HOW THE HOUSEWIFE CAN PRESERVE EGGS PERFECTLY.

The following is taken from the current issue of Farm and Fireside: "There are just two methods of storing eggs for future use that are worth considering. The first of these is to place them in a cold storage plant until needed. The other is to keep them by the use of water glass, or silicate of soda. This last is more convenient, and for the family costs less.

"Eggs kept in a solution of water glass for eight months are practically as good for every kitchen purpose as fresh eggs, except for the purpose of boiling. To be boiled successfully a small hole should be made with a needle in the large end of each egg, to permit the exit of air from the egg, which otherwise will burst the shell.

"Water glass is not a preservative. The eggs keep in it by reason of being hermetically sealed in their shells. The eggs to be kept should be perfectly fresh, and clean. It is better that the eggs be infested, though this is not necessary.

"Another requisite is that the receptacle in which the eggs are placed be of stone, earthen ware or wood and not of metal, which might rust and discolor the eggs, and that it be perfectly clean. The eggs may be stored all at one time, or as gathered from day to day.

"Water glass may be bought at any drug-store at from fifty cents to two dollars per gallon. We buy it in tins containing about a quart and costing fifteen cents each. These tins will preserve fifteen or sixteen dozen eggs of ordinary size. Each quart of the fluid should be diluted with eleven quarts of water, boiled thirty minutes and allowed to cool before mixing. After mixing pour into the receptacle which you have prepared. The eggs are now placed in the water glass. We generally place them in with the little end down. The fluid should come three inches over the eggs when all are in the receptacle."

JAPAN WISHES TO RENEW TREATY

VISCOUNT CHINDA ADVISES BRYAN OF HIS NATION'S ATTITUDE.

Washington, June 16.—Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, has advised Secretary Bryan that Japan is willing to renew for another period of five years her arbitration treaty with the United States which expires by limitation August 24th.

Secretary Bryan, making the announcement, said he expected the Senate would ratify the new arbitration treaties already signed with Great Britain and other countries despite the opposition against them. No date for signing the Japanese renewal has been determined.

The senatorial opposition originally was voiced by Senator Chamberlain, who insisted that in renewing a treaty with Great Britain specific expressions should be made to remove the Panama canal toll controversy from the field of arbitration. The question of arbitrating with Japan the issue of the California alien land law also has been a subject of discussion among senators opposed to renewing that arbitration treaty. President Wilson has had frequent conferences over the arbitration treaties with senators.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Former President Taft is in demand as a summer convention speaker.

There is joy in the Indian literary belt over the prospective appointment of Meredith Nicholson, the author, to a European diplomatic post. It is said that Tammany Hall will do some of the strongest wire-pulling in its history to bring about the defeat of Governor Sulzer's primary bill in the special session of the legislature beginning today.

Large cities all over the country are making preparations to celebrate a "safe and sane fourth of July." Women's clubs are making the newspapers of the country to emphasize the patriotic spirit in contrast to the tendency to make it a day of sports.

Friends of President Wilson are urging him to extend the lobby investigation to the fullest possible extent. The senate committee which has been looking into the tariff lobby also has on its list representatives of the Indian lobby, the railroad lobby and the lobby organized to fight the law forbidding the Panama Canal to railroad ownerships.

Mass meetings of an organization known as the "Anti-American Youth's Association" are being closed, watched by the Tokio police. Bell-couse speeches, attempted by orators of doubtful prominence are also suppressed in the newspapers. These speeches are directed against the ministry as well as against the United States, with whom the Japanese statesmen are regarded as being too lenient.

Washington is manifesting great interest in the Gettysburg celebration to begin the first of July. Secretary Garrison will be a frequent spectator at the manoeuvres and Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff U. S. A., will also spend much time there. The President plans to take automobile trips to the famous old battle ground on Saturdays.

Quite Comfortable These Days

is the man or woman who knows something about the art of warm weather dressing. So many things are planned for our comfort that it is our own fault if we don't know about them. On the one hand we see people fretting and billing in great physical discomfort; while on the other we note with envy cheerful folk who are cool, comfortable, and contented.

The reason is that some persons are smarter than others in selecting their apparel for summer wear. A careful reading of the advertisements appearing daily in The Daily News will teach any one willing to learn all the up-to-date tricks in summer dressing that brains have devised for the benefit and comfort of mankind.

The "ad-reading habit" will not only gratifying returns if you will follow it.

Albany, N. Y., June 16.—Argument on the appeal of ex-police lieutenant Charles Becker of New York from the sentence of death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, begins before the Court of Appeals today by Becker's lawyer, Joseph A. Shay.

