

Bishop Henderson and Dr. D. H. Hill Charmed Their Audience Last Evening

PRINCIPAL SPEAKERS AT EDUCATIONAL RALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Congressman John H. Small, President E. A. Lowther, Superintendent Vaughan and Campbell Also Spoke. Program Entertaining and Instructive.

Notwithstanding the other attractions in Washington last night, there was a good attendance of citizens at the educational rally held in the Public School auditorium in the interest of Beaufort county schools, Washington Public School system and the Washington Collegiate Institute.

asking and urging all young men to take up this great work. The speaker illustrated this thought by stating that five boys in this state went into corn raising under the changed methods and then he gave the result of their labor. Said he, their fathers planted corn according to their manner of doing things and only raised 18 bushels to the acre but these boys under the change realized made 50 bushels. Dr. Hill closed his fine talk with an appeal to the people for more intelligent farming.

After the address of Dr. Hill Miss Martha A. Smith, teacher of voice in the institute, sang most charmingly "Lovely Night" with Mrs. W. H. Williams as accompanist.

Congressman John H. Small was next speaker. Of course Mr. Small is always happy in his remarks upon any occasion and last evening was no exception. His preferred his talk by congratulating the people upon the occasion which brought them together and regretted that other attractions in the city prevent the audience from being filled.

Superintendent W. L. Vaughan, Superintendent Campbell spoke. Mr. Vaughan congratulated the community upon the founding of the college here and gave encouragement to it from the standpoint of the country school, what it means to them Mr. Campbell welcomed the school to Washington and all concerned with it. The last speaker was President E. A. Lowther, who was appreciative of the many words of welcome for the institution, the faculty and others. He then gave a cordial invitation to townspeople to the dedicatory exercises at the college this morning.

EDUCATIONAL DAY AT PUNGO GREAT TIME

One of the grandest events of its kind in the educational history of Pungo occurred on Friday, November 21st, when County Superintendent W. L. Vaughan, Prof. C. W. Wilson of E. C. T. S., Greenville; Mr. Zeno Moore, farm demonstrator, of Edgecombe county, and J. F. Latham, of Beaufort county, all came in the capacity of an educational rally and farmer's conference.

Long before the appointed time one could see people coming in every direction and soon a mass of people had gathered at the school building from all over the whole neighborhood.

The interest manifested by the people seemed to fill the speakers with new zeal and inspiration.

The first on the program was prayer by Prof. Wilson. He then, after a short but eloquent introduction by Superintendent Vaughan, made an address that moved the entire mass of people to stillness and for about an hour silence and undivided attention reigned throughout the entire congregation.

While Prof. Wilson was at first a stranger to most of us, yet we were soon made to forget that and listen with all eagerness to the helpful message he had for us, and that day we learned that to know Prof. C. W. Wilson was to love him. We felt very much benefited from his coming, and from his address also, and his helpful advice to parents, children, and teachers. If observed, will mean much toward the upbuilding of our schools.

Next was a splendid address from our beloved superintendent, Mr. Vaughan, who with his helpful advice, together with his cultured humor, kept the audience well entertained for about an hour. Then a recess of one hour for dinner was given, in which a well prepared picnic was served on the grounds in picnic style. This being a holiday among the schools the lower school in District No. 2 joined us in the rally.

After dinner the congregation all reassembled in the school building and listened most attentively to the address given by Hon. Zeno Moore on better methods of farming. Mr. Moore gave us some good thoughts and good advice on farming.

Next was a short talk by Mr. Latham on the subject of Rural Uplift. Notwithstanding the fact that it was a very busy time with us, most of our people responded promptly and made the day a grand success, at the close of the meeting all returned to their respective homes full of good cheer, feeling well repaid for the day, and we can proudly boast of the statement made by the speakers in saying it was the best attended and the most interesting of any meeting they held during the week.

Although our teachers are doing good work, we greatly appreciate these men coming to help us here and feel much benefited from their visit and we hope to be able to prove our appreciation by putting into practice the good lessons taught.

MASONS, ATTENTION.

There will be a continuation of the regular communication of Orr Lodge No. 104 A. F. & A. M. this evening at 7:30. There will be work in the third degree, and refreshments will be served. Members are urged to be present, and visiting brethren are cordially invited to attend.

O. M. WINFIELD, Sec. By order S. C. CARTY, N. M.

will ever occupy an unique niche in Washington so far as education is concerned.

