WISHED SHE COULD DIE
And Be Free From Her Troubles,
but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place,
"I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles.
I could not get up without pain, and something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time, I could not do my housework."
The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally,
I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with womanly troubles and I don't have to go to bed in the middle of the night as I used to. I am sound and well of all my troubles."
Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.
If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you.
At all druggists.
"If you are suffering from any of the
numerous symptoms of womanly trouble,
take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists."
"If you are suffering from any of the
numerous symptoms of womanly trouble,
take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists." 25c. 12c.

CONVICT WORK ON PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

Majority of States Now Use Prison Labor.

DISCARD CONTRACT SYSTEM

During the Present Year, Thirteen States Have Passed Laws Allowing the Use of Convicts in the Construction and Repair of Roads.

Thirteen states have passed laws during the present year allowing the use of convicts in the construction and repair of highways, according to a compilation by Dr. E. Stagg Whitby, assistant in social legislation in Columbia university and chairman of the executive committee of the national committee on prison labor. They are Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, New Jersey, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin. As many other states had previously passed similar legislation, but few of the forty-eight states have not adopted the policy of using prisoners to build and maintain public roads.

West Virginia and Iowa are the two states whose laws regarding the working of convicts on highways stand out most prominently. So anxious was the governor of the former state to secure an effective law that he went to New York and with the assistance of representatives of the national committee on prison labor, of the road department of Columbia university and of the legislative drafting bureau worked out bills making compulsory the employment of convicts on the roads. The West Virginia law authorizes the county courts to make appropriations out of road funds for convict work; it states that the court shall sentence any male person over sixteen to road work instead of to the county jail; persons charged with misdemeanors unable to furnish bail shall work and shall determine which prisoners may be assigned to such work. The warden is to provide suitable and movable quarters, which shall be built, where possible, by convict labor. The convicts shall remain under direct control of the warden, their work, however, being under the supervision of the road bureau.

In Iowa the board of control of the state institutions with the advice of the warden of any penal institution, may permit able-bodied male prisoners to work on the roads. The law specifically states such labor shall not be leased to contractors. A prisoner opposed to such work, or whose character and disposition make it probable that he would attempt escape or be unruly, is not to be worked on the highways. Although the prisoners are under the jurisdiction of the warden while building or repairing roads, their work is supervised by the state highway commissioner. Prisoners employed on the highways of Iowa receive such part of their earnings above the cost of their keep as the board deems equitable, the earnings either being funded or given to their dependent families. Before Iowa passed her present prison labor laws, George W. Cosson, attorney general of the state, made a thorough investigation of the prisons of his own and other states, and strongly denounced the contract system, under which the prisoners were employed up to that time. Mr. Cosson drew up the road bill and is of the opinion it will do much to drive the contract system out of the state.

SOCIETY

PERSONALS.

Messrs. Roland Barr and Jerry Gaylord, of Bath, N. C., were visitors to the city yesterday.

J. M. Turnage, of Greenville, N. C., was on our streets this morning.

J. E. Mann, of Lake Landing, N. C., is a welcome visitor today.

M. Makely, Jr., of Bethaven, N. C., was a passenger on the Norfolk Southern train yesterday.

C. W. Turner, of Rocky Mount, is a Washington visitor today.

J. D. Eborn, manager of the Norfolk Railroad and Lumber Company, at Bay Side, was here yesterday afternoon.

Messrs. E. D. Lewis and B. H. Mixon, of South Creek, N. C., arrived in the city this morning on business.

L. M. Keech, of Pine Town, N. C., was a passenger on the Norfolk Southern train this morning.

In the absence of legislation to cover the situation, District Attorney Whitman of New York is having great difficulty in his fight to run down the alleged grafters in New York's state highway probe. The corporation laws which make it illegal to solicit or accept a contribution from a corporation, and the general conspiracy laws which make it illegal for public or private officials to conspire together to loot or defraud the state, are so different that in their purpose to clear the situation they add to its complications.

Sensational developments are promised during the trial of ex-Mayor James McGuire, of Syracuse, and other big New York state politicians in the alleged highway graft scandal. It is said that the "men higher up" have yet to be reached and will probably be exposed during the trials which commence this week.