Shay has four reasons for re-opening the case: First, the discovery of new evidence; second, that the verdict was contrary to the law and to the weight of the testimony; third, the alleged misconduct of a juror, Samuel H. Haas; and fourth, that the new trial should be granted "in the interests of justice."

New York automobilists are urging a law preventing children from playing in the streets, as it is claimed that increased automobile traffic in the metropolis has rendered the streets unsafe for the youngsters.

The touring department of the Automobile Club of America reports that construction work on the Port Jefferson road has been completed. This road runs from Patchogue through Medford to Port Jefferson, connecting with the ferry for Bridgeport.

The attention of the automobile world is already being attracted to the road race from Los Angeles to San Francisco to be run on July 4. This is a contest that has been held frequently under varying conditions of route and the like, and it is now regarded as a standard test for automobile contending honors in the West.

"The co-operative idea in modern merchandising, which is simply the policy of giving a service as well as selling a commodity, is being adopted by more and more of the big successful business organizations of today," says W. D. Shilts, manager of the salesmen's department of the Goodyear Company, of Akron, Ohio. "My study of business methods convinces me that this service idea is the most important development in business organization in the last ten years, and is the most vital question which every concern has before it now."

"At this season of the year some attention should be paid to the water in the cooling system of a car," says Harrison Boyce, secretary of the Motometer Company and an authority on motors and motor heat. "The water should be drained from the radiator and it should be rinsed out with fresh water with small amount of common washing soda and again rinsed out with fresh water only."

"More or less rust from water jackets and some of the metal parts of the cooling system collects and settles like mud at the bottom of the radiator, and if this is not attended to it would result in clogging the radiator. The amount of rust which accumulates in the cooling system can be noted to some extent by the red color of the water when drained."

Fined $150 and Costs. Takes Appeal and Case Will be Brought Up at Next Session of Criminal Court.

Saturday afternoon the case of State vs. W. O. Saunders charged with criminal libel, was called for trial by His Honor Thos. S. Long, Assistant Recorder.

The case has attracted considerable attention and the court house was filled to its capacity. The attorneys for the defendant were ex-Judge Manning of Raleigh and Daniel & Warren of this city, who fought the case from every viewpoint and took advantage of every technicality. The attorneys for the State were on the alert and pressed every point which could be used in their favor. They were Messrs. Ward & Grimes, Small, MacLean & Bryan and Rodman & Bonner.

The defendant entered a plea of not guilty and through his counsel moved that E. F. Aydlett be marked as prosecutor. To this the attorneys for the State consented and Mr. Aydlett was marked as prosecutor. (This meant that if Saunders was acquitted Mr. Aydlett would pay the cost and the County of Beaufort would lose nothing thereby.)

Evidence was introduced to show that Saunders was publisher or editor of the Independent, published at Elizabeth City, at the time of the alleged libel.

Hugh Paul, postmaster at Washington was then put on the stand and testified that the Independent circulated through this office and that he and other parties received it through the mail. E. F. Aydlett then went on the stand and testified as to the matter published in the Independent, which was charged as being libelous. He denied the statements as published and offered documentary evidence to bear out his contention.

Mr. Aydlett testified that the feeling between Saunders and himself was very bitter and that for several years Saunders had been constantly nagging at him and publishing articles to his discredit.

He further testified that he had heard Saunders in the Federal Court at Elizabeth City plead guilty of a charge of publishing in the Independent and circulating through the mails obscene or vulgar literature. For this offense Saunders was fined $100 and costs by Judge Connor.

A certified copy of the record in the Federal Court was introduced to corroborate Aydlett's testimony.

At the conclusion of his evidence the State rested and the attorneys for the defense moved to dismiss the motion. This was overruled and the defendant offered no testimony.

The Judge declared the defendant guilty and ordered that he pay a fine of $150 and the costs. From this judgment the defendant appealed to the Superior Court. Appeal bond was fixed at $250 for his appearance at the next term of Criminal Court in Beaufort County.

SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Sunday school had its finest summer attendance, and the lesson was zealously taught.

The congregations at both preaching services were quite large and seriously attentive. In the morning the pastor earnestly presented David's Restoration, using Psalms 51:12 as a text. In the evening the theme was "Man's Love to Man." The sermon was the third and last of a series of evangelistic discourses preparatory to the revival meeting to begin Wednesday evening. John 13:34 was the text: "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another."

This was treated as the eleventh commandment, the fulfillment of the whole moral law. "Now," because this was its first express teaching in the school of the disciples, and because the same degree, "as I have loved you," had never before been required. It was shown that the weakest and most destitute brother has the strongest claim in love.

The sermon gathered forcefulness from the frequency and appropriateness of scripture quotation, such as, "And this commandment have we from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."—1 John 4:21. "If any man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"—1 John 4:20. The regret was expressed that there are some in the church who do not love one another.
