WORLD-WIDE MOVEMENT.

World-wide movement for the prevention of tuberculosis is being carried on in every part of the world. The National Tuberculosis Day movement is the most important of these.

Dr. J. G. Mixon, Secretary of the Maryland Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, wishing to see success in the Tuberculosis Day movement, and expressing his interest and appreciation. Among other things he says:

"My wonder has been aroused by the simplicity of the arms used in this warlike, namely, rational living and cleanliness—which are within the reach of all.

"I shall follow with special interest all your efforts in this splendid propaganda against the terrible disease, and hope the results of your labor will be commensurate with the zeal, the energy, and self-sacrifice which you and your fellow-workers are devoting to the work.

"I can remember well the days when we were yellow fever in our veins, but now we are clean and healthy because of the work you have done.

"I trust that you will be equally successful against tuberculosis."

Cardinal Farley in a letter to Mr. Frank H. Mann, Secretary of the New York City Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis is even more emphatic in his support of the Tuberculosis Day campaign. He has spoken to the clergy under his supervision about assisting in this movement and has directed that the work be promoted in all the parochial schools. In his letter to Mr. Mann, the Cardinal says:

"Your work must commend itself to every human soul as it aims to free from an evil that has blighted many a family and to destroy a source of contagion that knows no frontier.

"I did not take more than 20 years in the past to make smallpox a thing of the past, and I am confident that the same result can be achieved through the same means."

Course in Highbrow Literature. After trying to read the problem tales his highbrow wife delights in, an Atchison man now begins at the back of a volume and reads straight through to the front. After finding out what happened in the end he says he realizes that the author is driving at in early chapters, and he can now read a Bernard Shaw, Ibsen or Maeterlinck story almost as understandingly as a baseball score.—Atchison (Kans.) Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Now everybody can know and enjoy the crisp goodness of fresh baked soda crackers without going to the baker's oven.

Costly Ivory Mats.

There are but three mats of ivory in the world. The largest one measures eight feet by four feet, and although made in the north of India, has a Greek design for a border. It is used only on state occasions, like the signing of important state documents. The cost of this precious mat was almost incalculable, for more than 6,000 pounds of pure ivory was used in its construction. Only the finest and most flexible strips of material could be used, and the mat is like the finest woven fabric.

Did He Get It? "Won't you tell a nice little story for the lady?" asked a fond mother of her four-year-old boy whom she was showing off to her guest. "I don't know a 'tory," lisped the youngster, bashfully. "Oh, yes, you do," pleaded his mother. "Just a little story." "Will you div' me a kiss?" The boy's eyes brightened. "Yes, a nice kiss for a nice little story." "All right. Once upon a time there was a 'newful nice big vase in the parlor an' I just broke it. Do I get the kiss, mamma?"

Long Lost Auk Discovered. A species of bird hitherto believed to be extinct, the rhinoceros auk, is to be found by thousands on Forreast Island, Alaska, according to an announcement made by Prof. Harold Heath of the zoology department of Stanford University. The auk, he said, is a nocturnal bird about the size of a large pigeon. It burrows as much as 15 feet in the ground where it makes its home.

INCREASE IN FARM PROFITS

Farmers Make Serious Mistake of Spreading Energies Over Too Large Area, Says Worst.

By J. H. WORST, Dean of North Dakota Agricultural College. It requires approximately seven dollars per acre to grow a crop. This includes interest on the investment, cost of seed, wear and tear on farm machinery, labor, etc. By adding one dollar's worth of labor to each acre, there is little question but that the average profits would be doubled. In other words, as much profit should be realized from the one additional dollar's worth of labor as is now realized from the seven dollars' worth of unavoidable labor and investment. Consequently if farmers would devote one-third of their land to growing corn and alfalfa, neither of which interferes with the time and labor employed in farming wheat, and put one-third more labor, thus make available on only two-thirds as many acres of wheat, they would grow more wheat than where they spread their energies over one-third larger acreage. The corn and alfalfa fed to live stock would insure them a large additional income, and one that is not often adversely influenced by climatic conditions, while the fertility deposited upon the farm resulting from feeding the corn and alfalfa to live stock would vastly improve the productivity of the soil.