GREAT GAME FOOT BALL THURSDAY

Why should the citizens of Washington spend their money going to Richmond and Norfolk Thanksgiving Day to witness football games when they can remain at home, save their earnings and witness a game between two of the best amateur teams in North Carolina today, viz: Washington High School and Raleigh High School. This contest is to be pulled off at Fleming Park, Thanksgiving afternoon. For years the citizens of Washington have been flocking to either Richmond or Norfolk this year they have an opportunity to remain at home and witness just as good a game. The contest promises to be great from start to finish. This contest decides which team shall go to Chapel Hill with all expenses paid to give an exhibition game. Washington seems determined to be the one selected and judging from the record made by the locals this season they have every reason to believe they will win out. Of course Raleigh wants to go too. They think they will but if they do they must show the trick to Washington on Thanksgiving afternoon. The locals are not saying much they don't believe in talking but showing—they propose to do on next Thursday at Fleming Park. The record of the locals this year is certainly gratifying and every citizen of Washington should rally as one man to their support. Raleigh, so far this season, has won every game while Washington has only one on the debit side.

Remain at home, ye citizens of Washington, and witness just as good football as is to be seen in the United States. County begins at home first, last and all the time.

CUTLER—CONGLETON. On Wednesday night, November 19, there was one of the most beautiful marriages that has been witnessed in this neighborhood for quite a while, when Miss Dora Congleton became the bride of Mr. John F. Cutler, of Jesama.

The ceremony was performed at Oak Grove Center, the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Congleton, the Rev. Charlie Lee officiating.

It was noted for its beauty and simplicity. Promptly at 6 p. m. Miss Stella Congleton, sister of the bride, entered the room on the arm of Mr. Edward T. Cutler, cousin of the groom, followed by Miss Annie Congleton with Mr. J. McAlligood.

Then all eyes were turned to catch the first glimpse of the bride, who entered on the arm of the groom. The bridesmaids were handsomely gowned in costumes of white with pink sashes and the bride wore a handsome gown of white messaline with crystal trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and white chrysanthemums. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the groom, where a reception was given to them.

The home of the groom was artistically arranged by deft and loving hands. Across the mantle was the word "Welcome," formed of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. C. A. Cutler, in a charming gown of gray, received the guest in the parlor.

The color scheme in the dining room was green and white, the centerpiece being a large bouquet of white roses.

Those receiving in the dining room were Mesdames H. L. Cutler, J. S. Cutler, Horace Cutler and J. C. Douglas. The many lovely gifts that they received went to show the high esteem they were held by their many friends.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Congleton, and was loved by all who knew her. She was a prize well worth striving for.

The groom is one of the most prosperous farmers of that vicinity and is held in the highest esteem by all who know him.

FINE SHOW WAS GIVEN LAST NIGHT

The best show to ever visit Washington is the verdict of those who attended Normal Hackett in "The Double Deceiver" at the New Theater last night. Mr. Hackett's play is founded on one of the delightful stories by the famous writer O. Henry, who is now taking rank among the best short story writers of the country. The presentation of this play last night is the talk of Washington today. If the management of the New Theater continue to give the theater people such high toned productions as that of last evening the success of the new opera house is already assured. The Norman Hackett Company took Washington by storm and gave a show that should be generously patronized wherever shown—especially in the south. It is surely one of merit.

JURY'S VERDICT.

That the deceased died Sunday, November 22, 1913. That death was caused by wounds inflicted by Joshua Mills on the night of Saturday, November 22. No evidence was offered, but upon the admission of Joshua Mills, in open court, through counsel, the above findings were had.

There was a preliminary hearing of the Mills-Ormond murder case before the coroner, Dr. Joshua Taylor, this morning at the court house, and the result of their action is recorded above. The following jury was empaneled to try the case: J. T. Randolph, W. M. Chaucer, Thomas Laughinghouse, G. O. Norton, M. W. White and J. H. Allgood.

CARNEGIE IS HAPPY.

New York, Nov. 23.—Today is the seventy-eighth anniversary of Andrew Carnegie's birth and he is very happy over the event. He says he is pleased with the world in general and thinks everything happens for the best. At present, however, the steel magnate does not contemplate giving away any more "fortunes."

MRS. PANKHURST AND SOCIAL EVIL.

New York, Nov. 25.—The first of a series of public meetings in which great social and economic wrongs are to be discussed with daring freedom, takes place at the Eltinge Theatre this afternoon. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, British militant suffragette, is one of the principal speakers. Since the writings of her daughter, Christabel Pankhurst, have been recently suppressed in England, the views to be advanced by the militant leader are naturally of interest.

