CONGRESSMEN IMPRESSED

Washington, July 31.—Every State in the Union is represented in the hosts of suffragists who arrived here today with petitions to Congress to let the country decide whether the Constitution of the United States should be amended to provide for woman suffrage. The leaders of the movement have been gathered at Hyattsville, Md., for the past few days and the march to this city was made from that place.

Commemorative Tablet Erected by D. A. R. in Federal Building

Been Placed on Western Wall of the Outer Lobby. Commemorates the Fact that Washington Was the First City to Bear That Distinguished Name.

On the completion of the handsome new Public Building, of which Washingtonians are justly proud, the Daughters of the American Revolution will unveil a beautiful bronze tablet erected by the Major Reading Blount Chapter of that organization of this city. The tablet has been placed on the western wall of the outer lobby in the center of an arch that appears to have been designed for something of this kind. It commemorates the fact that Washington, North Carolina, was the first in all the States to bear that distinguished name; and moreover, that it was the first postoffice so named.

The records of Beaufort County show that in the year 1724 Col. Jas. Bonner sold a portion of his then plantation in lots for "an intended township," the sales of all lots were so recorded until December 7, 1770, when its legal christening was received in the record of the sale of a lot in the "Town of Washington" by Col. James Bonner and Mary his wife. Col. James Bonner was an enthusiastic patriot of the Revolution, and was in command of the Beaufort County militia; he with the other patriots of the county kept in touch with the early developments of Independence and of the formation of the Continental army.

Seeing that the town is of Revolutionary date and that its birthday comes first of all the Washingtons, each state is said to contain one, are we not entitled to have our town affectionately called "Old Washington"? The Yankees from lack of information dubbed it "Old Washington" in derision. To Burnside's invaders fresh from the glories of the nation's capital, the only small town suggested by the name of the pretty tree-bordered town on the Pamlico was that of the frog that burst in its endeavor to imitate the ox. They were ignorant and indifferent of the fact that Washington, North Carolina, sent her citizens as soldiers in the great war that made the nation's capital a possibility some years later.

CHIEF MOORE QUILTS

Washington, July 31.—William L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, who sent his resignation to Secretary Houston last March, gave up his duties today, and returns to his farm in Kansas. Mr. Moore is a Democrat, but it is said that the usual civility of himself and his friends to secure his appointment as Secretary of Agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet proved his undoing. At the Weather Bureau, however, it is claimed that all is friendly.

POLICE FORCE SHOWS CLASS

MEMBERS OF LOCAL DEPARTMENT COME OUT IN GRAND NEW UNIFORMS. Are the Cynosure of Admiring Eyes this Morning as They Walk the Streets.

No, ladies and gentlemen, that distinguished looking man in the bright new uniform, trimmed in gold lace, whom you saw at a distance this morning, was NOT a rear-admiral in the navy. That was Chief George Howard of the Washington Police Department. Neither were those other three men (also in bright new uniforms) majors in a Prussian regiment. They were Officers Roberts, Williams and Padrick, also of the above-mentioned force. They look nifty, though, don't they? The new uniforms for the department arrived a few days ago, but it wasn't until yesterday evening that the force had the nerve to put them on. Officer Padrick was the first to appear. As he sat in a chair in front of the City Hall, he was surrounded by a crowd of gaping and admiring citizens. When the others came out this morning in their new togas, they were also in for their share of admiring glances. Yes, yes, really, our force has SOME class to it now!

GREENVILLE BEAT FREMONT IN 11 INNING GAME

Watkins, Former Catcher for Washington, Played Good Ball for Greenville.

Brinkley of Greenville Allowed Only One Hit in the Eleven Innings of Play. Greenville defeated Fremont yesterday afternoon at Fremont by the score of 3-1. The game went to 11 innings. Brinkley, who twirled for Greenville, allowed only one hit. Aycock, Fremont's pitcher, was hit safely 6 times. George Watkins, who formerly caught for Washington, held Brinkley in great style. His playing was one of the features of the game. He steadied Brinkley when the latter showed signs of wavering in the sixth and kept the game full of "ginger" from start to finish.

SECRETARY DANIELS

AT SALT LAKE. Salt Lake, Utah, July 31.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels arrived here today on his way to Denver, and was given a hearty reception by the political, business and social organizations of the city. He refused to discuss the recent riots in Seattle and expressed himself as wonderfully surprised by the remarkable growth of the west.

Robersonville Defeated In Yesterday's Game By Score of 5-2

Washington Won Yesterday's Contest at Fleming Park. Hitting Was Kept Down Low, Visitors Securing 4, While Washington Obtained 3.

Washington defeated Robersonville yesterday at Fleming Park by the score 5-2. Brown pitched for the locals, while Bass tossed them over for the visiting team. Both men pitched excellent ball, the former allowing four hits and the latter three. Washington played an errorless game in the field, although the same cannot be said of Robersonville. The latter team made eight misplays, the catcher, Ross, being guilty of four of them. He was there strong, however, when it came to pegging to second and not a man stole the sack on him.

Fleming was the candidate for the "hall of honor" yesterday. The boy played a good game at first and got two hits, one being a two-bagger. Moore obtained the other hit for the locals. What looked like a serious accident occurred when Moore ran into the second baseman, Grimes. In some manner, the latter fell and Moore's hand hit him in the face. He had to be taken from the game and it is believed that he was quite seriously injured.

WITHDRAW THE NAME OF COLORED MAN AS APPOINTEE

Believed That Appointment of Patterson Will Not Be Confirmed. Senator Gore Been Unable to See the President Regarding the Matter.

Washington, July 30.—So much opposition has developed in the last few days to the confirmation of A. E. Patterson to be registrar of the treasury that in the opinion of Senator Gore the withdrawal of Patterson's name probably will take place soon. Both Senator Gore and Patterson appeared at the White House but neither got to see the President because of the crowded condition of his engagement list. Senator Gore did, however, talk the appointment over with Secretary Tumulty but Patterson had to content himself with an interview with a minor official.
