12.—The House of Commons last night passed the second reading of the home rule for Ireland bill without division, an amendment by Mr. Balfour for the rejection of the measure having been defeated by a vote of 368 to 270. The announcement of the figures was received with cheering by liberals and nationalists.

The debate was marked by fiery declarations by the opposition speakers who predicted the imposition of home rule would result in civil war in Ireland. Sir Edward Carson, Irish Unionist leader, said: "For my part I will continue to support the Ulster men and will take full responsibility for their resistance. You may seize their arms or send troops but you will not settle the Irish question. You know that you are crowing about peace when there is no peace and you will fail in your object."

Lord Charles Beresford declared: "If the government sends troops to Ireland, I shall offer my services, poor as they may be and help my fellow countrymen."

John E. Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader, said, Sir Edward Carson had taken upon himself a grave responsibility and did not represent Ulster's opinion. The nationalists were willing to make any concessions.

"But," added Mr. Redmond, "twenty-four counties will not allow themselves to be intimidated by you."

The National Assembly embraces members of 250 State and municipal Civil Service Commissions representing all parts of the country. Its object is to promote by discussion and an interchange of views the cause of the merit system.

MANY PRESENT AT THE LYRIC LAST NIGHT

A large audience was present at the Lyric Theatre last night to see Sarah Bernhardt in "Queen Elizabeth."

This feature picture, which came in four reels, was one of the most interesting ever seen in this city and was viewed with pleasure by all those who were fortunate enough to be at the Lyric last night.

The scenery and setting was extremely beautiful and rich. In fact, "Queen Elizabeth" is one of the most costly productions that has ever been shown on a film.

Bluffton, S. C., June 12.—A clash between negroes and whites of this place is imminent today as the result of the killing yesterday of a negro suspected of having attempted to assault the wife of a prominent citizen yesterday. THE RAPID SPREAD OF ADVERTISING NEWS.

Many of the household articles in daily use in our homes, many of the perfected ideas in wearing apparel, and much of the advanced thought in living today would not now be benefiting humanity were it not for the advertising in newspapers like The Daily News.

As a concrete example much to the point, a prominent manufacturer and distributor of a footwear shoe for children—a shoe of special construction and down-to-the-date features—recently advertised in twenty of the principal cities east of the Mississippi river for a period of four weeks.

At the end of that time he experienced such a demand for this shoe that he has been unable to fill his orders on time for many weeks.

The public who read his advertisements in an incredibly short time learned, to its profit, about something that benefited it, something that filled a real need, and responded by practically doubling the manufacturer's business. By this systematic series of advertisements the producer, the retailer, and the consumer were helped. This is just one case. There are hundreds like it.