STEWARDS TO MEET.

There will be a meeting of the board of stewards in the bar room of the First Methodist church this evening at eight o'clock. All the official members are urged to be present.

MILLS SURRENDERED TO SHERIFF GEORGE RICKS COUNTY JAIL LAST NIGHT

Has Employed Several Lawyers to Defend Him. Only Talks Through His Attorneys. His Been Visted by a Large Number of Friends.

Joshua W. Mills surrendered himself to Sheriff George E. Hicks last night between 7 and 8 o'clock and is now confined in the common jail of Beaufort county awaiting his trial for the murder of Ben Ormond which took place in Edward Edmond barber shop Saturday night last.

The much-wanted man appeared at the county jail last night accompanied by two of his attorneys, Colonel W. C. Rodman and J. D. Grimes. Upon entering the jail he cordially greeted Sheriff Lucas and Adams and then told Sheriff Hicks that he had arrived to be placed in his custody. After a few minutes' conversation Sheriff Hicks told Mills to come with him as doubtless there would be a large crowd to gather if it were learned that he had decided to place himself in custody voluntarily.

This morning a Daily News representative endeavored to secure an expression from Mills, but he refused to give out any statement regarding the paper man to his attorneys. His attorneys stated that on account of certain threats that had been made against Mills that the defendant had deemed it advisable not to surrender himself until he ascertained the correct condition of the cut man—Ormond. Upon learning that Ormond was dead Mills decided to surrender himself and in consequence went to the jail last night voluntarily. Before giving himself up Mills employed counsel. Those who have been employed to defend him so far are Rodman & Bonner, Ward & Grimes and Small, MacLean & Bryan.

Although the homicide was committed on Saturday night and there have been many conjectures as to the whereabouts of Mills, his action since the death of Ormond goes to show that he was not far away and ready to answer for his crime when the time came.

A large number of citizens from both the city and country have visited him today in the jail.

President Wilson's Daughter Was Married This Afternoon

Washington, Nov. 23.—Washington is dressed in its gayest and has put on its best members to see Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, become the thirtieth White House bride, when she married Francis B. Sayre of New York. The wedding took place at 4:30 this afternoon. The officiating clergyman is Rev. Sebastian B. Smith of Patuxent, N. C., the bride's former pastor and a close personal friend of the bride and groom. While a special musical program has been arranged, the ceremony will be simple because the Wilsons are all Presbyterians and the marriage service of the church is very unpretentious.

The bride's attendants include her sisters, Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson—maid of honor—and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson. There are three other attendants, namely, Adelaide Mitchell Scott, daughter of Prof. William B. Scott of Patuxent; Miss Marjorie Brown, daughter of Mrs. Wilson's cousin Col. E. T. Brown, of Atlantic City, and Miss G. White, of Baltimore, an old-time friend of the bride.

The announcements that Mr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, who Mr. Sayre did not know until in London, would not as a bridegroom surprised, as the future bridegroom has expressed his friends of that fact since time ago, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes of the supreme court, a classmate of Mr. Sayre at the Harvard law school, will be an usher.

The ushers are Dr. Gilbert Horne, of Montclair, N. J., who was a classmate at Williams College in 1899, and is now at the John Hopkins medical school; Benjamin Burton, of New York City, who graduated in 1912 from Williams College, and Dr. Scoville Clark, of Salem, Mass. Dr. Clark was a companion of Mr. Sayre. All of the relatives and trailed northern Newfoundland together.

Mr. Hughes is the only masculine member of the wedding party who is well known in Washington, although Dr. Grenfell lectured here several years ago. He is much older than the bridegroom and is married.

The White House has been turned into a floral bower for the wedding, the chief decorative scheme being carried out with chrysanthemums. The new bloom which has been named in honor of the bride, predominates the floral effects.

The bride enters the east room on the arm of her father, being met at the specially arranged altar by Mr. Sayre. All of the relatives and friends of the Wilsons are here to attend the ceremony.

The bride's gown was made in New York. It is in soft, ivory white satin, with a three-yard court train the full width of the satin, with the foundation skirt in the prevailing silhouette, that is, close at the ankles, but with a slight crinkled effect.

The doctor states this was mild taking into consideration his experience of Saturday afternoon when he ran into a valuable horse near Chocowinity. Dr. Taylor was rushing towards Black Jack in his machine and took occasion to pass a buggy leading a horse behind. As Doctor Taylor's machine passed, the horse behind took it in his head to take up the roadway and the consequence was that he was struck by the machine breaking his hip. The animal had to be shot.
