Seventy Thousand Pounds on the Market.

Seventy thousand pounds of tobacco was sold on the Washington and Beaufort tobacco warehouse floors today and the farmers as usual, were delighted with the prices. The average price was between twenty-three and twenty-four cents per pound. Notwithstanding the recent rains the market here has not lagged but on the other hand has gone forward at a pace unopposed by the most sanguine. Washington's tobacco market is now an assured fact and it behooves every citizen of Washington, and too every farmer of Beaufort county, to rally to its support. Give it this and its future is bright and propitious.

FEMALE DOG ADOPTS KITTEN IS ITS OWN OFF-SPRING

A female dog playing the part of mother to an orphan kitten is the attraction at the home of Mr. W. W. McMillenny and those who have seen the tender care and watchfulness of the foster mother speak in the highest terms of her love and devotion. The mother is the female water spaniel belonging to Mr. McMillenny and the kitten seems to have appeared on the premises with out any parentage, as so far its mother or father has not been located. The kitten since its short residence has gained the good graces of the dog, so much so that it seems to have captured the dog's motherly instinct. The dog has adopted the kitten and gives it nourishment as if it were its own offspring. The neighbors have been much interested in the unique sight and justly so. Both kitten and dog seem to realize that they are subjects of curiosity from all visitors. Mother love in both animal and man seems to be akin the world over.

TRACY AND CARTER DELIGHT LYRIC SPECTATORS

Tracy and Carter at the Lyric for the first part of this week is certainly all that could be desired in first class, high toned vaudeville. No attraction of the season at this popular play house is more worthy of a generous patronage. The act from beginning to end is clean, refined and elevating. Both artists have voices of unusual range and scope and their rendition, if a hearer has music in his soul, cannot but please and satisfy. This duo made a very favorable impression last night at their initial performance and it will pay any lover of music to hear them tonight. Although they change their program, judging from last night's effort, all who attend this evening will be amply repaid. Not only will these popular artists be again on the boards tonight, but the management promises a series of motion pictures in keeping with the reputation of this well known play house which always presents scenes and stories fully up to the standard of attractions the prices of which are much in advance. The Lyric attraction for tonight should not be missed.

Senator George J. Studdert of this city, received the endorsement of both the Senate and House of Representatives for appointment as consul to Belfast or Dublin, Ireland, Saturday last.

This was a decided compliment to our townsman and no doubt will have considerable weight with President Wilson when he comes to name the consul for this place.

The resolution of endorsement was introduced by Senator Jones in the Senate and by Representative Rodman in the House. The resolution says:

"That we heartily commend to His Excellency, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, for appointment as consul at Dublin or Belfast, Ireland, Hon. Geo. J. Studdert, State senator from Beaufort county, North Carolina.

"Senator Studdert is a business man of excellent qualifications, in the prime of vigorous manhood of character and integrity. Don't confuse cotton boll Worm with boll weevil

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The Department of Agriculture has recently received numerous inquiries about injury by the cotton boll worm, especially in the eastern part of the belt. In many cases this insect has been confused with the boll weevil, and several erroneous reports about the occurrence of that pest in new regions have thus become prevalent.

The boll worm is the larva of a moth, and is only very distantly related to the weevil which belongs to the large natural group of beetles. The worm when first hatched is very tiny, but grows rapidly becoming finally a little over an inch long, and greenish or brownish in color. The weevil grub is white and found only within the cotton square or boll. It never exceeds one-half inch in length.

In the case of the present outbreak the injury began so late in the season that little can be done to protect the present crop. Nevertheless, a farmer can insure the crop of the coming season against injury by the pest with comparative little trouble and expense. The action that should be taken wherever injury has occurred this year is to pick the cotton as quickly as possible and immediately thereafter to plow and harrow the fields. This work will result in the destruction of the immature stages of the worm which have passed just beneath the surface of the soil. In addition to the effects in destroying the insect the plowing and harrowing of the fields will have very great value in the way of preparing for the crop of the following season.

Methods of control of the boll worm which are applicable in different seasons of the year are described in Farmers' Bulletin 290.

CHILDREN'S CROOKED TEETH OUGHT TO BE CONSIDERED

(By Thora Carter, President of the Society of Good Cheer.)

Children's crooked teeth should be seriously considered in our every day life. Wise, careful mothers are not waiting until temporary teeth disappear and permanent ones come in, for the time to begin on crooked teeth is as soon as they show themselves irregular.

Crooked teeth is going to get the attention of all classes of people who do good cheer work, because it is true that irregular rows of protruding teeth not only make the youngster backward, but morbid as well. People who are trying to aid children realize that you can get sympathy for a club foot quicker than for a facial deformity, and get crooked teeth is certain to retard the growth, the effort, the development, mentally and physically, of youth. Notice the little girl with bold tusks protruding, and you will see her always in the back of the group; after a time, if her parents are poor, she plays no more in groups—further and further she gets apart from her kind, and then the brain and body goes slowly in their development.

The time to begin on crooked teeth is when the temporary ones show irregularity," said orthodontist Albert D. Persons. In hereditary cases, where protrusion of lower jaw or retraction of lower jaw is shown, work can begin as early as the age of five, before the permanent teeth are shown. It is always best to work on these cases in early life. When baby's teeth first come, some joy prevails in the household. Mother wants you to see, brother wants you to see, all the neighbors or friends poke their fingers into baby's mouth. They are called peas then, by a matter of fact, they are more precious than peas, and mothers should take great care of them. Clean them every day—take a soft cloth—scrub with it with boracic acid and clean all the surfaces of the teeth. See that no food particles are lodged
